Dear Mr/Ms _____,

I'm responding to your advertisement that I saw in _____ for the surgical technologist position at _____. I was impressed by your center's recent expansion and am excited about all the procedures performed at your facility. I recently graduated from _____ and am searching for a position where I can further enhance my surgical skills and grow as a CST.

Although some may write off recent students due to their lack of experience, I view it as a way to show off what I have learned throughout my training program. I performed my clinicals at _____ and was able to secure an externship at _____. I was able to first scrub in more than ____ cases and was educated on a number of procedures including _____, _____ and _____. In 2011, I attended AST's Annual National Conference, where I expanded my surgical knowledge, networked with professionals and learned about my state assembly. However, my most important accomplishment to date is that I took and passed my certification exam making me an official certified surgical technologist.

After reviewing your facility, I believe I am the one you're looking for. I possess the skill set and enthusiasm that will make your team grow even stronger. I appreciate your consideration and look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,
