The returns in this report show past performance, which is no guarantee of future results. Returns and the principal value of your investment will fluctuate. The current yield more closely reflects current earnings than does the total return.

UNDERSTANDING YOUR CREF REPORT

This report contains information about the eight CREF accounts and describes the accounts' results for the six months ended on June 30, 2008. The report contains five main sections:

- The performance overview on the inside front cover shows the accounts' returns over a variety of time periods.
- The report to CREF participants from Edward Grzybowski, the chief investment officer of TIAA-CREF Investment Management, LLC, the accounts' investment adviser, explains how returns among various types of investments differed during the six-month period.
- The account performance section compares each account's investment returns with those of that account's benchmark index and Morningstar peer group.
- The summary portfolios of investments list the industries or types of securities in which each account had investments as of June 30, 2008, and the largest individual holdings the account held on that date.
- The financial statements provide detailed information about the operations and financial condition of each account.

As always, you should carefully consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of any account before investing. For a prospectus that contains this and other important information, please visit our website at www.tiaa-cref.org, or call 877 518-9161. We urge you to read the prospectus carefully before investing.

REPORT TO CREF PARTICIPANTS

√ lobal stock markets entered 12008 having completed five consecutive years of impressive gains. The MSCI World Index<sup>SM</sup>, which tracks stock performance in 23 developed nations, including the United States, posted an average annual return of 17% over that time—a cumulative rate of 119%.

However, stock prices started to drop in the second half of 2007, and that slide continued and intensified during the first half of 2008.

Investor sentiment changed because of concerns about the U.S. economy and about the rising price of oil—which climbed above $140 per barrel in June. In the second quarter of 2008, gross domestic product was estimated as growing at an annual rate of 1.9%—significantly below the nation's long-term growth rate.

For the first six months of 2008, the broad U.S. stock market, as measured by the Russell 3000® Index, lost 11.1%. Foreign stocks, as measured by the MSCI EAFE®+Canada Index, fell 9.8%, in dollars.

Bonds fared better than stocks; bond returns were positive for the six months. The Lehman Brothers U.S. Aggregate Index, which measures the broad U.S. investment-grade, fixed-rate bond market, returned just 1.1%—far below its historical norm for a six-month period.

Seven CREF accounts outperform their peers in a down market

When markets decline, the performance of an investment account in relation to its peers takes on even greater importance. During the first half of 2008, seven of the eight CREF accounts performed better than the average return of their peers, as defined by their respective Morningstar categories—or, in the case of the Money Market Account, better than the average U.S. money market fund.

In absolute terms, the best result came from the Inflation-Linked Bond Account, which earned 4.7% for the six-month period, slightly lagging its benchmark but topping the account's Morningstar category.

Despite the turmoil in the credit markets, the Bond Market Account remained in positive territory with a return of 0.4%—less than its benchmark's but more than a full percentage point ahead of its Morningstar category.

Among our accounts that invest exclusively in stocks, the Growth Account held up best. While it posted a 9.7% loss and trailed its benchmark, this account too outperformed its Morningstar peers.

The Stock Account's loss of 10.9% placed it slightly behind its composite benchmark but ahead of its Morningstar category.

The Global Equities Account declined 11%, lagging its benchmark but also outperforming its peers.

The Equity Index Account was the only stock account that trailed both its benchmark and its Morningstar category.

The Social Choice Account, which invests in both stocks and bonds. was helped by its fixed-income holdings. The account lost 5.9%—in line with its benchmark but ahead of its Morningstar peers.

The Money Market Account's 1.3% return was above the money market average, as measured by iMoneyNet.

During the six-month period, the CREF accounts incurred higher-than-anticipated expenses. This reflects expenses associated with improving transaction processing and service-related initiatives, which are now substantially completed, as well as declines in the global financial markets, which lowered the value of the accounts' assets, against which expenses are assessed. Please note that the accounts' expenses remain in the lowest quartile of their respective Morningstar categories.

Pursuing consistent growth in a difficult market

While no investment strategy can guarantee against loss, diversifying your assets can limit your losses when declines occur in one investment area or asset class but not in others. It can also help ensure that, when a given area does well, you will be able to share in its rewards.

That is why TIAA-CREF offers a range of savings and investment options that extends beyond stocks and bonds, including the TIAA Traditional Annuity, which celebrates its 90th anniversary this year, and the TIAA Real Estate Account.

Our goal is to give you options that can be combined to create a broadly diversified retirement strategy with the potential for consistent growth. Of course, the right mix depends on your financial needs, time horizon and attitude toward risk.

If you would like help finding the combination that's best for you, please visit our website or call us.

MORE INFORMATION FOR CREF PARTICIPANTS

Portfolio listings

Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) rules intended to provide investors with more meaningful information about account performance allow investment companies to list the top holdings of each account in their annual and semiannual reports instead of providing complete portfolio listings. The account files complete portfolio listings with the SEC, and they are available to participants.

You can obtain a complete list of CREF's holdings (called "CREF Statements of Investments") as of the most recently completed fiscal quarter (currently for the period ended June 30, 2008) in the following ways:

- · By visiting our website at www.tiaa-cref.org; or
- By calling us at 800 842-2776 to request a copy, which will be provided free of charge.

You can also obtain a complete list of CREF's holdings as of the most recently completed fiscal quarter, and for prior quarter-ends, from the SEC. (Form N-CSR lists holdings as of December 31 or June 30; Form N-Q lists holdings as of March 31 or September 30.) Copies of these forms are available:

- Through the Electronic Data Gathering and Retrieval System (EDGAR) on the SEC's website at www.sec.gov; or
- At the SEC's Public Reference Room. (Call 800 SEC-0330 for more information.)

Proxy voting

CREF's ownership of stock gives it the right to vote on proxy issues of companies in which it invests. A description of our proxy voting policies and procedures can be found on our website at www.tiaa-cref.org or on the SEC's website at www.sec.gov. You can also call us at 800 842-2776 to request a free copy. A report of how the accounts voted during the most recently completed twelve-month period ended June 30 can be found on our website or on Form N-PX at www.sec.gov.

Emerging markets are countries with relatively low per capita income levels and aboveaverage economic growth rates or prospects for growth.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT EXPENSES

As a participant in any of the CREF accounts, you incur only one of two potential types of costs.

- You incur no transaction costs, including sales charges (loads) on purchases, on reinvested dividends or on other distributions. There are also no redemption fees or exchange fees.
- However, you do incur ongoing costs, including investment advisory fees, administrative expenses, distribution (12b-1) fees, and mortality and expense risk charges.

