Only Equitable Stockholders Can Be Made Directors, Lawyers Say.

A mere sop to the public Cerberus, a subterfuge alike defective and farcical, without a radical amendment of the Equitable's charter. was the description yesterday by lawyers representing certain minority stockholders and policyholders of the trust deed empowering ex-President Grover Cleveland, Justice Morgan J. o'Brien and George Westinghouse to vote the controlling interest of the Equitable's stock, bought by Thomas F. Ryan from James Hazen

These pointed out that as the Equitable's charter new stands no stockholder who has not "qualifying shares" (in the case of the Equitable these amount at least to five) can be elected a director. Where, they asked, could the directors obtain their stock? They could not touch the trustee shares.

The directors must obtain them, they said answering their own question, from Mr. Hyde. Moreover, they said, in the trust agreement there was no provision for the trustees qualifying men whose names had been submitted as directors; there was nothing to compel any trustees to elect men chosen by the majority of the policyholders, and the trustees were not bound by the policyholders' votes.

To compel the trustees to elect men chosen by the majority of the policyholders, avowed adberents of the seller and buyer of the stock control, would place the election virtually in the hands of two agents, to which Mr. Ryan and Mr. Hyde would never consent. At the next board meeting it is entirely possible that charter amendments looking to the modification of the qualifying clause will be considered and submitted for approval to Superintendent Hendricks

Here again attempts to amend the charter along certain lines would be opposed by the decision of Justice Maddox in the Lord suit. Even a lawyer representing one of the principals in the negotiations saw an apparent anomaly in the trust deed.

"This is only a temporary expedient," said he "It is good for only five years, and the best thing they can do is to go on and amend the charter. The trustees cannot use their stock to qualify any directors, and the stock for that purpose must be obtained from outside,"

Said another lawyer connected with the Equi-

This plan is a gold brick, and can in no way be carried out under the charter, if it is to be in accordance with the trust agreement. In the first place, the charter holds that every director must be a stockholder. Therefore, the directors must be owners of the stock or have stock transferred to them. Ryan's stock cannot be used for this purpose, because it must be held in entirety by the trustees.

them. Hyan's stock cannot be seen to this purpose, because it must be held in entirety by the trustees.

Consequently, the outside stock must be divided, of which a large proportion is held by Hyde. So we get dummy directors, and the old trouble all over again. Then, as for the plan of the policyhelders choosing the directors, it is clear they can only suggest names. They cannot combine for mutual and concerted action, and they cannot get hold of the list of the other policyholders. Even if they could, they must vote for some one who holds stock, and any attempt to amend the right of control is prevented by the recent injunction granted by Justice Maddox.

According to the terms of the agreement no vote may be cast upon the stock for any purpose except with the unanimous approval of the trustees. What would happen in the event that unanimous approval should be found impossible? The trustees are to receive the suggestions of policyholders as to candidates for directorships, but they must elect persons holding at least five shares of capital stock. It would seem, that the suggestions of Mr. Ryan, who is a pollcyholder, would receive more consideration by the trustees than those of John Smith of some distinct village. Mr. Ryan has influence and John Smith has not. The directors must be chosen from a small body of men, in whom he and Mr. Hyde have every confidence.

The policyholders will make suggestions, and one suggestion will be as good as another; but the fact remains that the directors will be obliged to qualify with stock owned by Mr. Hyde, his lamily and his friends.

Said Alexander S. Bacon, counsel for Roland W. Dufort and other policyholders:

W, Dufort and other policyholders:

I um not sure how far there has been any bona fide sale of the Hyde stock. The fact of the price that is said to have been paid having been published is no prima facte evidence of such sale. I selice that the stockholders will shortly find that they have jumped from the frying pan into the fire. Ryan his out-Togoed Togo, and is in absolute control of the policyholders. If this is really a sale, dummy trustees would be obliged to vote for dummy directors. The twenty-eight directors to represent the policyholders will be really selected by the management, or the agents will cause to be agents very quickly if they do not influence the policyholders to select the right directors.

A. Edward Woodruff says that after the issue of the Hendricks report he proposed to bring an action against Mr. Ryan. Asked to explain the apparent discrepancy between his latest announcement and the an-tween his latest announcement and the announcement made to the public at the time of the sale of the stock that he had associated with him in the purchase other policyholders, Mr. Byan said, through a representative, that he had purposed to convey in the first statement the fact that his associates were merely acting in an advisory capacity and had no financial interest in the transaction.

Mr. Morton's connection with Mr. Ryan, he added, had now ceased absolutely.

