Customer may not assign or otherwise transfer its rights or obligations under the Rental Program except with the prior written consent of Baxter.
- B. Commencement and Monthly Fee.
1. The Rental Program shall begin on the EQUIPMENT Effective Date (i.e., the date that is five (5) days after the date of shipment), and shall continue until the EQUIPMENT is returned to Baxter. Customer may terminate the Rental Program at any time by giving notice to Baxter and returning the EQUIPMENT to Baxter. Rental Fees will be billed monthly. If the EQUIPMENT Effective Date is any day other than the first of the month, the first monthly rental fee shall be prorated. Thereafter, full monthly rental fees shall be due for each month through the month in which the EQUIPMENT is returned and the Rental Program terminates. Renter is responsible for all rental fees until such time as the EQUIPMENT is returned to Baxter.
 2. The Rental Program for Evaluator EQUIPMENT (i.e., Equipment delivered to customer for evaluation purposes only) shall begin on the forty-fifth (45th) day after Baxter provides the first in-service for the Evaluator EQUIPMENT (such forty-fifth (45th) day being the "Evaluator Rental Commencement Date"). Baxter shall have the right, during normal business hours, to enter customer's premises or any EQUIPMENT site to inspect the EQUIPMENT. Title to the EQUIPMENT remains with Baxter. During the Rental Program, customer assumes the risk of loss of, and has responsibility for, damage to the EQUIPMENT from any cause. Customer shall indemnify and hold Baxter harmless from any and all liability and expense, except to the extent directly caused by the sole negligence of Baxter, arising out of the selection, possession, operation, maintenance, delivery, or return of the EQUIPMENT. Such protection shall include, but not be limited to, claims for personal injury or death or property damage arising out of any act or omission of the customer or its patients.  2. Upon the happening of any event of default, Baxter may, at its sole option, take immediate possession of any or all of the EQUIPMENT, and, for such purposes, enter upon the customer's premises or site where the EQUIPMENT is located and remove it, without liability for so doing or require the customer, at its expense, to return the EQUIPMENT to Baxter as provided in the Returned Goods Policy in Section II.B.

PERITONEAL DIALYSIS

EXTRANEAL (icodextrin) PD Solution

	Na	Ca	Mg	Cl	Lactate
Extraneal (icodextrin) PD Solution (mEq/L)	132	3.5	0.5	96	40

Extraneal (icodextrin) Peritoneal Dialysis (PD) solution is indicated for a single daily exchange for the long (8 to 16 hour) dwell during Continuous Ambulatory Peritoneal Dialysis (CAPD) or Automated Peritoneal Dialysis (APD) for the management of End-Stage Renal Disease (ESRD). Extraneal is also indicated to improve (compared to 4.25% dextrose) long-dwell ultrafiltration and clearance of creatinine and urea nitrogen in patients with high-average or greater transport characteristics, as defined using the Peritoneal Equilibration Test (PET).

Important Risk Information

EXTRANEAL (icodextrin) Peritoneal Dialysis (PD) Solution

Dangerous Drug-Device Interaction

Only use glucose-specific monitors and test strips to measure blood glucose levels in patients using Extraneal (icodextrin) PD Solution. Blood glucose monitoring devices using glucose dehydrogenase pyroloquinolinequinone (GDH-PQQ) or glucose-dye-oxidoreductase (GDO)-based methods must not be used. Use of GDH-PQQ or GDO-based glucose monitors and test strips has resulted in falsely elevated glucose readings due to the presence of maltose and has led patients or health care providers to withhold treatment of hypoglycemia or to administer insulin inappropriately. Both of these situations have resulted in unrecognized hypoglycemia, which has led to loss of consciousness, coma, permanent neurological damage, and death. Plasma levels of Extraneal and its metabolites return to baseline within approximately 14 days following cessation of Extraneal administration. Therefore falsely elevated glucose levels may be measured up to two weeks following cessation of Extraneal therapy when GDH-PQQ or GDO-based blood glucose monitors and test strips are used. Because GDH-PQQ and GDO-based blood glucose monitors may be used in hospital settings, it is important that the health care providers of peritoneal dialysis patients using Extraneal carefully review the product information of the blood glucose testing system, including that of test strips, to determine if the system is appropriate for use with Extraneal (icodextrin) PD Solution. To avoid improper insulin administration, educate patients to alert health care providers of this interaction whenever they are admitted to the hospital. Information regarding glucose monitor and test strip methodology can be obtained from their manufacturers. For a list of toll free numbers for glucose monitor and test strip manufacturers, please contact the Baxter Renal Clinical HelpLine 1-888-RENAL-HELP or visit www.glucosesafety.com.

- Extraneal is contraindicated in patients with a known allergy to cornstarch or icodextrin, maltose or isomaltose intolerance, pre-existing severe lactic acidosis, and in patients with glycogen storage disease
- Extraneal is not for intravenous injection
- Patients with insulin-dependent diabetes may require modification of insulin dosage following initiation of treatment
- A patient's volume status should be carefully monitored to avoid hyper- or hypovolemia and potentially severe consequences including congestive heart failure, volume depletion and hypovolemic shock. An accurate fluid balance record must be kept and the patient's body weight monitored
- In clinical trials, the most frequently reported adverse events occurring in > 5% of patients, and more common in Extraneal patients than in control patients, were peritonitis, upper respiratory infection, hypertension, and rash. The most common treatment-related adverse event for Extraneal patients was skin rash. Additional adverse reactions have been reported in the post-marketing setting and are detailed in the full prescribing information

General Peritoneal Dialysis-Related

- Encapsulating Peritoneal Sclerosis (EPS) is considered to be a known, rare complication of peritoneal dialysis therapy. EPS has been reported in patients using peritoneal dialysis solutions including Extraneal. Infrequent but fatal outcomes have been reported
- Aseptic technique should be used throughout the peritoneal dialysis procedure to reduce the possibility of infection, such as peritonitis
- Fluid status, hematologic indices, blood chemistry, and electrolyte concentrations, including calcium, potassium, sodium, magnesium and bicarbonate, should be monitored periodically. Abnormalities in any of these parameters should be treated promptly under the care of a physician
- Overinfusion of peritoneal dialysis solution volume into the peritoneal cavity may be characterized by abdominal distention, feeling of fullness and/or shortness of breath. Treatment of overinfusion is to drain the peritoneal dialysis solution from the peritoneal cavity
- Treatment should be initiated and monitored under the supervision of a physician knowledgeable in the management of patients with renal failure
- Please see full prescribing information. EXTRANEAL Product Insert and EXTRANEAL Medication Guide.
