BUILDS PERFECT MODEL

North Carolina has met failure in its efforts to get the original Wright plane back from England, but James R. Huntley, sophomore in mechanical engineering, built a model which experts declare is Huntley spent three months collecting original specifications, drawings, and photographs of the first airplane, and construction of the model, which is one-senth actual size of the famous plane, required 200 hours.

It will be displayed in the North Carolina exhibit at the World's Fair.

This year's Agromeck, the fiftleth anniversary edition, is being hailed as one of the finest yearbooks ever put out at State College. The book this year will contain one section which will be entirely new and different, the nature of which is being kept as a surprise by the year-book staff.

The number of students whose pictures appear in the class sec-tions is greater this year because of the reduction in the picture fee from $3 to $1. The athletic section has been greatly enlarged and tributed until all space contracts are paid up, and urged that all organizations clear up their bills as soon as possible to avoid any delay in the distribution.

Ceramic Seniors' Inspection Trip Termed Success

Nearly All of Nine Seniors Have Definite Promises of Jobs After Graduation

Dr. A. F. Greaves-Walker, head of the Department of Ceramic En-gineering, said, on his return to the State College campus with the nine seniors in ceramics who at-tended the annual meeting of the American Ceramic Society, that nearly all of the students had come away with definite promises of jobs fter graduation, and that the trip had been a huge success.

The meeting, which was held in Chicago, arranged its program in conjunction with that of the Institute of Ceramic Engineering and Keramos, the professional ceramic fraternity. Dr. Greaves-Walker, re-tiring as president of the Institute, was elected to the Society's board of trustees for 'a term of three years. He had previously served on the board in 1923-24.

Increase of $70 for Out-of-State Tuition Authorized by Legislature; Makes Total of $250

By P. P. GREGO

Out-of-state students returning to State College next year will be faced with a $70 increase in tuition

"The proposal for increasing the out-of-state tuition did not come from the College nor from the Board of Trustees," Colonel Harrelson stated in the interview, "but from the Budget Commission." The Commission originally recommended that tuition for resident structure. ed that tuition for resident students be raised from $80 to $125 and that tuition for out-of-state students be raised from $180 to $250. This would give an additional income to the college of $111,150.

Public Disapproves
"When the proposals were made public for raising the tuition for both resident and non-resident stu-dents," Colonel Harrelson stated, "the people of North Carolina registered a vigorous protest in the press, on the platform and in other vays."

The outcome was a general agreement among the State institutions, the Assembly and the public that there would be no increase in tuifor resident students. committees of the Assembly reached an agreement without record that the tuition for out-of-state students would be raised to make up the deficit in the general maintenance appropriation which had been reduced from $363,000 to $325,-000 for State College.

Colonel Harrelson added that after many conferences and various recommendations, the Board of Trustees finally authorized the fixing of out-of-state tuition at $250. The increase of $70 is estimated to provide only $24,000 of the $38,000 needed to make up the deficit in the maintenance appropriation.

Progress on Every Hand . . .

State College is rapidly moving forward, and in no uncertain terms. We can see on every hand signs of advancements, definite and material progress, and permanent improvements.

We are now at the peak of the largest building program since the founding of the institution, and next year we will put into use for the first time numerous new dormitories and classrooms. All are designed to make State College an excellent seat of knowledge and a better place in which to live.

But not only are improvements material in constructions. We are advancing to an institution where the student is being placed on a better footing, and where he can approach the faculty on more even terms.

Recently Tau Beta Pi took a large step forward in their sponsorship of the Dean's List. In all probability time will erase the cut system entirely.

Now a different approach is appearing, in the form of a proposal for a student-faculty day, a day when undergraduates and the administration can meet each other outside of the classrooms for social enjoyment. There is no doubt that this student-faculty day program will receive the whole hearted support of the entire student body, and certainly the members of the faculty.

This proposal, realization of which is almost a certainty, is merely a nucleus around which better student-faculty relations will be formed in the future.

State College is advancing, not only materially, but spiritually and morally as well.—E. P. D.

