

From a High-Rise to the Highest Court Sonia Sotomayor, President Obama's Nominee for Supreme Court Justice

By Heidi Morales

IF YOU'RE A NATIVE NEW YORKER OR PERHAPS A FAN OF THE NEW YORK YANKEES, THE NAME SONIA SOTOMAYOR MAY HAVE SOUNDED FAMILIAR TO YOU EVEN BEFORE SHE BECAME PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA'S NOMINEE FOR U.S. SUPREME COURT JUSTICE. In 1995 Judge Sotomayor became as legendary as baseball hall-of-famers for ending a long baseball strike by ruling against owners in favor of players. According to Ms. Sotomayor, the owners were trying to destroy the labor form part of the highest court. For the past 11 years, she has been a judge on the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit, based in New York City.

Ms. Sotomayor, who is of Puerto Rican descent, was born in 1954 and grew up in the New York City Housing Authority's (NYCHA's) Bronxdale Houses. Bronxdale Houses, located in the Bruckner section of the Bronx, has 28 seven-story buildings with 1,496 apartments. Bronxdale is home to approximately 3,500 residents. A modern, high-tech Community Center opened its doors on the grounds of this development back in 2007, and offers educational and recreational activities for children and adults of the development and the surrounding community.

Ms. Sotomayor was raised in public housing by her mother, who worked as a nurse at a methadone clinic to support Ms. Sotomayor and her brother, Juan. At the tender age of eight, Ms. Sotomayor was diagnosed with diabetes and just one year later her father, a factory worker, died of a heart condition. She is no stranger to adversity, but she did not let these challenges deter her from reaching her goals.

Judge Sotomayor attended Cardinal Spellman High School, a private Catholic school in the Bronx, and was later accepted into Princeton University, where she graduated with honors at a time when the school had just begun to accept female students. She then went on to study law at Yale Law School, where she was editor of the school's law journal. Her inspiration to pursue a career in law came from reading Nancy Drew detective novels and watching episodes of Perry Mason, a defense attorney, on TV.

system and the concept of collective bargaining. A die-hard fan of the Bronx Bombers herself, Judge Sotomayor took only 15 minutes to issue the directive that led to the settlement in the 1994-95 strike and make baseball history.

Now Judge Sotomayor is making headlines again as the President's nominee to replace retiring Supreme Court Justice David H. Souter. If confirmed by the U.S. Senate, Ms. Sotomayor, who has more than 16 years of court experience, will become the first Latina ever to serve on the U.S. Supreme Court and the third woman in U.S. history to

NEW CHAIR VISITS FIVE BOROUGHS ON WHIRLWIND, FIRST-DAY MEET-AND-GREET

By Howard Silver

JOHN B. RHEA BEGAN DAY ONE AS CHAIR OF THE NEW YORK CITY HOUSING AUTHORITY WITH WELCOME REMARKS TO EXECUTIVE AND SENIOR MANAGERS IN A STAFF MEETING FOLLOWED BY A FULL DAY OF FIELD VISITS IN ALL FIVE BOROUGHS TO BEGIN MEETING AND TALKING TO RESIDENTS, EMPLOYEES, ELECTED OFFICIALS AND OTHER PARTNERS.

Chair Rhea had an easy rapport with the many stakeholders that he met on Monday, June 1st, who also included members of the NYPD and staff from community based organizations, and clearly showed his interest in hearing what they had to say.

"My job here today is to hear your concerns so that when I go back I can take them into consideration," said Chair Rhea. "This is a great time for public housing, with new support from Washington, stimulus funds, and the need for affordable housing more pressing than ever."

Crowds gathered in front of Management Offices as the Chair arrived, and accompanied him on walks throughout development grounds. Conversations went beyond pleasantries to include comments the Chair solicited about how NYCHA can improve services for residents and provide employees with the support they need. The day's activities allowed the Chair to gain insight into the Authority's programs serving public housing families, as well as its physical assets.

