

Volunteer Appreciation Ideas Simple and Low-cost

- Print out "Thanks for being a lifesaver!" on mailing labels in your office and adhere them to rolls of Lifesavers to pass out to your volunteers. ENERGIZE, Inc.
- Highlight volunteers in your program's newsletter, include a picture of the volunteer. Great example: Nebraska's quarterly publication SHIP News
- Email your volunteers a Thank You eCard. Some eCards support causes, such as Make-A-Wish, Conservation, and Civic Engagement just by using their service.
- Host a Volunteer Appreciation Lunch or picnic, where staff brings pot luck items for lunch and the site is decorated with low-cost items from the Dollar Store. Welcome the volunteers to invite their family and friends. Take a minute to thank each volunteer.
- Leave Pocket Praise cards for your volunteers. These cute cards are available at a low cost from Baudville, Putting Applause on Paper (SHIP at the Arlington AAA).
- Create a personalized Award Certificate using Free Microsoft Certificates template.
- Buy packets of flower seeds and include a "Thank You for Helping Us Grow!" note. ENERGIZE, Inc.
- Order "You make the difference" mouse pads, so every time volunteers use the computer they know their time and energy is appreciated. Available for less than $1/mouse pad at www.discountmugs.com.
- Create "Thanks for all that you do" laminated bookmarks with images of children's art, notes of thanks from beneficiaries or staff, or pressed flowers. ENERGIZE, Inc.
- Become a "Certifying Organization" and nominate your qualifying volunteers for the President's Volunteer Service Awards.
- Give volunteers a little thank you package of goodies, including candies (possibly sugar-free), cookies, fudge, homemade bath salts, a candle, and tea bags.
- Collect favorite recipes from each volunteer and put them together into a booklet, and email each volunteer a Customized Cookbook. ENERGIZE, Inc.
- Ask local media to run a week-long series that recognizes a different volunteer for each day of National Volunteer Week. Points of Light Foundation