The executive committee held a meeting yesterday, Mr. Morton presiding. The new chairman announced that the meeting had been devoted to routine business and that no internal reforms had been discussed. Mr. Morton wishes it understood that until the Hendricks report shall have been issued the action of the committee will be entirely conservative. It is not expected that the report will be made public before next Monday or Tuesday.

The next meeting of the board will probably be called for next Wednesday week, unless the contents of the Hendricks report make an ear-able Building and paid a visit to the Moron Trust Company Building, where he conferred with Mr. Ryan.

Gage E. Tarbell visited the office of Henry D. Macdona, one of Mr. Ryan's representatives. Later Mr. Tarbell, accompanied by Bainbridge Colby, of counsel for President Alexander, visited the offices of Henry Rogers Winthrop, the Equitable financial manager, and through Mr. Winthrop sought to obtain an audience with Paul Morton. Mr. Tarbell, it is said, is striving his utmost to satisfy the new administration. Friends of Mr. Hyde express the opinion that Mr. Tarbell's resignation will be accepted after the Hendricks report shall have been published and the situation shall be ripe for such acceptance. They point out that changes in the management of the Equitable's immense agency force cannot be made offhand.

The Crimmins policyholders' committee unanimously adopted yesterday a resolution expressing its belief that the voting trust will assure an honest administration of the society's affairs, in the interest of the policyholders, and that, in view of the delay in the consummation of mutualization, the present plan is entitled to the support of the policyholders of the society.

DISSENTERS MAY FORM NEW ORDER.

If Project Goes Through the "Royal" May Become "American" Arcanum.

Members of the Royal Arcanum in Brooklyn are talking over a proposition which has been made to found a rival order to take over all the members who have become dissatisfied over the recent in-trease in the insurance rates of the order. It is stated that the new order will be called the American Arcanum, and that some of the Brooklyn members of the Royal Arcanum will take a leading part in its organization. Every night meetings of some of the councils of the Royal Arcanum are being held, and the grand officers of the order are being criticised for their action in raising the rates.

Baron Nathaniel de Rothschild's Provision for Poor and Sick.

Vienna, June 16.-Baron Nathaniel de Rothschild, rother of the head of the Austrian branch of the firm, who died on June 13, left the sum of $4,000,000 o be distributed for various charitable purposes. The baron left another $4,000,000 to provide a hos pital for the gratuitous treatment of needy sufferers from nervous complaints other than epilepsy, usanity and incurable spinal disorders. These latter diseases entitle sufferers to admission to existing hospitals or asylums. He himself had been lifelong sufferer from a nervous malady, and this led him to spend his winters abroad.

IMMIGRATION LIKELY TO INCREASE.

Prediction of American Inspectors-Rules Believed Evaded.

London, June 16.-Marcus Braun and Maurice Fishberg, the American immigrant inspectors who have been investigating emigration from Continental countries to the United States, having concluded their labors in Austria-Hungary and Russian Poland, respectively, are now investigating conditions at the embarking points of the big At lantic liners. They express the opinion that emigration, which has exceeded all previous records, promises to be even greater in the future. On the whole, they say, the class of emigrants now going to the United States is not so desirable as formerly.

Messrs. Braun and Fishberg say that the steamship companies have begun a most strict inspection of emigrants, but that even in London person who say they are agents of the companies are publishing guarantees to obtain the admission of any emigrant to the United States for a few pounds in addition to the fare. How the subagents carry out this agreement is now under investigation by the inspectors.

Organizes Committee of Fourteen, Modelled | Man Who Ran Away Forty-seven Years Ago | Justice Keogh Decides Against Testimony to

Returns to Get Fortune of $80,000. Forty-seven years ago this summer James ing age, ran away from his home, between Glen Cove and Sea Cliff, Long Island, and joined an Arctic expedition. His vessel was wrecked and nothing was heard from him until very recently, when a letter arrived addressed to Ira U. Travis, of Flushing, a brother. Closely following the letter was the writer, who arrived yesterday from New-Zealand, for a long visit, and, incidentally, to receive a fortune of $80,000 with the accumulated interest of twelve years. With the visitor were a grown daughter and her husband. "It is not every runaway who is well treated by fortune," said Mr. Travis. "After all these years it would not be possible for me to tell exactly why I ran away. Perhaps I should not like to recall the reason anyway. After the ship, on which I was the humblest person, was wrecked I drifted about on sea and land until finally I landed in Australia, from which place I later went to New-Zealand. I made friends and was fortunate in my business. I married the best woman on earth, and we have had eleven children, of whom there are now nine mar-ried. By some chance I alighted on an old paper bearing an advertisement inserted by Ira. It told me of a fortune of some $80,000 left to me in 1898. and asked me to return or communicate with him. The money I really did not need, for I was getting along well, but, of course, there was no reason for refusing it. More than the money is the reunion with my brother. Forty-seven years is a long period to be separated."

