7. Custody and Visitation: The court decides custody and visitation issues by figuring out what is in the children’s best interests. The court must decide two kinds of custody: (1) legal custody and (2) physical custody.

7a. Legal Custody Legal custody refers to decision making authority such as matters relating to health, education or religion of the child(ren). There are 2 kinds of legal custody: joint and sole. Joint legal custody means both parents share the decision making because they can communicate about the children, even though they may not get along otherwise. Joint legal is the most common type of legal custody awarded by courts. Sole legal custody means one parent makes decisions about the child(ren) because there is no way that the parents can communicate about the child(ren) or one parent is unfit due to severe mental illness, substance abuse or domestic abuse issues. However, with sole legal, both parents usually have access to school and medical records and neither parent can move out of the state with the children without permission from the court or the other parent.

Because it is in the best interests of the children, we request:

- Joint Legal Custody (the parents share the decision making about the child(ren)).
 Sole Legal Custody to Mother to Father (this parent will make decisions about the child(ren)'s upbringing and does not have to consult with the other parent)

7b. Physical Custody Physical custody describes the child(ren)'s schedule. If the children are with each parent more than 110 over nights within 1 year, you have a shared custody schedule. If one parent has 109 over nights or less, he or she has a visitation schedule and the other parent has primary custody. NOTE: If you are filing in Fairbanks, you are required to use the Proposed Parenting Plan, SHC-1127 Word | PDF.

Tip: Print out the school calendar provided by your school district which includes vacations and in-service days. Circle the days you want overnights and count them up to figure out if you have a shared or primary schedule. For links to many school calendars, visit <http://www.courtrecords.alaska.gov/webdocs/shc/family/docs/calendars.pdf>. For a one-page annual calendar without school dates, check-out www.timeanddate.com/calendar/. You may find the Weekly Scheduling Chart, SHC-1132 Word | PDF helpful.
