Education expert opens Green lecture series

Fred M. Hechinger, a member of The New York Times' editorial board who also has written extensively on education, opened a University of Texas at Dallas lecture series Tuesday, Sept. 21 with presentations on "The University and America's Future."

Hechinger is the first of the 1982-83 speakers for UTD's Cecil H. and Ida M. Green Distinguished Lectures.

Hechinger has written about issues and trends in education since the 1940s.

He has worked as education editor for The New York Times, Parents' Magazine, The New York Herald Tribune and The Bridgeport (Conn.) Herald. He has been an education columnist for The Washington Post and, since 1978, has written the weekly column "About Education" for The Times.

He also has authored or co-authored seven books on education.

A past president of the Education Writers Association, he has received E.W.A. awards four times since 1948 and shared two others with his wife. He is a member of the board of the Academy for Educational Development.

Hechinger became a member of The Times' editorial board in 1969. He became president of The New York Times Company in 1977.

The Green Lectures are named in honor of a Dallas industrialist and civic leader who helped found UTD, and his wife. They are known for worldwide philanthropy, including enormous support of and profound influence upon education.

Established in the spring of 1980, the Green Lectures bring authorities from various fields to UTD's campus to speak on topics appropriate to each of the university's six schools. Previous lecturers have been economist Lester Thurow; John Merwin, Forbes magazine's West Coast Bureau chief; John R. Beckett, chairman of the board of Transamerica Corporation; Dr. Margaret L.A. McVicar, a professor of education at M.I.T.; Michael Croft, director of the National Youth Theatre of Great Britain; and two presidents of the National Academy of Sciences, the late Dr. Philip M. Handler and his successor, Dr. Frank Press.

Next issue set

The next issue date of the UTD MERCURY is Oct. 11. News and advertising deadline is Thursday, Sept. 30 at 5 p.m.

The changes in the news and ad deadlines for the MERCURY were made to allow for paste-up time and printer pickup time.

If news releases can be brought in or mailed to reach The MERCURY prior to the 11-day deadline, the extra time will be appreciated.

Paintings missing from Visual Arts Gallery

Two paintings are missing from Melinda Masheck art exhibit. One painting is "Turquoise nude on red background with gold ball," and the other painting is "Pink and Purple figure study." The artist asked that the paintings please be returned and placed behind the bar in the Visual Arts Gallery. No questions will be asked, she said.

'The Baroque Trumpet' to be performed at faculty recital

"The Baroque Trumpet," a UTD faculty music recital, will be performed and conducted by Dr. Ralph Dudgeon on Friday, Oct. 1, at 8:15 p.m. in Jonsson Center Performance Hall.

"It is soloistic avant-garde music of the 18th century," explains Dr. Dudgeon, who teaches music history.

For the recital Dudgeon has chosen some of the highlights of the trumpet literature of that period from the Italian, German, and English schools. Assisting him will be Susan Barrow, voice teacher and music lecturer, as soloist and Robert X. Rodriguez, associate professor, on the harpsichord.

The program will include "Sonata," a secular cantata composed in 1690 by Giuseppe Torelli; "Su le sponde del Tebro," written in 1725 by Alessandro Scarlatti; "Sonata IV C-Dur" by Henrick I.F. Biber; and "Sonata," by Henry Purcell.

Dudgeon is noted for his unique performances on 19th-century bugles, as well as the Renaissance cornetto, the baroque natural trumpets, and modern trumpets.

Mrs. Barrow teaches voice and performs in the Dallas area. She will soon appear as a soloist with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, and has performed as soloist with the Dallas Ballet, the Dallas Symphony Chorus, the Schola Cantorum of Fort Worth, and the Dallas Chamber Opera Society.

Dr. Rodriguez has studied internationally and received numerous commissions from conductors throughout the world. He recently received the Goddard Lieberman Award from the American Academy of Arts and Letters. Dr. Rodriguez is currently on leave from UTD and is the composer-in-residence with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

Student involvement urged

Students are urged to become involved in campus organizations and activities. There are about 30 organizations on campus catering to a wide variety of students needs and desires.

Two of the most vital student organizations are Student Government and the student newspaper, the UTD MERCURY. These two organizations strive to maintain good communication with most of the student body, bringing student concerns to the attention of persons able to take appropriate action.

Student government is here to promote the interests, opinions, beneficial projects, and to act as an official voice of students on policy. Student government represents the corporate student body in dealings with individuals and agencies.

UTD MERCURY is written, edited and illustrated in offices 2.106 and 2.108 in the Student Union. The student newspaper serves as a forum for discussion of issues relevant to students. It informs, entertains, and records the school's history.

The UTD MERCURY offers a continuing experience in practical journalism, both in writing to newspaper style and in photography as well as in advertising sales and layout. Without a formal journalism-newspaper program at UTD, the paper especially offers an experience continuation to students who have had basic journalism courses in community or other colleges, as well as further hands-on, on-job training. All issues are produced under the supervision of a professional newsperson.

Students wishing to become a member of the newspaper staff, in any capacity, should contact the newspaper offices.