At Rutgers Houses on Manhattan's Lower East Side, the Chair met with Council Members Rosie Mendez and Alan J. Gerson, Citywide Council of President (COP) Chair Reginald Bowman, Manhattan South COP Chair Rose Bergin, and Resident Association President Michael Steele before inspecting an energy-efficient boiler room there. "Sometimes the best way to see how things work is to go where the 'guts' of the operations are housed," said Rhea.

At the next stop, Bushwick Houses in Brooklyn, the Chair was greeted by Assembly Member Vito Lopez, City Council Member Erik Martin Dilan and Borough President Marty Markowitz, as well as Resident Association President Gloria Bonilla. He then visited an elevator motor room on the rooftop of one of the buildings, after which, he viewed CCTV footage with NYPD Housing Bureau Brooklyn Borough Commander Gerald Dieckman.

At the Queens Community House, Pomonok Center in Flushing, the new Chair was greeted by Department for the Aging Commissioner Lilliam Barrios-Paoli for a discussion of senior services at NYCHA developments. He also met with Queens COP Chair Ann Cotton Morris.

In the Melrose section of the Bronx, at Adams Houses, Chair Rhea met with Human Resources Administration (HRA) Commissioner Robert Doar and engaged Borough President Ruben Diaz, Jr. and Council Member Maria del Carmen Arroyo in a spirited discussion about job training and placement opportunities at NYCHA's Resident Employment Services satellite office located there. Bronx South COP Chair John Johnson and Bronx North COP Chair Herma Williams joined Resident Association President Sylvia Sierra at Adams to meet the new Chair.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

Become A FDNY Fire Protection Inspector

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT OF NEW YORK CITY (FDNY) IS LOOKING FOR CANDIDATES TO BECOME FIRE PROTECTION INSPECTORS. Becoming a Fire Protection Inspector will give you a real opportunity to make a positive impact in the lives of others — as well as your own. Applications submitted by New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA) residents will be fast-tracked for consideration.

A Fire Protection Inspector conducts inspections of premises to ensure that they are in compliance with all rules, regulations and requirements of the New York City Administrative Code regarding life and fire safety. The kinds of inspections you would perform may include: inspections of sprinkler/standpipe systems, carbonated gas systems and extinguishing systems. If assigned to District Office Headquarters your responsibilities may include: inspecting for permits governing the storage of flammables and combustible mixtures and compressed gasses; if assigned to the Public Safety Unit you would perform safety inspections on hotels and office buildings; in the Field Public Communications Unit you would handle and address complaints from the public and private sectors. Other responsibilities may include representing the FDNY at the New York City Board of Standards and Appeals; conducting inspections of building construction; completing and issuing violation forms, orders and/or summonses; testifying in court when required; reviewing, formulating and amending the New York City Administrative Code; or working with the Fireworks Safety Group to conduct safety inspections and monitor all fireworks shows throughout the City.

Salary and Benefits

The starting salary for a Fire Protection Inspector is $33,291 for the first year and $38,285 after two years of service. In addition, you will receive excellent health and pension benefits with domestic partner coverage, two weeks of vacation a year to start, overtime and a 35 hour work week with paid holidays.

Hiring Requirements

In order to be appointed as a Fire Protection Inspector, you must be 18 years of age; hold a valid New York State motor vehicle driver's license; complete the pre-employment process consisting of a comprehensive background investigation; have a high school diploma or equivalent; and have three years of satisfactory full-time experience in one or a combination of the following:

—Design, installation, operation, repair, testing or inspection of fire suppression and/or extinguishing systems and/or refrigeration, air-conditioning or oil-heating systems; or —The formulation, enforcement or implementation of safety standards and programs in the manufacture and/or storage of materials which are potential fire hazards; or —The inspection of facilities for compliance with fire and building codes and other safety inspection standards and the enforcement of these codes and standards;

—Service as a Certified Fire Safety Director; or —Thirty semester credits from an accredited college or university in fire science technology; fire protection engineering; chemical, mechanical, environmental, electrical or marine engineering, or chemistry; or —A certificate of completion from an approved union-sponsored plumbing inspection program or satisfactory completion of a course of study in plumbing from an accredited trade/high school and two years of satisfactory full-time experience in general plumbing.

