

Peer Warmline Connection of Sonoma County

The Peer Warmline Connection of Sonoma County is a peer-run service operated by, and for, mental health consumers. Emphasizing self-help, the Warmline provides a confidential telephone connection for people with mental health challenges who would like to speak with a peer, or be linked to resources. The Warmline was established to make available support during hours when resources are limited.

To receive help from the Peer Warmline, call 707-565-4466 on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings from 5:30p.m. to 9:30p.m. Telephones are answered by volunteers living with recovery experience.

The Peer Warmline Connection of Sonoma County is funded through the Mental Health Services Act and Sonoma County Behavioral Health Division and Administered by Goodwill ~ Redwood Empire.
