President's Message

I hope everyone is enjoying the respite of summer.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Amy Richmond Krakowka for hosting an exceptional 2010 MSDAAG meeting in West Point, NY. Congratulations to all at the United States Military Academy for their graciousness and hospitality.

This year the Middle States Meeting will be on November 11-12 at Kean University in Union, New Jersey. The university is located on the Kean family historic site, Liberty Hall, home of many historical figures including William Livingston, first Governor of NJ. The university is a convenient 30 minutes via mass transit from New York City.

I am delighted to invite you back to New Jersey, the great Garden State. We look forward to seeing you in November!

Fall 2010 Meeting Report – United States Military Academy West Point, NY

The 2010 Annual Meeting was hosted by the Department of Geography & Environmental Engineering of the United States Military Academy at West Point and held at the historic Thayer Hotel. There were 108 participants, with 45 papers, 11 posters and 1 roundtable discussion during 4 paper concurrent sessions and 1 poster session. Student contributions to the paper and poster sessions were noteworthy. The keynote speaker was Ken Foote, President of the Association of American Geographers. The MSDAAG Geography Bowl competition was won by Penn State, but there were strong individual efforts from all participants including West Point, University of Buffalo, Rutgers University-Newark, Montclair State and Geneseo. We hope to see you in New Jersey in November 2011!

World Geography Bowl

The 2010 Middle States Geography Bowl Team enthusiastically participated in the national competition of the World Geography Bowl this past spring in Seattle, WA. The World Geography Bowl is intended to be a friendly, fast-paced academic competition among college and university students. The game challenges teams of students on fundamental concepts and trivia with geographic themes.

Each year, the MSDAAG conducts the division Geography Bowl at its annual regional meeting. The highest-scoring students are then invited to represent the Middle States Division at the World Geography Bowl Finals at the AAG annual meeting (New York in Spring 2012). We invite all division undergraduate and graduate students to compete this fall at Kean University in New Jersey.

Form a team (six people) or sign up this fall to be placed on a team. Information on playing or setting up a team can be found at <http://www.geography.vt.edu/sedaag/WGB/WGBMain.htm>. If you are interested in participating, or would like more information, please contact Dr. Paul Marr, Shippensburg University, at pgmarr@ship.edu. The Geography Bowl will take place after dinner on Friday night, November 11th.

Standalone Geographers (SAGE)

The AAG has launched an effort to identify standalone geographers (individual geographers and geographers in non-geography departments) and involve more of them in national activities. There are many ways that this networking could benefit geographers working outside of a geography department including: external reviewers for tenure, access to geographic resources, funding for research, and recognition for awards. The AAG has established a standalone geographers' affinity group. The Middle States' SAGE representative is David Fyfe from York College of PA. He is compiling a network of standalone geographers in the region. There will be a panel session at the MSDAAG in October for those interested in learning more. Standalone geographers contact David at dfyfe@ycp.edu.

Association of American Geographers 2012 Annual Meeting

The AAG annual meeting will be held in the Middle States Division Region from February 24-28, 2012 in New York City. The call for papers is open until September 28, 2011. We would also like to encourage our members to consider organizing a field trip for the event.

Details can be found at www.aag.org for the conference and for organizing a field trip.

Middle States Geographer

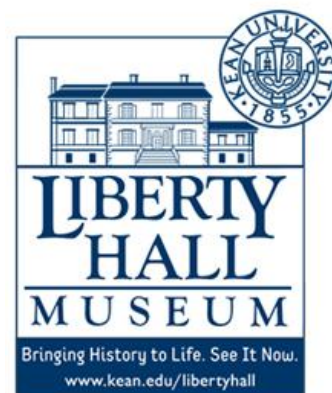

The Middle States Geographer is the official academic journal of the Middle States Division of the Association of American Geographers. The journal is published annually and includes papers from external submissions and the division Annual Meeting. The Middle States Geographer contains papers authored by both faculty and students (with peer-review by at least two reviewers) and covers a wide range of topics. The journal has been edited for the past few years by Kelly Frothingham and Stephen Vermette, Department of Geography and Planning, Buffalo State College. We thank them for their years of service including the transformation to the "digital" and "color" age!

We invite all who present papers at the Fall 2011 MSDAAG meeting to submit a manuscript for publication in the next issue of the Middle States Geographer. Paper submission guidelines are available on the journal's website at <http://geographyplanning.buffalostate.edu/middlestates.html>. You may also contact the new editor Adam Kalkstein at the USMA West Point, e-mail: Adam.Kalkstein@usma.edu, if you have questions about submitting a manuscript or if you are interested in serving as a reviewer. Students presenting papers should also consider submitting for their paper for publication in the journal.

Presently, Middle States Geographer is entirely an online journal. Articles from 1987 (Volume 20) through 2010 (Volume 43) may be viewed at the journal website. Manuscripts from the 2010 issue (Volume 43) have been recently posted. The online format of the journal widely increases accessibility to readers and exposure for authors, while reducing printing costs. Furthermore, color graphics are now possible at no cost to authors!

STUDENT PAPER COMPETITION

All STUDENTS are urged to come and present a paper at the fall meeting. The reduced rate for enrolled students is $30.00 before September 26th. MSDAAG also encourages all graduate and undergraduate students to submit and present research papers to the Student Paper Competition. CASH PRIZES are awarded. Student status is as of May 1, 2011. Meeting fees are returned to students who both submit the completed paper in writing by the deadline and present the paper at the meeting. Completed papers must follow the Middle States Geographer guidelines and can be no longer than 8 pages, single spaced, 10 point Times Roman or equivalent font. Further details on the guidelines are specified at the Middle States Division AAG web site at (http://geographyplanning.buffalostate.edu/msg_guidelines.html). Entrants should submit abstracts not to exceed 250 words electronically while registering at: http://ku.qualtrics.com/SE/?SID=SV_eqGZYfIOH0TJHmc and send electronic copies of completed papers to John Dobosiewicz at jdobosie@kean.edu, MSDAAG Student Paper Competition Chair, by September 26, 2011.