The examples that appear on the performance pages are intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in U.S. dollars) of investing in each account. The examples are also designed to help you compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other variable annuity accounts and mutual funds.

The examples assume $1,000 was invested on January 1, 2008, and held for six months until June 30, 2008.

Actual expenses

The first line in each table uses the account's actual expenses and its actual rate of return. You may use the information in this line, together with the amount you invested at the beginning of the period, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the six-month period.

Simply divide your beginning accumulation by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the first line under the heading "Expenses paid" to estimate the expenses you paid during the six-month period.

Hypothetical example for comparison purposes

The second line in the table shows hypothetical account values and expenses based on the account's actual expense ratio for the six-month period and an assumed 5% per year rate of return before expenses. This was not the account's actual return.

This hypothetical example cannot be used to estimate the actual expenses you paid for the period, but rather allows you to compare the ongoing costs of investing in this account with the costs of other accounts. To do so, compare our 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of other accounts.

CREF STOCK ACCOUNT U.S. AND FOREIGN STOCKS

PERFORMANCE IN THE SIX MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2008

The CREF Stock Account returned -10.92% for the period, compared with the -10.77% return of its composite benchmark, a weighted average of the Russell 3000® Index, the MSCI EAFE®+Canada Index. the MSCI EAFE+Canada Small Cap Index and the MSCI Emerging Markets Index<sup>SM</sup>. The average return of the account's peers, as defined by the Morningstar Large Blend category, was -11.18%. The Morningstar category included 2,180 funds as of June 30, 2008.

Stocks tumble amid global volatility

Both U.S. and foreign stocks posted losses in the first six months of 2008. The Russell 3000 Index, which measures the broad U.S. stock market, fell 11.05%, and the MSCI EAFE+Canada Index, which measures stocks in 22 developed foreign nations, lost 9.76% in U.S. dollars.

The dollar's continued fall against the euro and pound cushioned foreign stock losses for U.S. investors, particularly in the first quarter of 2008. For the period, the dollar's relative weakness trimmed the 13.97% drop of the EAFE+Canada index in local terms, to a loss of 9.76% in dollars.

The MSCI Emerging Markets Index, which tracks stocks in 25 emerging markets, fell 11.76% in dollars during the period.

Stock choices yield mixed results

The account's negative return was generally in line with that of the broad U.S. stock market, but slightly larger than the loss posted by foreign markets. The account trailed its composite benchmark, reflecting mixed results from stock selections.

Among the primary detractors from the account's return were largerthan-benchmark weightings in drugmaker Merck, Italian car maker Fiat and investment bank Bear Stearns. The account was also hampered by underweight positions in ExxonMobil, Chevron and ArcelorMittal, a steel producer based in Luxembourg.

These negative effects were partly offset by successful positions that included overweights in French steel pipe producer Vallourec and in three U.S. energy companies: XTO Energy, Occidental Petroleum and Denbury Resources. Underweights in Bank of America and insurer American International Group also helped.

The account's annualized expense ratio for the period was 0.66%, an increase from the 0.52% expense ratio for the year ended December 31, 2007. This reflects investments in servicerelated initiatives, now substantially completed, and declines in the global financial markets, which lowered the value of the account's assets, against which expenses are assessed.

$10,000 OVER 10 YEARS

An investment of $10,000 in this account on July 1, 1998, would have grown to $14,680 over the next 10 years, including reinvestment of dividends and distributions. For the purpose of comparison, the graph also shows the change in the values of the two main components of the account's composite benchmark and its peer group during the same period.

CREF GLOBAL EQUITIES ACCOUNT FOREIGN AND U.S. STOCKS

PERFORMANCE IN THE SIX MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2008

The CREF Global Equities Account returned -11.01% for the period, compared with the -10.57% return of its benchmark, the MSCI World Index<sup>SM</sup>, and the -11.11% average return of its peers, as defined by the Morningstar World Stock category, which included 638 funds as of June 30, 2008.

Global stocks post double-digit loss

After climbing 9.04% in 2007, global stocks gave back all of that gain and more in the first half of 2008. Soaring energy and commodity prices, along with concerns about economic growth, drove stocks lower.

The dollar's falling value against the euro and pound cushioned foreign stock losses for U.S. investors. For the period, the MSCI World Index fell 12.81% in terms of local currencies, versus 10.57% in dollars.

European stocks lose the most

During the period, the benchmark's European segment dropped 12.4% in dollar terms. The three largest components of the European segment—British, French and German stocks—fell 11.2%, 12.0% and 13.9%, respectively. In the Pacific segment, Japanese stocks lost 5.5%, while other Pacific stocks declined 11.7%. North American stocks, representing more than half of the benchmark's market capitalization at the end of the period, fell 10.2%.

Stock selections limit return

The global market downturn made it difficult for the account's managers to add value through individual stock selections. Among the detractors were larger-than-benchmark weightings in drugmaker Merck, Dutch chemical company Akzo Nobel and Germany's Deutsche Post. Underweights that hurt performance included Australian mining company BHP Billiton; ArcelorMittal, a steel producer based in Luxembourg; and Chevron.

Negative results like these more than offset the positive effects of other stocks, including overweights in two British companies—food service giant Compass Group and mining company Anglo American—and in French steel pipe producer Vallourec. A nonbenchmark holding in Russian fertilizer company Uralkali also helped. Favorable underweights included Bank of America and insurer American International Group.

The account's annualized expense ratio for the period was 0.70%, an increase from the 0.56% expense ratio for the year ended December 31, 2007. This reflects investments in servicerelated initiatives, now substantially completed, and declines in the global financial markets, which lowered the value of the account's assets, against which expenses are assessed.

CREF GROWTH ACCOUNT LARGE-CAP GROWTH STOCKS

PERFORMANCE IN THE SIX MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2008

The CREF Growth Account returned -9.67% for the period, compared with the -9.06% return of its benchmark, the Russell 1000® Growth Index, and the -10.38% average return of its peers, as defined by the Morningstar Large Growth category, which included 1,875 funds as of June 30, 2008.

Large-cap growth fares better than large-cap value

For the period, large-cap growth stocks held up better than large-cap value issues, which lost 13.57%, as measured by the Russell 1000 Value Index. For the twelve months ended June 30, 2008, large-cap growth stocks fell 5.96%—far less than the 18.78% decline of large-cap value stocks.

For the ten years ended June 30, however, the Russell 1000 Growth Index posted an average annual return of 0.96%, versus 4.91% for the Russell 1000 Value Index.

Most benchmark sectors decline

Ten of the benchmark's twelve industry sectors had negative returns, and seven posted doubledigit losses. The two largest sectors—technology (down 12.3%) and consumer discretionary (down 12.2%)—were among the biggest detractors from performance. Together these sectors made up almost 40% of the benchmark's market capitalization at the end of June.

