Dr. Eddie Warrior Correctional Center (EWCC) is on the original site of the Indian Mission School Haloche Industrial Institute in Taft, Oklahoma. In 1909, Stephen Douglas Russell founded the Deaf, Blind, and Orphan Institute (DB&O) which housed deaf, blind, and orphaned children. From 1909 until 1961, the DB&O Institute was self-sufficient. This institute for children was operated by the state, under many different names, until May 1986 when legislative action transferred the facility to the Department of Corrections. The facility became the George Nigh Staff Development Center handling the department's pre-service and in-service staff training. During the 1988 special legislative session, called to address prison overcrowding, the center was designated as a minimum-security prison for female offenders.

EWCC is named after Dr. Eddie Walter Warrior, business manager for the DB&O Institute.

EWCC is committed to a “zero-tolerance policy” of sexual assault and sexual victimization. This zero-tolerance policy affects all offenders, including every employee and every person under correctional supervision. EWCC houses minimum-security female offenders. The facility is divided into two general population units and the Regimented Treatment Program (RTP), a 12-month military-style program with substance abuse and domestic violence components added to address addiction and family violence issues. The RTP unit is housed in one of the original buildings built for the DB&O Institute in 1909.

OFFENDER PROGRAMS

Helping Women Recover Program

The Helping Women Recover is a 60-bed gender responsive program designed to meet the substance abuse and trauma treatment needs of female offenders. The program, funded through a grant from the George Kaiser Family Foundation, in its current status, has been operating since October 2009. The program offers evidence-based trauma-informed substance abuse treatment, cognitive processing therapy, domestic violence and relapse prevention group interactions. Drawing on the expertise of a licensed therapist, female offenders obtain 12 hours of group therapy and a minimum of three hours of individual therapy during four months of treatment.

The Helping Women Recover Program was the first gender-specific program in the country to pass the Correctional Program Checklist (CPC). To date, approximately 400 female offenders have successfully completed the program.

Other programs include: Life Skills, Regimented Treatment Program, HIV/AIDs Peer Education, Play Day, Early Childhood Development classes, Keys to Life, Living Longer Living Stronger. Mental Health Services provides Anger Management and Seeking Safety groups for co-occurring mental health and substance use prevention.

EDUCATION

All offenders upon arrival to our facility are tested and placed in the education program best suited to their needs. The facility has 5 state-certified teachers on staff who teach classes such as: Literacy, Special Education, A.B.E (Adult Based Education), GED, and college courses. Student placement is based upon need and the remaining days left of the sentence. Under Title I special funding, all offenders who have an educational need and are less than 21 years of age are required to be in school. Once a student completes her GED, she is encouraged to carry on her education by taking college courses. The EWCC has a partnership with Connors State College where instructors are teaching class on the compound. If a student has a desire to continue her education, there are numerous programs to help with funding. Some of the programs to help with tuition are grant monies awarded to the facility, Indian Tribal Money and Friends of Eddie Warrior. The Friends of Eddie Warrior program will fund a portion of the money for an offender to begin a class. Based upon the student’s performance in that class Friends of Eddie Warrior may fund more classes for the next semester. College enrollment for the spring 2014 semester is 96 students and 14 classes.

OPERATIONS

HEALTH SERVICES - The Medical staff will ensure that every offender has unimpeded access to health care and all health related services are provided in a timely manner. The facility provides medical, dental and psychological services. Specific information concerning these services is provided during facility orientation. A $2.00 co-pay will be charged for each visit requested by the offender; however, offenders will not be refused health care because of their financial status.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES - All offenders remanded to the custody of the EWCC facility retain the right to choose their religious beliefs and to practice religious acts. Religious activities/services are offered for all denominations and coordinated by the facility chaplain and volunteers. Information regarding the scope and availability of religious activities is made available to all offenders upon reception through the orientation process.

INDUSTRY

Jacobs Trading Company (Private Prison Industry)

The Jacobs Trading Company is a private prison industry that operates at the EWCC. The company purchases damaged and/or returned items and re-packages them for resale at discount stores. Fifteen female offenders are assigned employment with the company and are paid minimum wage. Offenders learn to develop skills training and work ethics as a means of improving employability after release.
