SOCIETY PROFILE & MEMBERSHIP INFORMATION

The International Geosynthetics Society (IGS) is a non-profit organization which was founded in Paris, on 10 November 1983, by a group of geotechnical engineers and textile specialists. The society brings together individual and corporate members from all parts of the world, who are involved in the design, manufacture, sale, use or testing of geotextiles, geomembranes, related products and associated technologies, or who teach or conduct research about such products.

The IGS is a society whose strength lies in diversity and strong local leadership. Our society is comprised of 43 hard working National and Regional Chapters and includes members from over 70 countries! We are pleased to report that at the time of this brochure there are a number of additional chapters in formation.

In 2014 the IGS Membership has exceeded:

- 3,000 Individual Members
- 400 Student Members
- 161 International Corporate Members

Please consult the IGS website for an updated list of chapters and contact information.

The IGS Aims:

- to collect and disseminate knowledge on all matters relevant to geotextiles, geomembranes and related products by promoting the development of seminars, conferences, publications, etc.
- to promote advancement of the state of the art of geotextiles, geomembranes and related products and of their applications by encouraging, through its members, the harmonization of test methods, equipment and criteria, etc.

The IGS:

- promotes the dissemination of technical information on geosynthetics through its two official journals, Geotextiles & Geomembranes and Geosynthetics International
- provides a forum for the exchange of ideas through communication at IGS Conferences and IGS-supported events on local, national, regional and international levels
- through work in its Educational and Technical committees, publishes documents which provide guidance to the users of geosynthetics
- publishes documents which provide guidance to the users of geosynthetics, through work in its Educational and Technical Committees
- publishes IGS News three times annually
- hosts a publicly available website for members and non-members to search many of the educational documents created by the IGS
- offers multiple awards including the IGS Award and Student Awards for excellence in achievement

A comprehensive listing of the IGS's first 30 years of achievement can be found on the IGS website.
