The Literacy Newsletter of Burke County

A Note from the President

Spring is such a special time of year. It is a time for reflection, new beginnings and growth.

As many of you know, our Board President, Catherine Veronica (Ronnie) Grossi, passed away on January 5th, 2009. Ronnie was a very active member of the Board. Not only did she serve two non-consecutive terms as Board President, one term as Vice President, 8 ½ years as a board member, but she also tutored ESL students at Project F.L.O.W.E.R. one morning a week.

She cared for her students so much that when one asked for help for a family member with a difficult schedule, she immediately offered her 1-on-1 tutoring on Sunday afternoons. We often joked with her about her "little red schoolhouse" as that Sunday afternoon class grew from 1 to 5 students. Ronnie was a vital part of our organization and is missed by the Board, staff and students at The Literacy Council.

This year marks the 20th anniversary of the Burke County Literacy Council and our help is needed now more than ever. Unemployment rates in our county continue to climb impacting the lives of all those in our community. Our mission to teach adults and their families to read and/or to improve their literacy skills and to instill in all those served a commitment to life-long learning will enable us to have a better educated workforce. This is a crucial element in sustaining the jobs we currently have and in attracting new jobs to our area.

At a time when services are needed most, we are facing budget cuts from our major sources. This will challenge us to find ways to subsidize our budget to maintain our current program levels. The Board, with your help, will be looking for creative and innovative ways to face this challenge.

In light of these adversities, I am still excited about the future. I have had the privilege of being associated with The Literacy Council for the last three years. I began as the Family Literacy Coordinator after being a stay-at-home mom for eight years. This was a good fit for me since I worked with families, explaining to them the importance of literacy in the home while teaching them how to share books and experiences with their children. My time at home with my children was not only valuable to me as a parent but also allowed me to gain experiences and skills I was able to use when teaching new parents. I really enjoyed working with the students, staff and board so it was a difficult decision for me to leave when I was asked to join the family business. I was thrilled when asked to join the board and even more so when nominated for President. I am very excited to continue working with The Literacy Council in this new role.

Tutor Spotlight

Josh Benfield

When BCLC asked me if I was interested in adult tutoring I was a little reserved about the idea at first. I thought about it for a while, and figured “why not?” After just a few lessons with my student I immediately began to see how rewarding it was to help someone learn a new skill that most people, including myself, take for granted. Just the thought of my help touching every aspect of their lives is a wonderful feeling. I was sad to learn the number of adults in Burke County who can’t read. Hopefully I can influence more people to help. Just imagine, what would your life be like, if you couldn’t read or write a thing. Think about it then take action against it.

Program News

Project Flower participation remained strong throughout the 2008-2009 school year. Average attendance was approximately thirty students. The English as a Second Language students practiced basic reading, writing, and speaking skills. Some groups were able to begin working on some more detailed English grammar as well. Various “real-world” topics such as filling out forms, navigating the doctor’s office, and understanding grocery ads were also taught. The year culminated with a field trip to the Morganton Public Library. The Literacy Council staff and Project FLOWER tutors are so proud of this year’s participation and progress! Speaking of tutors, we were very fortunate to have many new tutors volunteering for us this year at Project FLOWER. Listed below are the new tutors who came on board: Brenda Monshine, Maggie McKinney, Lauren Amero, Sue Johnson, Beverly Bellew, and Kathy Rosenberger along with her children Danielle, Nathanael, and Jesse. Our returning tutors were Rose Shook, Marcia Hill, Vicki Poitingner, Marilyn Settlemeyer, Elinora Miller, and Miguel Sebastian. Many thanks to all of our tutors-new and veteran alike!

A new ESL class at Luz Y Verdad Iglesias de Dios began in March. This class will continue to meet throughout the month of June before breaking for summer. Class time is on Tuesday nights from seven to nine o’clock. The attendance averages around thirty students each week. The students are very enthusiastic and are working hard. We appreciate our tutors who have worked diligently to make this new class a success: Lauren Amero, Maggie McKinney, Sue Scherwin, and Josh Cohen.

Motheread/Fatheread classes also continued successfully this year. Throughout the year regular classes were held at Family Connections, Burke-Catawba Confinement Facility, Freedom High School’s Evenstart class, Generations, Circle of Friends, and Project FLOWER. We were privileged to be able to participate in reading nights at Hillcrest and Oak Hill Elementary Schools as well as participate in Burke County Schools Kindergarten Transition Nights. Participants in these classes received a free copy of the book at each session. Through quality children’s literature, parents learn innovative ways to connect with their children and build their home library in the process. If you are interested in joining a class or would like to begin a class in your area, please call Valerie Hightower, Family Literacy Coordinator, at 437-7477.

One-on-One Adult tutors are needed! Free training and materials are provided by the Burke County Literacy Council.

Fundraising News

ABC Lunch for Literacy

The Literacy Council held our annual ABC Soup Luncheon on February 24th at St. Charles Catholic Church. Everyone enjoyed a lunch of vegetable or potato soup, grilled cheese sandwich, a cookie and a drink.

This is our largest fundraiser of the year and this year we raised $2,950.69. Thanks to all those who donated items for the luncheon, to those who bought tickets and to all our volunteers who made this possible!

