The Adult Protective Services Specialists (Human Services Specialist III) work to ensure vulnerable adults are safe by performing a variety of activities, including both direct and indirect assistance to vulnerable and/or incapacitated adults over age 18. APS Investigators assess, evaluate, and investigate allegations of abuse, neglect, and/or exploitation of vulnerable adults and determine if there is a need for any protective and/or social services. APS Investigators make time sensitive contacts with clients and family members, interviewing them and others who may have knowledge of the situation; research, obtain and analyze complex financial and medical documents (as appropriate), offer community-based supports and assistance, and testify at hearings if needed. When allegations are substantiated, perpetrators of adult abuse are placed on the public APS Registry.