Stock selections trim returns

The account declined more than its benchmark largely because of overweight holdings that underperformed, including Hologic, a maker of medical imaging systems, drugmaker Merck and International Game Technology. A nonbenchmark position in Renewable Energy, a Norwegian solar energy company, also hurt performance.

The negative effects of such holdings were partially mitigated by several successful overweights, including agricultural giant Monsanto and energy provider Denbury Resources. Underweights in UnitedHealth Group and Microsoft also helped.

On June 30, 2008, foreign securities made up 5.29% of the account's total portfolio investments. Many of these securities were held as American Depositary Receipts, which are receipts for shares of a foreign stock traded on a U.S. exchange.

The account's annualized expense ratio for the period was 0.74%, an increase from the 0.55% expense ratio for the year ended December 31, 2007. This reflects investments in servicerelated initiatives, now substantially completed, and declines in the global financial markets, which lowered the value of the account's assets, against which expenses are assessed.

Broad market slump intensifies

After declining 1.84% in the second half of 2007, U.S. stocks, as measured by the Russell 3000 Index, posted a double-digit loss for the first half of 2008. The index fell 9.52% in the year's first quarter on investor concerns about deteriorating conditions in the credit markets and soaring energy prices. Stocks rebounded in April and May, but June's 8.25% decline was the largest monthly loss for U.S. stocks since September 2002.

For the six months, growth lost less than value, and mid caps (down 7.57%) held up better than both large caps (down 11.20%) and small caps (down 9.37%).

Domestic equities were largely in line with foreign stocks, which fell 10.96% in dollar terms, as measured by the MSCI EAFE® Index. For the ten years ended June 30, 2008, the average annual return of the Russell 3000 Index was 3.51%, versus 5.83% for the EAFE.

Only energy sectors are spared

For the period, ten of the benchmark's twelve industry sectors retreated, with seven posting double-digit losses. The three largest sectors—financials, technology and consumer discretionary—fell 26.1%, 12.7% and 12.4%, respectively. Only the "other energy" and integrated oils sectors advanced, gaining 24.8% and 1.8%, respectively.

Largest stocks generally fare poorly

In descending order according to capitalization size, the five largest stocks in the benchmark performed as follows: ExxonMobil, -6.4%; General Electric, -26.9%; Microsoft, -23.2%; Chevron, 5.8%; and AT&T. -18.7%.

For the period, the account's return, minus the effects of expenses and of some cash holdings for liquidity, was similar to that of its benchmark. The account had a risk profile similar to that of its benchmark.

The account's annualized expense ratio for the period was 0.61%, an increase from the 0.47% expense ratio for the year ended December 31, 2007. This reflects investments in servicerelated initiatives, now substantially completed, and declines in the global financial markets, which lowered the value of the account's assets, against which expenses are assessed.

CREF BOND MARKET ACCOUNT INTERMEDIATE-TERM BONDS

PERFORMANCE IN THE SIX MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2008

The CREF Bond Market Account returned 0.36% for the period, compared with the 1.13% gain of its benchmark, the Lehman Brothers U.S. Aggregate Index, and the -0.73% average return of its peers, as defined by the Morningstar Intermediate-Term Bond category, which included 1.163 funds as of June 30, 2008.

Bonds weather second-quarter loss

For the period, the Federal Reserve cut the federal funds rate (the interest rate U.S. commercial banks charge one another for overnight loans) four times, lowering it from 4.25% at the beginning of the year to 2.00%. The Fed's actions were part of a larger effort to stimulate the economy and stabilize the financial markets.

The Lehman Brothers U.S. Aggregate Index, which measures the broad U.S. investment-grade, fixed-rate bond market, endured a bumpy ride; it rose 2.17% in the first quarter, but lost 1.02% in the second.

A short-lived rally in stocks set off a rally in corporate bonds and asset-backed securities in April and May, but in June investors resumed their recent preference for U.S. Treasuries because of their higher credit quality and greater liquidity. Treasuries were the best-performing component of the Lehman index during the period, returning 2.23%.

Treasury yields fall

As investor demand for Treasuries rose, the price of Treasury bonds climbed, sending yields lower. The 2-year Treasury yield declined from 3.05% at the beginning of January to 2.63% at the end of the second quarter. Meanwhile, the 10-year Treasury vield remained relatively flat-moving down from 4.04% to 3.99% at the end of the period.

Sector allocations limit returns

The account trailed its benchmark primarily because of an underweight in U.S. Treasuries and an overweight in asset-backed securities, whose returns lagged those of government securities. Reduced liquidity in the mortgage-backed sector also hurt.

Although thousands of downgrades were reported in the assetbacked sector during the period, the account's asset-backed holdings experienced very few of them, and the underlying assets in those securities performed well.

The account's annualized expense ratio for the period was 0.62%, an increase from the 0.51% expense ratio for the year ended December 31, 2007. This reflects investments in servicerelated initiatives, now substantially completed, and declines in the global financial markets, which lowered the value of the account's assets, against which expenses are assessed.

CREF INFLATION-LINKED BOND ACCOUNT INFLATIONAL INKED BONDS

PERFORMANCE IN THE SIX MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2008

The CREF Inflation-Linked Bond Account returned 4.72% for the period, compared with the 4.88% gain of its benchmark, the Lehman Brothers U.S. Treasury Inflation-Protected Securities (TIPS) Index, and the 4.13% average return of its peers, as defined by the Morningstar Inflation-Protected Bond category, which included 162 funds as of June 30, 2008.

The Fed reduces short-term rates

In the first half of 2008, the Federal Reserve lowered the federal funds rate four times. (The federal funds rate is the interest rate commercial. U.S. banks charge one another for overnight loans.) At the end of the period, the rate stood at 2.00%—its lowest level since November 2004.

The Fed took these actions to address continuing difficulties in the subprime lending and housing markets and to stabilize the financial markets. At the same time, inflation accelerated. Consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 5.5% during the period, up from 4.1% for all of 2007. Against this inflation backdrop, the Fed refrained from lowering rates further.

TIPS top the broader bond market

TIPS produced positive inflationadjusted returns during the period one of the few asset groups to do so. The broader bond market, as measured by the Lehman Brothers

U.S. Aggregate Index returned just 1.13%, failing to keep pace with inflation.

TIPS gained 5.18% in the first quarter of 2008, amid expectations that lowered interest rates would increase inflation. However, the Fed kept rates steady after April, and TIPS posted a 0.28% second-quarter loss.