COURT WANTED TO THROW GAVEL.

Magistrate O'Reilly Angry at Boy Who Insulted His Mother.

August Bessler, seventeen years old, of No. 1,300 Gates-ave., Williamsburg, was charged yesterday in the Manhattan-ave, police court with grand larceny and held in $1,000 ball for the grand jury. His mother alleges he robbed her of $28 and a gold watch.

When the case was called before Magistrate O'Reilly the boy turned to his mother, shook his fist in her face and called her a liar. The magistrate became excited and told the prisoner he did not know what kept him from hurling his gavel at him. Mrs. Bessler told the magistrate her son admitted taking the money and watch, but promised to give it back, as he had lost it playing the races. The magistrate told the youth he was sorry there wasn't a whipping post so that he could be lashed every day.

The boy sneered at the magistrate's remarks, and, this, seeming to irritate the judge, the court officer took the boy away.

DATE FOR STOKES-PASTOR WEDDING.

Friends Say July 18, Denying Report That Ceremony Is to Take Place To-day.

There was a rumor yesterday that Miss Rose Harriet Pastor, the East Side Settlement worker and writer, who formerly was a cigarmaker at Cleveland, Ohio, was to be married to-day at Noroton, Conn., to J. G. Phelps Stokes, to whom she has been engaged for some time. This report was denied last night by Miss Pastor's mother at her home, No. 776 Wendover-ave., and also by some friends of Mr. Stokes at the University Settlement in Eldridge-st. The wedding, it is said, will not take place until July 18, the date originally set for the ceremony.

Following the church ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's father, No. 5 North 8th-av. The couple started for a wedding tour of a month, most of which will be spent in the Adirondacks.

WEST VIRGINIA TAX LAW GOOD.

State Supreme Court Decides Coal, Oil and Gas Leases Are Real Chattels.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Wheeling, W. Va., June 16.—The Supreme Court to-day upheld the new State Tax law imposing a special tax on leaseholds of coal, oil and gas. In an opinion of fifty thousand words the court decides for Commissioner C. W. Dillon in the test case against him brought by the Harvey Coal and Coke ompany, of Fayette County. The finding decides the constitutionality of the new laws, and fixes coal, oil and gas leases as 'axable property, as chattels real.

Two hundred million dollars' worth of such leases exist in the State, and will now be placed on the tax lists. The various interests, most of which are held by outside capital, may endeavor to take the case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

LONG LOST BROTHER TURNS UP RICH. LAW GIVES WAY TO COMMON SENSE.

See Justice Done.

Justice Keogh, in the Supreme Court, in Travis, then a young man just arriving at vot- Mineola, yesterday decided a suit contrary to the testimony of the one witness in order that justice might be done. The action was to recover taxes paid through an error in 1899. The law is against the return of such moneys, it was shown by the Corporation Counsel's office, unless it can be shown that a written protest against the payment was made at the time of payment. The witness had testified that he paid the money willingly, but through error in supposing that it was due. Justice Keogh said the courts were made to see justice done and not to see it thwarted, and that he would decide that the plaintiff had paid the taxes under coercion, under threat to sell the property, and would order a verdict for the plaintiff. The decision met the approval of the lawyers present.

The plaintiff was Mrs. Elizabeth Betz, widow of John J. Betz, a brewer. She had paid through her son-in-law, Oswald Rohe, $700 30 for taxes in October, 1899, for property near Floral Park, which was taken into the County of Nassau, April 21, 1899. Justice Keogh asked that counsel settle the matter on an equitable basis, Both Andrew G. Cropsy, counsel for the plaintiff, and Assistant Corporation Counsel E. Crosby Kindleberger were willing, but the latter stated that, while Corporation Counsel Delany had advised the Controller's office to settle by taking two-thirds of the amount. Deputy Controller N. Taylor Phillips had declined to settle. Then Justice Keogh said:

I think I shall decide that the taxes were paid involuntarily, under coercion and under threat of sale. It is inconceivable that high city officials should be unwilling to agree upon a settle-ment for a sum of money unjustly held by the because paid through error. made to see justice done, but not to thwart it.

LABELLED FROM CRADLE TO GRAVE.

Women Hear the Various Stages of Life Under the Union Tag.

Here lies Amanda,
A good woman and able;
She sleeps as she lived,
'Neath the union label.