Belk Charity Day

What a successful fundraiser we had for Spring! Total earnings this spring were $612.50! Thank you for helping support literacy in Burke County!

Spelling Bee for Literacy

It was an exciting night of competition. Team Wachovia Bank took home the trophy for their second time, beating out R. L. Patton High School in the final round. Patton had a chance to overtake Wachovia when Wachovia misspelled psychedelic and blanquillo but they were unable to spell floccillation and bellwether correctly for the win. In the final round Wachovia spelled ecclesiastic correctly and Patton misspelled scutage. Wachovia then spelled inosculate correctly to give them the victory.

Wachovia was represented by Angela Hartley, Philip Moore, and Candace Pritchard. R. L. Patton High School's team was represented by Courtney Duckworth, Tom Randolph, and Anne Robertson. Other teams who participated were Blue Ridge Radiology Association – Eric Antley, Paul Fischer & Robert Gage, Burke County Department of Social Services – Carrie Belas, Judy Hawkins & Amy Patton, Freedom High School – Aaron Hayworth, Maggie Ivancic & Drew Minnear, Men's Club of Morganton – Michael Fullenwider, William Mode & Ed Phillips, and Morganton Rotary Club – Dr. Tom Bland, Alan Clarke & David Rust.

This was the 17th Annual Spelling Bee for Literacy. It was held April 7th at R. L. Patton High School. This year we raised $1,239.00. If you'd like to enter a team in next year's bee or be on the spelling bee committee, please notify Ariel by phone (437-7477) or email (literacysupport@bellsouth.net).

News at BCLC

Letter from a Reader Leader subscriber

Ariel,

Will you please send me an email copy of the newsletter instead of a printed one.

I always enjoy hearing news from BCLC. I especially notice that many people who trained from 1987 - 1997 are still involved with the council. I am very proud of the work you all have done. Congratulations!

I am tutoring again here in Asheville with the Buncombe County Literacy Council. I enjoy my adult student and we are finishing up The Laubach Way to Reading green Skill Book 1. I've done one inservice presentation here, but, regrettably, the council isn't using the LWR series.

Please say hello to Brownie and other old timers.

Sincerely,

(Abbie) Gail Cable

New Statistics Released

Today, the National Center for Education Statistics released a new report, Basic Reading Skills and the Literacy of America's Least Literate Adults: Results from the 2003 National Assessment of Adult Literacy (NAAL).

Key Findings:

- ◇ Seven million adults, or about 3% of the adult population, could not complete even the most basic literacy tasks in the main assessment and were given the supplemental assessment.
- ◇ Nearly 1 in 5 adults in the nonliterate in English group had a high school diploma or GED. Among them, more than half (representing roughly 600,000 adults) had earned their high school degree in the US.
- ◇ For those for whom Spanish is a first language, a delay in learning English is associated with low basic reading skills. Those who learned English before age 11 had basic reading scores similar to average native English speakers (97 words read correctly per minute); however, for those who learned English after age 21, average scores were 35 points (or about one-third) lower. Due to the correlational nature of these data, it is impossible to make causal attributions, i.e., to say that a delay in learning English causes low basic reading skills.
- ◇ Adults who took the main literary assessment were able to read, on average, 98 words correctly per minute (wpm), in comparison to 34 wpm by those in the supplemental assessment.

Literacy Council Wish List

- ◇ Bottled water for Project Citizenship participants and Project Flower children
- ◇ Copy paper
- ◇ Ink jet paper
- ◇ Pens/Pencils
- ◇ Manila file folders
- ◇ Expanding file folders
- ◇ 6x9 envelopes

A Note from the Director

As always, thank you so much for your continued support of the Literacy Council and its programs. We have had a full and busy year. Our student numbers have increased and we have new ESL classes with dedicated students. Many students have made amazing academic gains this year. Currently students are taking their post-tests – I look forward to our end of the year reports to see the whole picture of how well our volunteer tutors have moved their students toward reading proficiency.

Read the program updates and be proud of what the Literacy Council is doing!

And....If you ever wondered what my job was about – read the following report after a phone interview with my six year old granddaughter, Morgan Steinert. I think she got it all just right.

Morgan
My Grandmother is The Executive Director of the Burke County
Literacy Council. She went to college to be a teacher to get

this job. Her responsibilities
are to raise money
and teach people to read. She uses books
and computers to help her.
She loves to read to parents and kids. It is hard to raise money.

Catherine Veronica Grossi

66, of Morganton, died on Jan. 5, 2009 at the Hospice in Wayne, N.J. following a serious illness. Veronica (Ronnie as she was known to friends) had lived the past several years in Greensboro and Morganton after retiring from Goldman Sachs & Co. where she was the administrative assistant to former chairmen Gus Levy and John Whitehead. She served as board president of the Burke County Literacy Council and was actively involved in other charitable endeavors. She was the devoted wife of the late Charles Grossi and is survived by her sister, Patricia Peterson of West Orange, N.J., her six nieces and nephews and many loving friends. She was predeceased by her sister, the Honorable Carol Weaver McCracken of Bloomingdale, NJ.

Parts of this obituary were found in the Morganton News Herald