The account leads peers, lags index

The account's six-month return was superior to the average return of similar inflation-linked bond funds but slightly lower than that of its benchmark. The account's return includes a deduction for expenses, while the benchmark's return does not.

During the period, the account's managers kept its maturity allocation and its overall duration—a measure of sensitivity to interest-rate changes-close to those of the benchmark to help the account more closely track its benchmark's performance.

The account's annualized expense ratio for the period was 0.57%, an increase from the 0.50% expense ratio for the year ended December 31, 2007. This reflects investments in servicerelated initiatives, now substantially completed, and declines in the global financial markets, which lowered the value of the account's assets, against which expenses are assessed.

CREF SOCIAL CHOICE ACCOUNT SOCIALLY SCREENED STOCKS AND BONDS

PERFORMANCE IN THE SIX MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2008

The CREF Social Choice Account returned -5.91% for the period, compared with the -5.96% return of its composite benchmark, a weighted average of the Russell 3000® Index, the MSCI EAFE®+Canada Index and the Lehman Brothers U.S. Aggregate Index.

The average return of the account's peers, as defined by the Morningstar Moderate Allocation category, was -7.02%. The Morningstar category included 1,216 funds as of June 30, 2008. Neither the benchmark nor the Morningstar category screens investments according to social criteria, as the account does.

Exclusion of major stocks lifts return

Because of its social screens, the account did not invest in several stocks that were included in the Russell 3000 Index. The net effect of these exclusions was to increase the account's return relative to that of its composite benchmark.

The avoidance of three major financial companies helped the most: Lehman Brothers (down 68.8%), American International Group (down 53.6%) and Citigroup (down 40.6%). Avoiding General Electric also aided returns.

These positive contributions were partly offset by the exclusion of Chevron, ExxonMobil, ConocoPhillips and Wal-Mart.

Strategies help limit risk

Because of the exclusion of some stocks in the Russell 3000, the account's managers use statistical techniques to help ensure that the account's risk characteristics resemble those of the index.

One method is to overweight or underweight certain stocks versus the index. Overweight positions that helped included three energy companies: Apache, Devon Energy and EOG Resources. Overweights that hurt included WellPoint and Merck.

Bonds boost account's return

During the period, the account's fixed-income component generated a higher return than its equity counterpart, reflecting the general outperformance of bonds versus stocks. In relative terms, the bond segment slightly lagged the Lehman index, primarily because of an underweight in U.S. Treasuries, the top-performing sector in the index.

The account's annualized expense ratio for the period was 0.62%, an increase from the 0.48% expense ratio for the year ended December 31, 2007. This reflects investments in servicerelated initiatives, now substantially completed, and declines in the global financial markets, which lowered the value of the account's assets, against which expenses are assessed.

CREF MONEY MARKET ACCOUNT CASH EQUIVALENTS

PERFORMANCE IN THE SIX MONTHS ENDED JUNE 30, 2008

The CREF Money Market Account returned 1.34% for the period, compared with the 1.27% gain of the iMoneyNet Money Fund Report Averages™—All Taxable, a simple average of over 1,000 taxable money market funds.

The Fed brings rates down

While economic growth was subdued during the first part of 2008, soaring oil and commodity prices rekindled inflation concerns. But continued problems in the credit and housing markets made it unlikely that the Fed would seek to reduce inflationary pressure by raising short-term rates.

In fact, in the first half of 2008, the Federal Reserve lowered the federal funds rate four times. (The federal funds rate is the interest rate U.S. commercial banks charge one another for overnight loans.) The rate stood at 2.00% on June 30, 2008.

LIBOR declines in the first half

LIBOR fell during the period in response to the Fed's reduction in short-term rates and in anticipation that rates would remain low. (LIBOR. a measure of the interest rate that banks charge one another for loans in the London market, is the most widely used benchmark for short-term rates.)

LIBOR for one-month deposits dropped from 4.60% on December 31, 2007, to 2.46% at the end of the period; for twelve-month deposits, LIBOR fell from 4.22% to 3.31%.

The account stays the course

The account maintained its investments in longer-maturity securities to benefit from their higher yields. On June 24, 2008, the account's weighted average maturity was 55 days, versus 45 days for the average iMoneyNet fund.

At the end of the period, 48.6% of the account's portfolio was invested in commercial paper, down from 51.3% six months earlier. (Commercial paper can offer higher returns without significant additional risk.) U.S. agency securities remained at 33.2% of the portfolio, while certificates of deposit rose from 11.3% to 16.1%. The rest of the portfolio included floating-rate securities, banker's acceptances, bank notes and asset-backed securities.

On June 30, 2008, foreign securities made up 16.59% of the account's total portfolio investments.

The account's annualized expense ratio for the period was 0.56%, an increase from the 0.45% expense ratio for the year ended December 31, 2007. This reflects investments in servicerelated initiatives, now substantially completed, and declines in the global financial markets, which lowered the value of the account's assets, against which expenses are assessed.

COLLEGE RETIREMENT EQUITIES FUND

Note 1—significant accounting policies

The purpose of the College Retirement Equities Fund ("CREF"), as stated in its charter, is to aid and strengthen non-profit educational and research organizations, governmental entities and other non-profit institutions by providing its employees with variable retirement benefits. CREF is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end management investment company. It consists of eight investment portfolios: the Stock, Global Equities, Growth, Equity Index, Bond Market, Inflation-Linked Bond, Social Choice and Money Market Accounts (individually referred to as the "Account" or collectively referred to as the "Accounts"). The Stock Account commenced operations on July 1, 1952; the Global Equities and Equity Index Accounts commenced operations on April 1, 1992; the Growth Account commenced operations on April 4, 1994; the Social Choice and Bond Market Accounts commenced operations on March 1, 1990; the Inflation-Linked Bond Account commenced operations on January 13, 1997; and the Money Market Account commenced operations on April 1, 1988. The financial statements were prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), which may require the use of estimates made by management. Actual results may vary from those estimates. The following is a summary of the significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Accounts.

