

How do I get my electronic I-94 card?

After your immigration inspection at the airport, your passport should have been stamped with an arrival stamp, and you should have been given an instruction sheet on how to obtain your I-94 document. The I-94 is a document which proves your legal entry into the U.S. in addition to the stamp in your passport. It is an important document. If you travelled to the U.S. in the past, then you may remember having a small paper I-94 card in your passport. As of May 2013, the I-94 is now issued electronically. There are two ways you can obtain a copy of your electronic I-94:

⇒ You may have seen kiosks at the airport. These are called Global Entry Kiosks and are available at select airports. If you obtain your electronic I-94 card at one of these kiosks, your I-94 will look similar to this:

15. First (Given) Name JOHN	16. Birth Date (Day/Mo/Yr) 10Apr78

Warning... A nonimmigrant who accepts unauthorized employment is subject to deportation.
Important... Retain this permit in your possession; you must surrender it when you leave the U.S. Failure to do so may delay your entry into the U.S. in the future.
You are authorized to stay in the U.S. only until the date written on this form.

Things to remember:

- ◆ Print your I-94 and keep it with your passport at all times. Each time you enter the U.S., you will get a new I-94. You should keep this information for your records. We suggest saving a copy electronically and printing your most recent record.
- ◆ Always check your I-94 to ensure that you were admitted to the US correctly—usually in F or J status. If you were admitted incorrectly, contact OIA immediately.
- ◆ If you cannot locate your electronic I-94 card, try reversing your name (entering your family name as your first and your first name as your family name), reversing the month and day of your birth, or adding/subtracting one day from your actual arrival date. If you are still unable to find your electronic I-94 record, contact OIA immediately.
