

THE GMAT® PREP TIMELINE

A step-by-step study guide, plus resources and tips to make your study efforts more effective and efficient.

THE GMAT® PREP TIMELINE

Get more details at MBA.COM

TEST SCHOOL CHOICES:	GMAT APPOINTMENT:	NOTES:
_____	DAY: _____	_____
_____	DATE: _____	_____
_____	TIME: _____	_____
_____	LOCATION: _____	_____
_____	_____	_____
TARGET SCORE: _____	_____	_____

Preparation pays off by using official tools.
Access free test prep and business school resources at mba.com.

 RECOMMENDATION: Start at least six months before test results are due. You are the best judge of how much time you need to prepare.

	PLANNING			STUDYING	FINAL PREP		TESTING	RESULTS
	STEP 1	STEP 2	STEP 3	STEP 4	STEP 5	STEP 6	STEP 7	STEP 8
	GATHER INFO ABOUT YOUR TARGET PROGRAMS	REGISTER & PLAN	ESTABLISH YOUR SKILLS BASELINE	STUDY ... STUDY ... STUDY ...	ASSESS YOUR PROGRESS	HOME STRETCH	TESTING	SCORING
MILESTONES 	<input type="checkbox"/> Identify schools' application deadlines and GMAT score ranges. (Fill in above) <input type="checkbox"/> Set your target score. (Fill in above)	<input type="checkbox"/> Research test centers near you using "Find a GMAT Test Center," on mba.com <input type="checkbox"/> Register for the GMAT exam. (Fill in above) <input type="checkbox"/> Develop your study plan and schedule.	<input type="checkbox"/> Familiarize yourself with the exam format, question types, and test timing. <input type="checkbox"/> Take a GMATPrep practice exam to identify the skills you need to study most.	<input type="checkbox"/> Study using the free practice questions in the GMATPrep software. <input type="checkbox"/> Review your progress reports and plan strategies to improve your weak areas in pacing and question types.	<input type="checkbox"/> Take your second GMATPrep practice exam.	<input type="checkbox"/> Keep studying through the home stretch!	<input type="checkbox"/> Take the GMAT exam; get unofficial scores.	CONGRATULATIONS. RELAX & CELEBRATE. You and your schools should allow about 20 days to receive your official GMAT scores.
RESOURCES 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Explore mba.com for information on specific schools and programs, GMAT® exam, and GMAT prep materials. Ask the Experts blog Official GMAT blog Find recruiting events near you. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Register at mba.com/gmatregistration. Download the GMAT Handbook. It tells you everything you need to know and agree to before you take the GMAT exam. mba.com/bulletin 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Download the free GMATPrep® software at mba.com/gmatprep. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Download "Analysis of an Argument" essay topics found on the Analytical Writing Assessment page at mba.com. Use the GMATPrep software to review progress report and develop strategies to develop your performance on specific question types. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Use the GMATPrep software to review GMAT exam myths and general test-taking strategies. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Access more study products at mba.com/store. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Take a video tour of the test center at mba.com. Get ready for the big day with tips from students like you at mba.com.
TIPS 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Start a minimum of six months before test results are due to schools. Plan to prepare for the GMAT in the way you learn best — classes, tutoring, study groups, or self-study. Give yourself enough time to retake the exam if things don't go as planned. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The further in advance you register the greater your choice of available dates to take the exam. GMAT experts recommend studying twice a week. Mix up different question types and exam sections in your study schedule. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Replicate actual test conditions as you practice. Don't use a calculator or study materials. Keep an eye on the clock; remember the timer turns yellow when you have five minutes or less left to complete a section. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Study for the GMAT exam until you are comfortable with the test — question formats, test timing, and pacing techniques. Pacing is important. There's a significant penalty for not finishing the GMAT exam. If you're spending too much time on a question, guess and move on. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Replicate actual test conditions, time yourself, and don't use a calculator or study materials. Revisit strategies for specific question types. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Remember to review your strong areas, and devote extra time to your weak spots. Plan to get a good night's rest and review what you can and can't take to the testing center. Remember what schools you want to send scores to. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Allow extra time to get to the test center so you don't have to rush to make your appointment. 	