Valuation of investments: Equity securities listed or traded on a national market or exchange are valued based on their sale price on such market or exchange at the close of business on the date of valuation, or at the mean of closing bid and asked prices if no sale is reported. Debt securities will generally be valued using prices provided by a pricing service which may employ various indications of value including but not limited to broker-dealer quotations. Certain debt securities, other than money market instruments, are valued based on the most recent bid price, or the equivalent quoted yield for such securities (or those of comparable maturity, quality and type). Money market instruments (other than those in the Money Market Account), with maturities of one year or less, are valued in the same manner as debt securities or derived from a pricing matrix that has various types of money market instruments along one axis and various maturities along the other. Money market instruments in the Money Market Account with a remaining maturity of 60 days or less are valued on an amortized cost basis, or at market value if market value is materially different from amortized cost. Investments in registered investment companies are valued at their net asset value on the valuation date. Foreign investments are valued at the closing values of such securities as of the date of valuation under the generally accepted valuation method in the country where traded, converted to U.S. dollars at the prevailing rates of exchange on the date of valuation. If events materially affecting the value of foreign securities occur between the time when the exchange on which they are traded closes and the time when the Account's net assets are calculated, such securities may be valued at fair value in accordance with procedures adopted by the Board of Trustees. Stock and bond index futures and options, which are traded commodities exchange, are valued at the last sales price as of the close of such commodities exchanges.

Portfolio securities for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value, as determined in good faith under the direction of the Board of Trustees.

Accumulation and Annuity Fund: The Accumulation Fund represents the net assets attributable to participants in the accumulation phase of their investment. The Annuity Fund represents the net assets attributable to the participants currently receiving annuity payments. The net increase or decrease in net assets from investment operations is apportioned between the funds based upon their relative daily net asset values. Annuitants bear the mortality risk under their contracts.

Accounting for investments and Investment Income: Securities transactions are accounted for as of the trade date. Interest income is recorded as earned and includes accretion of discounts and amortization of premiums using the effective yield method. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date or, for certain foreign securities, as soon thereafter as the Accounts are informed of the ex-dividend date. Realized gains and losses on security transactions are based on the identified cost basis.

Distributions received from Real Estate Investment Trusts ("REITs") are recorded on ex-dividend date. Each REIT reports annually the tax character of its distributions. Dividend income, realized gains and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) reflect the amounts of taxable income, capital gain and return of capital reported by each REIT, and management's estimates of such amounts for REIT distributions for which actual information has not been reported.

Foreign taxes: The Accounts may be subject to foreign taxes on income, gains on investments or currency repatriation, a portion of which may be recoverable. The Accounts will accrue such taxes and recoveries as applicable, based upon the current interpretation of tax rules and regulations that exist in the markets in which the current Accounts invest.

Mortgage dollar roll transactions: The Accounts may enter into mortgage dollar rolls in which the Accounts sell mortgage-backed securities for delivery and contracts to repurchase substantially similar (same type, coupon, and maturity) securities on a specified future date. During the roll period, the Account forgoes principal and interest paid on the securities. The Accounts' policy is to record the dollar rolls using "to be announced" mortgage-backed securities as purchase and sale transactions. Any difference between the purchase and sale price is recorded as a realized gain or loss on the trade date of the sale transaction. At the time an Account enters into such transactions, it is required to have segregated assets with a current value at least equal to the amount of its dollar rolls commitments. In addition, the Accounts may receive compensation that is recorded as deferred income and amortized to income over the roll period. The counterparty receives all principal and interest payments, including prepayments, made in respect of a security subject to such a contract while it is the holder. Dollar rolls may be renewed with a new purchase and repurchase price and a cash settlement made on settlement date without physical delivery of the securities subject to the contract. The Accounts engage in dollar rolls for the purpose of enhancing their yields.

Cash: The Accounts may hold cash in their accounts with the custodian. The Accounts, throughout the period, may have a cash overdraft balance. A fee is incurred on this overdraft.

Repurchase agreements: The Accounts may enter into repurchase agreements with qualified institutions. Repurchase agreements involve the purchase of securities from an institution, subject to the seller's agreement to repurchase and the Account's agreement to resell such securities at a mutually-agreed upon price. Pursuant to the terms of the repurchase agreement, securities purchased subject to repurchase agreements must have an aggregate market value greater than or equal to the agreed-upon repurchase price plus accrued interest at all times. If the value of the underlying securities falls below the value of the repurchase price plus accrued interest, the Accounts will require the seller to deposit additional collateral by the next business day. If a request for additional collateral is not met, or if the seller defaults on its repurchase obligation, the Accounts maintain the right to sell the underlying securities at market value and pursue a claim for any remaining loss against the seller.

Foreign currency transactions and translation: Portfolio investments and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars at the exchange rates prevailing at the end of the period. Purchases and sales of securities, income receipts and expense payments made in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollars at the exchange rates prevailing on the respective dates of the transactions. The effects of changes in foreign currency exchange rates on portfolio investments are included in the net realized and unrealized gains and losses on investments. Net realized gains and losses on foreign currency transactions include maturities of forward foreign currency contracts, disposition of foreign currencies, and currency gains and losses between the accrual and receipt dates of portfolio investment income and between the trade and settlement dates of portfolio investment transactions.

Forward foreign currency contracts: The Accounts may use forward foreign currency contracts to facilitate transactions in securities denominated in foreign currencies. Such contracts are entered into directly with a counterparty and are "marked-tomarket" at the end of each day's trading. The Accounts are also exposed to credit risk associated with counterparty nonperformance on these forward foreign currency contracts which is typically limited to the unrealized gain on each open contract.

Forward foreign currency contracts will be used primarily to protect the Accounts from adverse currency movements and will generally not be entered into for terms greater than one year. The use of forward foreign currency contracts involves the risk that anticipated currency movements will not be accurately predicted. A forward foreign currency contract would limit the risk of loss due to a decline in the value of a particular currency; however, it also would limit any potential gain that might result should the value of the currency increase instead of decrease. These contracts may involve market risk in excess of the unrealized gain or loss reflected in the Statements of assets and liabilities. There were no open forward foreign currency contracts for the period ended June 30, 2008.

Securities lending: The Accounts may lend portfolio securities to qualified financial institutions and brokers. By lending such securities, the Accounts attempts to increase its net investment income through the receipt of interest (after rebates and fees) on collateral. Such income is reflected separately on the Statement of Operations. Under the lending arrangement with State Street Bank & Trust Company ("State Street"), each Account receives a fee. The Stock and Global Equities Account (international lending only) are guaranteed a fee regardless of their securities lending activity. The other Accounts, (excluding the Money Market Account), will receive a specified percentage of the securities lending income generated by State Street. The value of the loaned securities and the liability related to return the cash collateral received are reflected on the Statements of Assets and Liabilities.

These loans are secured by collateral equal to 102% of the market value of the securities loaned for U.S. securities and 105% of the market value of securities loaned for foreign securities. The cash collateral for the Stock and Global Equity Accounts (domestic securities only) is invested in the Stock Separate Collateral Account and the Global Separate Collateral Account, respectively, which are both managed by State Street. The Growth, Equity Index, Bond Market, Inflation-Linked Bond, and Social Choice (fixed income securities only) Accounts are invested in the State Street Navigator Securities Lending Portfolio. The cash collateral for the Stock and Global Equities Accounts (international securities) along with the Social Choice Account (equities only) is invested in short term instruments by TIAA-CREF Investment Management, LLC.