Pages 5 and 6 have forms and more information to assist students in joining organizations of their choice.

Placement Services helps find jobs

Finding work in a chosen field can be a frustrating experience. Because UTD is an upper-level university and graduate school, most students are concerned about future employment.

Help is available in the UTD Placement Services office, McDermott Library, room 1.408, telephone 690-2943. Mrs. Jerry C. Moore and her capable staff practice the "open-door" policy for advising students and alumni.

Students are encouraged to register with Placement Services and establish a credentials file. Professional staff assists students in identifying prospective employers and in developing communication skills such as resume writing, and interviewing and job search techniques.

Employers offering employment at the local, regional and national levels use the placement facilities at UTD. Beginning Sept. 28, Enserch Exploration will be recruiting geologists. Dallas Power and Light Co. follows on Sept. 29, interviewing accountants. On October 1, Mobil Oil Co. will conduct interviews for the geosciences field. Future on-campus interviews will be announced.

A seminar on the techniques of interviewing will be held on Monday, Oct. 4, from 5:00 to 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union, room 2.304. The program features Mr. Roger C. Eickhoff, Personnel Manager for Touche Ross and Company.

'Country Wife' opens Oct. 1

Marriage is only a legal form of bondage from which anyone in his or her right mind would seek escape.

That's the underlying theme of the second "Classic Touch" theatre production on the UTD campus. Opening curtain time is 8:15 p.m. Friday (Oct. 1).

"The Country Wife" is a William Wycherley play with characters who appear to have stepped directly out of the fashionable drawing rooms of 17th-century London. Dr. Michael Gillespie will direct the three-week run, with the final production set for the weekend of Oct. 15-17. Friday and Saturday night performances will begin at 8:15 and Sunday schedules call for a 3 p.m. staging.

Two UTD students, Mary-Margaret Pyeatt and Jeff McVey will play primary roles in the play, portraying Mrs. Pinchwife and Mr. Horner. Both characters are "in revolt," the one consciously, the other instinctively, against conventional inhibitions.

Other performers featured in the comedy are Mark Vanek as a boy; Kathryn Keller as Lucy, Alithea's maid; Anna Hoseman as Mrs. Alithea; Ellen Bell as Mrs. Squeamish; Scott Eckert as Mr. Dorilant; Tim Sanden as Mr. Sparkish; Kent Foster as Mr. Harcourt; Buzzy Deitchman as Mr. Pinchwife; Glen White as Sir Jasper Fidget; Pamela Fisher as Lady Fidget; Esther Ives Williams as Mrs. Dainty Fidget; Millie Holmes as Old Lady Squeamish; and Jay Holmes as Quack.

Student admission is $3; general admission $5. Reservations are available by calling the Box Office, 690-2983, between noon and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

NOTICE THE CHANGE IN DEADLINES FOR THE MERCURY. ALL COPY NEWS AND ADVERTISING, DUE 11 DAYS BEFORE THE PUBLICATION DATE.

Please vote on Nov. 2. Contact any member of the Minority Student Coalition for more information.

Blood drive set

Give the gift of life

Blood is a precious natural resource each of us has in our bodies. The average size man has about 12 pints and the average size woman about 9 pints of blood.

Red blood cells contain chemical components which combine in different ways to determine a person's blood group. There are four major groups: O, A, B and AB with Type O the most common and AB the least common. Eighty-five percent of the people are Rh positive and 15 percent are Rh negative.

Why should you donate blood? Blood for transfusions can only come from a human being. Unfortunately only about 5 percent of eligible persons actually donate blood, so your donation is extremely important. Approximately 300 units of blood must be collected daily to meet the needs of the community.

Please give the gift of life when the bloodmobile from Wadley Blood Bank visits the UTD campus October 6 & 7 from 9:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Each donor will receive a card with his/her blood type and a gift, compliments of Wadley.

The Blood Drive is sponsored on campus by the Student Health Service. For further information, call 690-2747.

Rutford tells alumni about plans at UTD

New buildings and programs are in plans for The University of Texas at Dallas, President Robert H. Rutford told alumni

President Rutford spoke at the organization meeting of the UTD Alumni Association in Student Union.

An applied science building, more general classroom space and a third-floor addition to Callier Center for Communication Disorders are in the plans, which were discussed by regents of The University of Texas System August meetings.

President Rutford said an early goal is to bring administrative offices onto the core campus, from the present location on Waterview Drive.

New programs, including Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in Communication Disorders and a Master of Business Administration sequence, were approved by regents. Further approval must come from the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

President Rutford expressed concern about the Coordinating Board's veto power over university and regents' requests to add academic programs.

(Past Texas Gov. Preston Smith is now chairman of the Coordinating Board; he insisted on following the board's upper level plan at UT-Dallas during his term as governor in 1969, barring enrollment of freshmen and sophomores.

(The board also denied UTD's later requests for a School of Pharmacy and a School of Law).

President Rutford said that more people in Nebraska (his location before coming here) know about UT-Dallas than the residents of the local area. UTD has an excellent national reputation, he said.