"From the Cradle to the Grave with Union Labels" was the subject of a talk by Miss Annie Patterson last night at the headquarters of the Woman's Trade Union League, No. 30 1st-ave. Miss Patterson is on the league's label committee that held its first public meeting last night, for which the hall was gayly decorated with posters, representing various unions.

Miss Patterson explained to the audience that it is possible to clothe one's self, feed one's self, in fact to live and die surrounded only by labelled goods. A cradle for the baby may be obtained stamped with the label of the Amalgamated Woodworkers International Union of America, and an infant's entire wardrobe may be selected from union labe. goods. Label soap may be used for its bath, and it may be fed with union label cereal.

For the women Miss Patterson named an as-tonishingly large number of necessariss that bear the union label, which, she said, "is the only sure guarantee that articles are made for fair wages and under living conditions. Have no fear," she urged, "about buying bread marked with the label, for it is not pasted onto the loaf. It is put or after the bread has raised and before it is baked, so that the natural moisture causes it to stick You will have to develop a taste for rye bread, if You will have to develop a taste for rye bread, if you are a true friend of the unions, for that is the only kind that at present has the label."

Shoes, hats and suits, as well as brooms, pianos and tobacco, must all carry the label of a union if they are to bear the recommendation of the Woman's Trade Union League.

"Another way in which you may work effectively for the unions," said Miss Patterson, "Is to ask for waiters and waitresses carrying union cards when you go into a retaurant. And when you shop be sure to go to a store where labelled good are sold, and say that you wish to be waited upon by a union clerk.

"Union actors and musicians should be engaged for all entertainments, and only a union undertaker should be called in after one's life, spent in furthering the cause of organized labor, had gone out." Miss Margaret Daley, of the Overall Workers' Union, who was introduced as "the only woman walking delegate," told of the use of the label in her work. Music and union label refreshments followed.

PLANS FOR N. Y. TRUANT SCHOOL.

Will Be Modelled After St. Charles's Home, Near Chicago.

After several months of investigating, Associate City Superintendent Clarence E. Meleney, head of the Truancy Bureau of the Department of Educa-tion, and Superintendent C. B. J. Snyder, of the Buildings Bureau, have finally decided to model the New-York Truant School, which will be built on the Garretson Farm, Jamaica, Long Island, after the St. Charles Home for Boys, near Chicago.

There will be a central school and administration buildings and various small buildings for trade instruction. The pupils and instructors will be lodged in small cottages. There will be every modern improvement, and most of the inmates will be better lodged clothed and fed than ever before in their lives.

OBITUARY.

ANDREW J. FRACE.

Andrew J. Frace, the oldest employe in length of service of the United States Sub-Treasury in New-York, whose critical condition at his home, No. 1,045 Herkimer-st., Brooklyn, was announced in yester-day's Tribune, died yesterday from Bright's disease, after a year's sickness. He had been unconscious for several days.

He was a member of a family of thirteen children, of Welsh and Dutch descent, and was born in Wilkesbarre, Penn., nearly seventy-one years ago.

Five of his brothers served in the Civil War, and one of them, Jacob, died in Libby Prison. He leaves a widow and a daughter, Mrs. Joseph O.

Studwell. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon

THE REV. JOHN A. KELLAR HONORED.

Clergyman Who Was Shot Four Years Ago Elected President of Clericus.

Orange, June 16 (Special).-The Rev. John A. Kellar, of Arlington, who was shot and partially blinded by Thomas G. Barker, in Arlington, on February 3, 1901, was elected president of the Newark Clericus at the sixteenth annual meeting of the organization. Mr. Barker accused the clergyman of forcibly outraging his wife more than a year before the shooting, for which he was entenced in the Hudson County Court to five years' imprisonment. The Rev. Samuel A. of Paterson, was elected vice-president; the Rev. W. T. Lipton, of Newark, secretary and treasurer. The meeting also appointed the Rev. Mr. Kellar, the Rev. E. P. Miller and the Rev. W. T. Lipton a committee to prepare an appropriate letter to the Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann, who yesterday left Orange for Boston, where he will be rector of

Investigation at Mr. Jerome's Request

Causes Excitement in Warden's Office. There was considerable excitement yesterday in Warden Johnson's office in Sing Sing Prison over an investigation which has been in progress for some time to discover, if possible, how certain convicts managed to secure unusual privileges. It was said that tobacco, whiskey and letters had been smuggled into the prison and that District Attorney Jerome had asked for the investigation because Jerome had asked for the investigation because evidence of the prison rules being violated had been brought to his attention.

Warden Johnson said that since he has been in charge of the prison he had known of instances of smuggling, but he never had been able to trace the smuggling to any particular keeper. A strict watch is to be kept hereafter.