Futures contracts: The Accounts may use futures contracts to manage exposure to the equity markets or for cash management purposes to remain highly invested in the equity markets while minimizing transaction costs. Buying futures contracts tends to increase exposure to the underlying instrument/index, while selling futures contracts tends to decrease exposure to the underlying instrument/index or hedge other investments. Initial margin deposits are made upon entering into a futures contract and variation margin payments are made or received reflecting changes in the value of the futures contracts. Futures contracts are valued at the last sales price as of the close of the board of trade or exchange on which they are traded. Daily changes in the value of such contracts are reflected in net unrealized gains and losses. Gains or losses are realized upon the expiration or closing of the futures contracts, or if the counterparties do not perform in accordance with contractual provisions.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (UNAUDITED)

Risks of investments in futures contracts include the possible adverse movement of the securities or indices underlying the contracts, the possibility that there may not be a liquid secondary market for the contracts, that a change in the value of the contract may not correlate with a change in the value of the underlying securities, or that the counterparty to a contract may default on its obligation to perform.

Securities purchased on a when-issued or delayed-delivery basis: The Accounts may purchase securities on a when-issued or delayed-delivery basis. Securities purchased or sold on a when-issued or delayed-delivery basis may be settled a month or more after trade date: interest income is not accrued until settlement date. At the time an Account enters into such transactions, it is required to have segregated assets with a current value at least equal to the amount of its whenissued or delayed-delivery purchase commitments. Credit risks exist on these commitments to the extent of any unrealized gains on the underlying securities purchased and any unrealized losses on the underlying securities sold. Market risk exists on these commitments to the same extent as if the securities were owned on a settled basis and gains and losses are recorded and reported in the same manner. In addition to the normal credit and market risks, transactions with delayed settlement dates may expose the Accounts to greater risk that such transactions may not be consummated.

Treasury Inflation-Indexed Securities: The Social Choice Account, Bond Market Account and Inflation-Linked Bond Account may invest in Treasury Inflation-Indexed Securities ("TIIS"), which are specially structured bonds in which the principal amount is adjusted periodically for inflation, as measured by the U.S. Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers ("CPI-U"). The adjustments for interest income due to inflation are reflected in the interest income on the Statements of operations.

Restricted securities: Restricted securities held by the Accounts, if any, may not be sold except in exempt transactions or in a public offering registered under the Securities Act of 1933. The risk of investing in such securities is generally greater than the risk of investing in securities which are widely held and publicly traded.

Federal income taxes: CREF is taxed as a life insurance company under Subchapter L of the Internal Revenue Code. CREF should incur no material federal income tax liability. Under the rules of taxation applicable to life insurance companies, CREF's Accumulation and Annuity Funds for participants will generally be treated as life insurance reserves; therefore, any increase in such reserves will be deductible.

Transactions with affiliates: The Accounts may purchase or sell investment securities in transactions with affiliated entities under procedures adopted by the Board of Trustees, pursuant to the Investment Company Act of 1940. These transactions are effected at market rates without incurring broker commissions.

Indemnification: In the normal course of business, each Account enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties and which provide general indemnities. An Account's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims against the Account that have not yet occurred. Also, under the Accounts' Trust organizational documents, the Trustees and Officers of CREF are indemnified against certain liabilities that may arise out of their duties to CREF. However, based on experience, the Accounts expect the risk of loss due to these warranties and indemnities to be remote.

Fair value measurement: In September 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Statement of Account Standards No. 157, "Fair Value Measurement" ("SFAS 157"). SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measure fair value under U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") and expands disclosure about fair value measurements. SFAS 157 is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007. Application of SFAS 157 is effective for the Accounts reporting as of June 30, 2008.

Various inputs are used in determining the value of the Accounts' investments. These inputs are summarized in the three broad levels below:

- Level 1 quoted prices in active markets for identical securities
- Level 2 other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, credit risk, etc.)
- Level 3 significant unobservable inputs (including the Accounts' own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments)

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities. The following is a summary of the inputs used to value the Accounts as of June 30, 2008:

Note 2—management agreements

Investment advisory services for the Accounts are provided by TIAA-CREF Investment Management, LLC ("Investment Management") in accordance with an Investment Management Service Agreement. Investment Management is a registered investment adviser and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association of America ("TIAA"), a companion organization of CREE Administrative services and distribution functions, pursuant to a 12b-1 plan, for the CREF Accounts are provided by TIAA-CREF Individual & Institutional Services, LLC ("Services") in accordance with a Principal Underwriting and Administrative Services Agreement with CREF. Services, a wholly-owned subsidiary of TIAA, is a registered broker-dealer and member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA").

The services provided by Investment Management and Services are provided at cost. Investment Management and Services receive fee payments from the CREF Accounts on a daily basis according to formulas established each year with the objective of keeping the estimated expenses as close as possible to each Account's actual expenses. Any differences between actual expenses and the estimated expenses remitted are adjusted quarterly.

The Trustees of the Accounts, all of whom are independent, receive remuneration for their services, plus travel and other expenses incurred in attending Board meetings. Trustees may elect to participate in a deferred compensation plan and defer all or a portion of their compensation. In addition, trustees also participate in a long-term compensation plan. Amounts deferred may be invested notionally in certain TIAA-CREF products selected by the trustees.

TIAA deducts a mortality and expense charge from CREF in an amount equal to 0.005% on an annual basis of the net assets of each Account pursuant to an Immediate Annuity Purchase Rate Guarantee Agreement. Under the terms of this agreement, TIAA guarantees that CREF participants transferring funds to TIAA for the immediate purchase of lifetime payout annuities will not be charged more than the rate stipulated in the CREF contract. There were no payments made by TIAA under this agreement for the six months ended June 30, 2008.

Note 4—line of credit

Each of the Accounts, except the Bond Market and Money Market Accounts, participate in a $1.25 billion unsecured revolving credit facility to be used for temporary purposes, including the funding of participant withdrawals. Certain affiliated accounts and mutual funds, each of which is managed by Investment Management, or an affiliate of Investment Management, also participate in this facility. An annual commitment fee for the credit facility is borne by the participating Account. Interest associated with any borrowing under the facility is charged to the Accounts at rates which are based on the Federal Funds Rate in effect during the time of the borrowing. The Accounts are not liable for borrowings under the facility by affiliated accounts or mutual funds. For the six months ended June 30, 2008, there were no borrowings under this credit facility by the Accounts.

