

To apply for Adult Social Security Disability Application

Go to <https://secure.ssa.gov/apps6z/iClaim/dib>

Follow these 4 easy steps to apply for online

Step 1. Review the Adult Disability Checklist for details about what you will need before starting the online process. The Adult Disability Checklist is available at: <http://www.ssa.gov/hlp/radr/10/ovw001-checklist.htm>

Step 2. Fill out the online Disability Benefit Application to provide us with information regarding eligibility for payment. This online Application is located at: <https://secure.ssa.gov/apps6z/iClaim/dib>

Step 3. Fill out the online Adult Disability Report to provide us with medical and work history. The Adult Disability Report is located at: <https://secure.ssa.gov/apps6z/radr/radr-fe>

Step 4. Fill out, sign and mail or take the Authorization to Disclose Information to the Social Security Administration  to your local Social Security Office. To access the Authorization to Disclose Information to Social Security Administration is located at: <http://ssa.gov/online/ssa-827.pdf>

Additional resource:

Parkinson's Disease Work-Related Disability Assessment Form

PAN has learned that people with Parkinson's may have trouble receiving SSDI or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits due to inadequate documentation of symptoms in their medical record. The purpose of the form below is to ensure that information that may be relevant to how Parkinson's disease affects your ability to work is included in your medical record, particularly if you think you may apply for SSDI or SSI. This form may also be useful in tracking your disease progression and can be updated as your condition and symptoms change.

It is important to note that this form is designed to supplement your medical record. It is not an official SSA form and does not replace or change the Social Security application. This Assessment Form is available by going to: <http://www.parkinsonsaction.org/pdfform>