Regulations For Room Assignments

Following are the regulations as set up by the administration concerning the dormitory rooms for upperclassmen for the school year of 1939-40, giving the dates of applications and dormitories available:

- 1. Dormitories 7, 8, 9, and 10 will be reserved for Freshmen
- 2. Fourth dormitory will be reserved for graduate students. 3. Tentative plans at this time prevent assigning rooms in 1911 dormitory
- 4. Watauga, South, 5th, 6th, "A" and "C" dormitories are reserved for miors, juniors, and sophomores.
- 5. The adding of 5th, 5th, and South dormitories to the space assigned to apper classes, and the taking out of 1911 dormitory makes it necessary to hange the plans for assigning space to students.
- 6. It has been decided to give seniors first choice in dormitories reserved for upper classmen. Beginning Monday, May 1, 1989, applications from seniors will be censidered in the order in which they are received. Seniors assigned to recome during the week of May 1st may select their recommandes. Beginning Monday, May 8th the applications from juniors will be received and considered for the remaining space, and juniors thus assigned may select their recommandes. John M. Harkey, junior in tex-tiles: "I think that the music is a fine thing for several reasons. It has helped greatly toward re-ducing the noise in the cafeteria during mealtime. I find it much easier to eat my meals with the aid of some smooth music."

I. J. Skowronek, junior in en-gineering: "The music in the cafe-teria is not only invigorating but also very comforting to me and I believe it has about the same effect on most students. It adds some spice to the meals which are other wise very routine and monotonous to most of us. More music and better food for a better State Coliege.'

Lee Perks, junior in forestry: "Swing music in the college bean-ery is really a swell idea because 'm a musician at heart. Another good reason is that now at long last I can eat my soup with some semblence of rhythm."

"Duke" Ellington, junior in agriculture: "I think the music in the cafeteria has reduced the noise a great deal and also has helped to break up the monotony of go-ing to classes. On this basis it should be continued by all means."

P. P. Gregg, junior in engineer-ing: "The idea of having music with our meals is excellent, though it is a little hard on the digestive system trying to eat a meal while something like "Hold Tight" is blaring forth. I'm for more smooth music with our meals."

John E. Davis, senior in agri-culture: "I like the music but the amplifying system makes it sound as though it were coming out of a barrel. I believe that it would be a good idea to have more loud speakers distributed around the cafeteria, don't you?"

Track Team Off To Chapel Hill For AAU Meet

State Has Team Entry in Annual Meet For First Time in Eight Years: Mickey Thompson Expected To Star

The red-and-white of State College will be worn by entrants in the AAU meet, held at Chapel Hill tomorrow, for the first time in eight years. Individual State College students, like Milan Zori and Bill Davis, have been entered in these meets, but they competed as individuals, and not as representatives of the college.

Forty-two men will represent the school tomorrow and Saturday-22 varsity runners and 20 freshmen.

Two of Doc Sermon's star dash men—Dick East and Hank Gibbs will be kept out of the running by leg injuries. East pulled a tendon and Gibbs is suffering with the re-currence of an old shank injury.

Ranking as favorites at the meet will be Mickey Thompson, broad jumper: H. V. Johnson, miler: Ike Hanf, pole vaulter and Sam Welch, hurdler.

Ed Singsen, New England AAU and former sectional intercollegiate pole vault champion from Rhode Island State College, will wear a State uniform on Saturday.

Today's events will be the first performance for the frosh. Among their outstanding performers are Mac McKay, discus and shot; Pete Shintay, 440-dash; Frank Davidson, and Duquesne Quint are and Hen Ferebee, mile; Bill Fleming, half mile, and M. W. Grady

Prominent Editor Addresses Ag Club

Dr. Clarence Poe, Head of Progressive Farmer, Speaks at Meeting

Speaking before a record crowd Tuesday night, Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer, spoke to the Ag Club on the topic, The Dignity and Satisfaction of Farming.

Dr. Poe presented a very interesting and timely lecture to the students and offered numerous rea-sons for the ever-increasing im-portance of the farmer to American industry.

Following the lecture the nominating committee announced the candidates for the various offices to be voted upon at the next meet-ing of the club. Sam Mann and Lloyd Langdon were nominated for editor of the Agriculturist and Bill Davenport, M. E. Starnes and J. Mc-Ginnis for business manager. Jim Mitchiner and Joe Micheal will run for chairman of the annual barn-warming and D. C. Parker and J. S. Smith were nominated for treasurer of the club.

The date for the annual club picnic was set for May 19 and it was announced that all agricul-tural students are invited to at-

Wardlaw To Play For Junior-Senior

On May 13

The junior class will be host next Saturday night, May 13 at the annual Junior-Senior Prom which will be presented in the Frank Thompson Gymnasium.

Jack Wardlaw, known as the "Dance King of the South," and his orchestra will furnish the rhythms for the occasion, according to President Jim Mitchiner of the junior class. Wardlaw will feature as vocalist, lovely Betty Guyon, who is well known to local dance-goers.

The traditional ring ceremony during which each junior and his date march through a huge class ring, will serve as the figure. The members of the senior class will be the guests of the evening and there will be a no-break dance for each class.

Mitchiner also stated that bids will be distributed late next week. An announcement of the distribu-tion will be made at a later date.