Note 5—new accounting pronouncement

In March 2008, FASB issued Statement of Accounting Standards No. 161, "Disclosures about Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities—an amendment of FASB Statement No. 133" ("SFAS 161"). SFAS 161 requires enhanced disclosures about an account's derivative and hedging activities thereby improving the transparency of the financial reporting. SFAS 161 is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years and interim periods beginning after November 15, 2008. Management is currently evaluating the impact the adoption of SFAS 161 will have on the financial statements.

BOARD APPROVAL OF INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT AGREEMENT

The Board of Trustees of CREF (the "Board" or the "Trustees") is responsible for overseeing CREF's corporate policies and for adhering to fiduciary standards under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "1940 Act"), and other applicable laws. Among its duties, the Board is responsible for determining annually whether to renew the investment management agreement (the "Agreement") between each CREF Account and TIAA-CREF Investment Management, LLC ("TCIM"). Under the Agreement, TCIM is responsible for providing investment management services for each Account.

Most investment companies that are registered under the 1940 Act enter into investment management agreements that are subject to Section 15(c) of the 1940 Act. This provision provides in part that, after an initial period, an investment advisory agreement with a registered investment company will remain in effect only if its board of directors or trustees annually renews that agreement. CREF's Agreement with TCIM is not subject to this requirement due to its unique "at cost" structure under which TCIM provides services to CREF on an at-cost basis. Nevertheless, the Board determined that it would conduct an annual review of the Agreement, as described below, in a manner generally consistent with relevant 1940 Act requirements.

OVERVIEW OF THE RENEWAL PROCESS

The Board held a meeting on April 2, 2008, at which it considered the annual renewal of the Agreement using its previously-established process. As part of that process, the Board delegated certain duties to its Operations Committee. Among these duties, the Operations Committee works with management and legal counsel to the Trustees to develop additional guidelines and specific requests relating to the types of information to be provided to the Committee and to all Trustees in connection with the proposed contract renewals, and then to help evaluate the information provided in response to those guidelines. During a series of meetings held prior to April 2, 2008, the Operations Committee reviewed such guidelines and requests in consultation with management representatives and input from other Trustees and legal counsel to the Trustees and legal counsel to management, and then evaluated the information produced in accordance with those guidelines.

During these meetings, the Operations Committee also reviewed the type of costs reimbursable under the Agreement for services provided by TCIM pursuant to the Agreement. The Committee requested on behalf of the Board, and management provided, assurance that the costs charged to the Accounts for the most recent fiscal year were of the types for which reimbursement is authorized under the Agreement.

Among other matters, the Operations Committee reviewed guidelines it had developed regarding reports to be provided to all Trustees with respect to each Account by the Global Fiduciary Review unit of Lipper, Inc. ("Lipper"). Lipper is an independent provider of investment company data that is widely recognized as a leading source of independent data used by independent directors and trustees of investment companies during their annual advisory contract renewal processes.

As a result of instructions by the Operations Committee on behalf of the Board, Lipper produced, among other information, extensive performance and expense comparison data regarding each Account, including data relating to each Account's management costs, total expense ratios, short-term and long-term investment performance and, as applicable, brokerage commission costs and portfolio turnover rates. Lipper also compared much of this data for each Account against a universe of investment companies and against a more selective peer group of mutual funds underlying variable insurance products with similar investment objectives and strategies and, in the case of the investment performance data, against one or more appropriate broad-based benchmark indices. In each case, Lipper summarized the methodologies employed by it to provide the data contained in its reports. In addition, Lipper represented to the Board that its reports were designed specifically to provide the Board with the cost, expense and performance information that is necessary to help the Board comply with standards established by Section 15 of the 1940 Act.

In advance of the Board meeting held on April 2, 2008, independent legal counsel for the Trustees requested on behalf of the Board, and TCIM provided, extensive information that was designed to assist the Board in its consideration of whether to renew the Agreement for each Account. In addition to the data provided by Lipper as described above, this information included, but was not limited to, the following: (1) further information relating to each Account's investment performance, including performance ratings provided by Morningstar, Inc. ("Morningstar"), which is a widely recognized mutual fund ranking service, and a narrative analysis of each Account's performance relative to its applicable benchmarks and peer groups, together with an explanation of any special events that had a material impact on performance during the prior year; (2) a comparison of each Account's costs under the Agreement as compared to any other comparable accounts managed by TCIM or its affiliates, if any; (3) any "fall-out" benefits that accrued to TCIM or its affiliates due to their relationship with the Accounts aside from TCIM's direct fee payments pursuant to the Agreement; (4) information regarding TCIM's financial resources, senior professional personnel, overall staffing levels, portfolio manager compensation arrangements, disaster recovery plans, insurance coverage, compliance programs, any material pending litigation or compliance issues, portfolio trading and best execution practices, and any actual and potential conflicts of interest confronted by TCIM in connection with rendering services to the Accounts; (5) a copy of the Agreement and certain related service agreements between the Accounts and affiliates of TCIM; (6) a copy of TCIM's SEC Form ADV registration statement (which was presented to the Trustees' counsel only); and (7) proposed narrative explanations of reasons why the Board should renew the Agreement for each Account.

In considering whether to renew the Agreement for each Account, the Board, with assistance from its Operations Committee, reviewed various factors with respect to each Account, including: (1) the nature, extent and quality of services provided by TCIM to each Account; (2) the investment performance of each Account; (3) the costs of the services provided to each Account by TCIM and its affiliates; (4) comparisons of services and fees with contracts entered into by TCIM with other clients, if any; and (5) any other benefits derived or anticipated to be derived by TCIM or its affiliates from their relationship with CREF. As a general matter, the Trustees viewed these factors in their totality, with no single factor being the principal factor in determining whether to renew the Agreement for each Account.

In reaching its decisions regarding the renewal of each Fund's Agreement, the Board took into account the information described above, other information provided to the Board in connection with this process, and relevant information provided to the Board and to its Committees on an ongoing basis in connection with the Board's general oversight duties with respect to CREF. In addition, the Board received and considered information from Kirkpatrick & Lockhart Preston Gates Ellis LLP, its independent legal counsel, as to certain relevant guidelines that relate to the renewal process under Section 15(c) of the 1940 Act and certain other legal authorities.

While the Board considered the Agreement for each Account at the same meeting on April 2, 2008, the Board received and considered Account-specific information on an Account-by-Account basis and made its renewal determinations on an Account-by-Account basis. In deciding whether to renew the Agreement for each Account, each Trustee may have accorded different weight to different factors and, thus, each Trustee may have had a different basis for his or her ultimate decision to vote to renew the Agreement for each Account.

