

Become an ARHU Ambassador

Are you interested in becoming an ARHU Ambassador? The College of Arts and Humanities is currently seeking enthusiastic students to become ARHU Ambassadors for the 2012 - 2013 year! The College seeks students with diverse experiences at the university to interact with prospective students and new freshmen and transfer students. As a student in Arts and Humanities, you are qualified to encourage others about the vast opportunities in the College and the University of Maryland campus.

HOW DO YOU BENEFIT?

- Serve as role models for prospective students and new ARHU students
- Serve on various ARHU and University committees
- Develop presentation and leadership skills
- Receive upper-level credit by registering for ARHU468

WHAT IS YOUR TIME COMMITMENT AS AN AMBASSADOR?

Specific activities include:

- May serve on the Dean's Advisory Board or other ARHU/University committees
- Campus recruiting events (ex: open house events)
- Outreach and welcome new freshmen and transfer ARHU students
- Must enroll in ARHU468

HOW TO APPLY:

To apply, submit the attached application and provide a 1-2 page essay on the following:

- Why you're interested in becoming an ARHU Ambassador
- What specific qualities and leadership skills you will contribute as an ARHU Ambassador
- What advice/information you would share with a new or prospective ARHU student about your ARHU experience

Applications and essays should be sent to arhu-admit@umd.edu or submitted to 1120 Francis Scott Key Hall by Friday, April 6, 2012. Selected students will be contacted with more details.