How to Become a FDNY Fire Protection Inspector

Interested New York City Housing Authority residents should call NYCHA's Department of Resident Employment Services at (718) 250-5904. For more information, visit the FDNY website, www.nyc.gov/fdny.

OVER 200 RESIDENTS RECEIVE AWARDS AT 20TH ANNUAL RESIDENT ARTS SHOW

By Eileen Elliott

ONCE AGAIN, THE RUTGERS HOUSES COMMUNITY CENTER ON MANHATTAN'S LOWER EAST SIDE WAS OVERFLOWING WITH THE DRAWINGS, PAINTINGS, PHOTOGRAPHS, COLLAGES, MURALS AND SCULPTURES OF THE HUNDREDS OF NEW YORK CITY HOUSING AUTHORITY (NYCHA) RESIDENTS WHOSE WORK WAS SELECTED FOR THE 20TH ANNUAL RESIDENT ART SHOW EXHIBIT.

"To all of the young artists who are here today, your friends and families, you should be very proud," said NYCHA Chair John B. Rhea at the Youth Awards Ceremony which was held at the Center on June 4th. "Please don't lose that sense of wonder and excitement." The Chair prefaced his comments by saying he was "blown away," by the creativity of the work.

Three professional artists served as judges, making their selection of the 375 artworks for the exhibit from an incredible 800 submissions. These submissions reflected the work of many of the 6,000 NYCHA residents who participated in the Harborview Visual Arts program at 60 Community Centers throughout the City, under the guidance of 28 Harborview artist-consultants.

NYCHA Vice-Chair Earl Andrews, Jr. also spoke, commenting that he was privileged to attend the awards ceremony for senior artists held earlier in the week. Mr. Andrews encouraged the youth to continue to express themselves throughout their lives as they have with their art.

NYCHA's Department of Community Operations Deputy General Manager Hugh Spence thanked his staff, including Harborview Visual Arts Program Community Coordinator William

Lucero, who has been running the program from the beginning, as well as all of the Center Directors and artist-consultants. "We hope to do more programs like this," Mr. Spence said, as he thanked NYCHA's Board—the Chair, Vice-Chair and Member Margarita López, for supporting the program. Before the actual awards were handed out the NYCHA Youth Chorus performed an uplifting musical selection, under the direction of Larry Matthew and Carrie Jones.

NYCHA Creative Arts Manager Juan Santiago called each artist up to the front of the room to receive a medal from Chairman Rhea.

One of those artists, eight-year-old Juan Rodriguez of Ft.

Independence Houses in the Bronx, who won an award for a group mixed media project, said his favorite thing about creating the piece was, "We could do it all together and help each other."

Consultant Carlton Murrell taught at Pomonok Houses in Queens and at Breukelen and Sheepshead Bay in Brooklyn over the past year, his ninth year with program. "I like the fact that people have something to say, to express, to create from the heart," Mr. Murrell said of his experience teaching.

The art was on display from June 2nd through the 19th.

CHAIR'S MESSAGE

The Best Years for Public Housing in New York City Are Still Ahead

GREETINGS! I AM TAKING THE OPPORTUNITY OF USING MY FIRST COLUMN AS CHAIRMAN TO TELL YOU A LITTLE BIT ABOUT MYSELF, AND HIGHLIGHT MY PRIORITIES FOR THE NEW YORK CITY HOUSING AUTHORITY (NYCHA).

First, let me say that I am grateful to the leadership that has held NYCHA together for so many years and particularly over the last few months. I would like to personally thank Ricardo Elías Morales for his stewardship as interim Chairman. I also want to thank my fellow Board Members, Earl Andrews, Jr. and Margarita López, for their professionalism and unwavering commitment to NYCHA.