At its meeting on April 2, 2008, the Board voted unanimously to renew the Agreement for each Account. Set forth below are the general factors the Board considered for all of the Accounts, followed by an outline of the specific factors the Board considered for each particular Account.

THE NATURE, EXTENT AND QUALITY OF SERVICES

The Board considered that TCIM is an experienced investment adviser and that it or its affiliates have managed the Accounts since their operations commenced. Under the Agreement, TCIM is responsible for: managing the assets of the Accounts, including conducting research, recommending investments and placing orders to buy and sell securities for the Accounts' investment portfolios; active daily monitoring of the investment portfolios by various personnel with specific responsibility for the particular types of investments in question; and reporting on the investment performance of the Accounts to the Board on a regular basis. The Board considered that TCIM has carried out these responsibilities in a professional manner.

BOARD APPROVAL OF INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT AGREEMENT

The Board also considered, among other factors, the performance of each Account, as discussed below. In the course of its review of the quality of TCIM's services, the Board examined the investment performance of each Account and concluded that it was reasonable when compared with Account benchmarks and peer groups of mutual funds that underlie variable insurance products, and that, in the case of any underperforming Accounts, TCIM represented that it had taken or was planning to implement affirmative steps to enhance the investment performance. In addition, with respect to such underperforming Accounts, the Board discussed with management several alternative potential means for enhancing investment performance, including, for example, potential increases in the resources devoted to portfolio management activities and potential adjustments to the allocation of assets between quantitative and more active management styles.

The Board also considered the nature and quality of non-portfolio management services provided by TCIM and its affiliates. In this regard, the Board considered its ongoing efforts to review the performance of certain affiliated and unaffiliated CREF service providers, including improvements in services provided by those firms or outsourcing efforts to other firms.

INVESTMENT PERFORMANCE

The Board considered the investment performance of each Account, as applicable, over one-, two-, three-, four-, five- and ten-year periods. The Board also considered each Account's performance as compared to its peer groups and benchmark indices. In this regard, the Board considered that most of the Accounts achieved performance that compares favorably to their benchmarks (after considering the effect of expenses incurred to operate the Accounts) and, with some exceptions, ranked in the top three performance quintiles versus their peer groups of mutual funds that underlie variable insurance products. (For additional detail regarding each Account's performance, see the Account-by-Account synopsis below.) As noted above, the Board also considered that in those cases in which any Accounts had underperformed their benchmarks or peer groups of mutual funds that underlie variable insurance products, TCIM had taken reasonable remedial actions or represented that it was in the process of taking such actions, and the Board had identified additional potential remedial actions to be considered by management. Thus, the Board concluded that, under the totality of circumstances considered, the investment performance of each Account was reasonable. The Board also considered its ongoing efforts to review best execution and portfolio turnover practices of TCIM with respect to certain Accounts to assess whether those practices continue to be in the best interests of those Accounts.

COST AND PROFITABILITY

The Board considered the amounts charged by TCIM to each Account during 2007, including investment advisory costs paid to TCIM, expressed in dollar terms and as a percentage of assets, as well as a reconciliation and analysis of those expenses. The Board considered that TCIM charges expenses "at cost" and these charges are adjusted quarterly to reflect the actual expenses incurred with respect to each Account during the most recent quarter. The Board also considered the rationale for TCIM's anticipated costs in providing services to CREF and considered whether these anticipated costs are reasonable in relation to the nature and quality of the services provided by TCIM. The Board did not consider the profitability of TCIM's services to each Account because TCIM provides its services on an at cost basis under the arrangement outlined in the Agreement.

Among other considerations, the Board acknowledged the reasonableness of permitting payments to TCIM that are reasonably needed for TCIM to maintain and improve the quality of services provided to CREF. In this connection, the Board noted its ongoing efforts to examine the level of personnel and other resources available to portfolio management functions so as to assess whether sufficient resources are being devoted to these functions. The Board also considered the reasons for increases in Account expenses that were unrelated to direct portfolio management services.

FEES CHARGED BY OTHER ADVISERS

The Board considered information regarding fees paid to other advisers for managing similar funds that underlie variable insurance products, as analyzed by Lipper. The Board determined that the anticipated management expenses charged to the Accounts under CREF's at cost arrangement were lower than the management fee rates charged by many or most comparable mutual funds that underlie variable insurance products. Based on all factors considered, the Board determined that the anticipated expenses for each Account under the at cost arrangement were reasonable in relation to those charged by appropriate groups of comparable mutual funds that underlie variable insurance products.

ECONOMIES OF SCALE

The Board considered that certain economies of scale are already integrated into each Account's cost structure due to the "at cost" arrangement pursuant to which TCIM renders investment advisory services to CREF. The Board also considered that, in certain circumstances, an increase in CREF assets can result in additional expenses being allocated to CREF pursuant to the cost allocation methodologies that are used to calculate payments to be made by CREF pursuant to the at cost arrangement.

FEE COMPARISON WITH CLIENTS OF AFFILIATED INVESTMENT ADVISERS

The Board considered that CREF is the only client of TCIM and, thus, TCIM has no comparable client accounts. The Board also considered information regarding portfolios managed by Teachers Advisors, Inc. ("TAI"), TCIM's affiliated investment adviser which provides advisory services to other affiliated investment companies. The Board considered that TAI is a for-profit company and, as a result, it renders services to comparable accounts at higher fee rates than the costs charged by TCIM to CREF. In addition, the Board considered that TCIM and its affiliates render somewhat different services to CREF as compared to services rendered by TAI and its affiliates regarding the portfolios that TAI manages.

BOARD APPROVAL OF INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT AGREEMENT

OTHER BENEFITS

The Board also considered additional benefits to the Accounts and to TCIM and its affiliates arising from the Agreement. For example, TCIM and its affiliates may benefit from the advisory relationship with the Accounts to the extent this relationship results in potential investors viewing the TIAA-CREF group of companies as a leading retirement plan provider in the academic and nonprofit market and a single source for all their financial service needs. Also, certain Accounts managed by TCIM are managed in the same manner and by the same personnel as certain of the other affiliated TIAA-CREF mutual funds, resulting in certain economies of scale.

ACCOUNT-BY-ACCOUNT FACTORS

The Trustees considered the following specific factors (among others) during their determination to renew the Agreement with respect to each Account. If an Account is described in the following discussions as being in the "1st" quintile, it is in the best of five groups (that is, the group has the best performance or the lowest expenses, as the case may be). References below to quintiles are based on data provided to the Board in the reports prepared by Lipper. All periods referenced below end as of December 31, 2007.
