You recently received a response from the Card Service's Executive Office regarding a question or concern. We understand your experience with CHASE thus far may not have met your expectations and we want to prevent this from happening again. We are sorry it was necessary to escalate your concern to our department.

We need your opinion on how well the Card Service's Executive Office handled your concern once we received it in our office.

Please give us a few minutes to complete the attached questionnaire, which asks about your experience with our department. Since only a select number of customers were chosen to receive this questionnaire, your response is very important to us.

Again, please accept our apologies for the inconvenience you experienced. We are continuously working to ensure that Cardmember issues are resolved at the first point of contact. A return envelope and postage have been provided.

Sincerely,

For his Privacy: Chip Hill's Signature
