Tic-Tac-Toe

for Student Choice Activities

1. Pretend that you are on a two week the trip with Lewis and Clark. Write a daily travelogue giving details about all that you see and do.	2. Dress like a person from the Age of Jefferson and role play their part in this time period of history.	3. Create a brochure advertising to tourists to come to the Louisiana Territory or make 4 postcards showing some aspect of the Louisiana Territory with a message on the back telling about each picture.
4. Draw a map of the United States of America after the Louisiana Purchase. Label all bodies of water, landforms, cities, and boundary lines. OR Draw a before and after map of the United States of America. One would show America before the Louisiana Purchase and the other after it was purchased from France.	5. Make a board game about the Lewis and Clark Expedition. The game should include the route that Lewis and Clark took while exploring the Louisiana Territory. Play it with a group of friends.	6. Write a letter to the editor about the role of the President in acquiring new land.
7. Create Jeopardy questions about the Louisiana Purchase and/or the Age of Jefferson. Include 5 categories of questions with 5 questions in each category. Write your questions and answers on index cards. You may choose to create a Jeopardy computer game.	8. Use a chart to compare and contrast the first three Presidential terms in office. The focus should be on their foreign policies, domestic policies, and their accomplishments. The chart should have 3 columns and 3 rows.	9. Make a time line of the important events during Thomas Jefferson's administration.