When he was making the decision to come here, President Rutford said, he called another major university president in Texas. He was told "the presidency of UTD is the best job in higher education today."

Host families meet international students

Americans who enjoy knowing international people met Wednesday with some international students to plan about the coming year as the Americans become hosts to the students.

The Americans play the activities with one or two students and spend times having dinner together, attending a sports event, or having holidays together. Both the student and the American learn more about the lifestyle and culture of another country and many of them remain friends.

There are many international students who would enjoy meeting some American hosts and any American who would like to join others and become a host can contact the International Office.

Be involved! Join a student organization

The University encourages the development and registration of student organizations designed to further the co-curricular and extracurricular interests of the students. Currently there are approximately 30 registered student organizations at UT-Dallas. These organizations provide a diverse range of opportunity for UTD students. A complete listing and a brief description of each organization is available from the Student Activities office. This office provides a wide range of resources, services, programs, and advising to assist students in their organizations. It coordinates all registration of events sponsored by student organizations and maintains a campus activities calendar.

Registration - A group of students is entitled to register as an organization if its membership is limited to students and to faculty and administrative staff, and its membership is not denied anyone on the basis of race, nationality, religion, or sex. An organization may limit its membership to students. Each organization must have an adviser, who may be a member of the faculty or staff. All organizations must conduct their affairs in accordance with the Regent's Rules, University Regulations, and Administrative Rules. Organizations will not be permitted to register if they are currently under disciplinary penalty prohibiting registration.

Students who wish to become involved in a student organization should contact the Activities Office to find out the name and telephone number of the President or leave a message in the organization's mailbox in the Student Union.

The Activities Office's staff members work with the Student Activities Advisory Committee to plan the major cocurricular programming at UT-Dallas. Members of the Committee are appointed by the President upon recommendation of the Executive Director of Student Services and the Student Government President. Volunteers to assist the Committee in developing programs for the University are encouraged to contact the Activities Office. Members and Volunteers of the Advisory Board gain leadership training, organizational experience, contacts with university faculty and staff, and the satisfaction of service to the UT-Dallas community.

Career Services offers guidance

The Career Services Center offers information on various careers, college and graduate schools, and financial aid through the Guidance Information Systems (GIS), a computer career program. Interested students may come by MC 3.202 or call 690-2947 to sign up. Sessions will be held on the fourth Monday of each month at 3:30 p.m. The dates are Sept. 27, Oct. 25, and Nov. 22.

Ascent of man video shown

Jacob Bronowski preserved his enabling vision of The Ascent of Man in both his scientific work and in a wonderfully accessible television series. The College of Natural Sciences and Mathematics invites all interested to weekly screenings of the episodes from Ascent of Man. The screenings are held each Thursday at noon and again at 5 p.m. in SU 2.308 (next door to the game room). On Thursday, Sept. 30, see "The Hidden Structure." This series is also sponsored by the Student Activities Advisory Board.

Callier offers three shows

UTD/Callier Theater of the Deaf will offer its audiences more "spectacular" types of shows during 1982-83 than in years past, with productions of Godspell in October and The Tempest in February.

Later in the spring, the group will also take a one-act show yet to be selected on tour.

"I guess 'spectacles' does seem to be more what we're heading for this season," said Tom Cantu, who directs the theater's activities. "Probably the best way to describe our presentations will be 'very theatrical.'"

Callier Theater devotees may notice some former regulars of the group missing. Jesse Ramos, who directed several acclaimed productions for the theater, has moved on to New York and former Technical Director Neil Jarrell is pursuing other activities for a while.

But Cantu has recruited some other regulars to handle directing for the individual presentations (John Stevens for Godspell and Tony Medlin for The Tempest) as well as Lisa Mulkey, who has drawn high praise for her performances with Callier Theater, to serve as dance captain this season in addition to performing. He has also brought in Bob Kruger of Dallas to pick up technical direction duties.

Godspell is scheduled to run Oct. 1-3, 8-10, 15-17 and 22-24. The Tempest will be presented Feb. 11-13, 18-20 and 25-27. All performances will be in Aram Glorig Auditorium at the Callier Center for Communication Disorders, 1966 Inwood Rd. (next door to the UT Health Science Center). Admission will be $4 per person for adults, $2 for children and senior citizens. For reservations, call 783-3041 or, for the deaf and hearing-impaired, TTY (teletype) number 783-3042.

Besides presenting plays, Callier Theater will continue classes it began this summer in sign language, mime and dance, and will open a monthly program of captioned films in November.

"This will be a continuous, free series, for the deaf and hearing-impaired," said Cantu. "We want to offer them the types of films they see run all the time but which they may find difficult to grasp without captions. We'll have shows like Gone With the Wind, Close Encounters of the Third Kind, Romeo and Juliet, and The Deer Hunter. Many of the shows we want to secure have fairly important messages we feel lots of people, including the deaf and hearing-impaired, should have access to."

For further information on the classes or film series, call the numbers listed above.