It is an honor and privilege to be entrusted by Mayor Michael R. Bloomberg with the mammoth job of running this agency. I believe my experiences have trained me well to take on the challenges—and equally important the opportunities—that NYCHA faces at this critical juncture.

I've spent 20 years in the private sector competing in high performance environments where customer service was the key to success. I intend to bring that same energy, drive and customer focus to serving NYCHA residents each and every day.

Both residents and staff can count on me to ask for your opinion often and to act on what you tell me. In fact, during my first few weeks as Chair, I asked NYCHA's employees to fill out an anonymous, confidential questionnaire to help me get a better sense of what the real underlying issues are at the Housing Authority. I also had a chance to meet with residents, staff, elected officials and police officers at NYCHA developments in each borough my first day on the job and found the many conversations we had to be very helpful and informative.

Having grown up in a large city where access to education, jobs, and quality, affordable housing in safe neighborhoods were of concern to many residents, I understand the challenges many NYCHA residents confront every day.

Though I grew up in Detroit, Michigan, I've lived in New York City for most of my adult life—in both Brooklyn and Manhattan—and understand the unique make-up of our city and the tremendous vibrancy that exists as a result of ethnic and cultural diversity. NYCHA adds to that richness in so many communities in all five boroughs.

NYCHA has been and will continue to be an important part of the affordable housing equation as it is a critical means for lower income, immigrant and minority communities to have an opportunity to gain stability and begin building better lives for themselves.

NYCHA is also an economic engine and our community programs are critical to the neighborhoods in which we operate. I intend to nurture them to ensure we are doing all we can to support the communities NYCHA residents are committed to building. We will also use NYCHA's economic clout to help residents secure jobs and build businesses wherever possible.

This is a great time to be taking over the leadership of NYCHA. As we celebrate our 75th year—our diamond anniversary—it is energizing to know that the Administration in Washington is committed to moving toward full funding of public housing once again and has showed its commitment by providing NYCHA with $423 million in federal stimulus funding to make critical capital improvements. It is exciting to pick up the newspaper and to read stories celebrating famous NYCHA alumnae, like Supreme Court Justice nominee, Sonia Sotomayor. It reminds all of us at NYCHA that the people we serve every day share the same aspirations as all Americans—to provide their children with a safe and secure place to grow and pursue their dreams.

NYCHA has a tremendous legacy to reclaim. We will work diligently to ensure that every single unit of public housing is preserved for future generations. I say this with the deepest sense of commitment because I believe there is no nobler cause than to serve the community. The best years for public housing are still ahead.

John B. Rhea

DOLLARS AVAILABLE FOR RESIDENT EMPOWERMENT PROGRAMS

EACH YEAR THE U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT (HUD) PROVIDES PUBLIC HOUSING AUTHORITIES AROUND THE COUNTRY WITH MONIES FOR EACH FEDERALLY FUNDED DWELLING UNIT TO BE USED FOR RESIDENT EMPOWERMENT PROGRAMS. To utilize this funding, recognized Resident Association Presidents must submit proposals to the New York City Housing Authority (NYCHA) through their District Council of Presidents (COP), outlining the program(s) they would like to implement, in accordance with HUD specifications.

The Tenant Participation Activity program, or TPA, is a great way to encourage residents to get involved and become active participants in the lives of their communities. HUD implemented the TPA program in 2001, and strictly regulates its funding. Eligible activities include programs that help residents improve their quality of life, such as leadership training and programs which teach business and job-related skills. Resident Association Presidents submit proposals to NYCHA and to their COP District Chair, and receive a determination within 30 days.

NYCHA is currently working with all nine COP Districts on their program submissions. Many District Councils are holding retreats and seminars to facilitate the TPA program. The Bronx South District held a three-day retreat in March 2009 covering topics such as: Understanding Principles of Leadership; Recruitment and Retention (of residents into the Resident Association); and Conducting Successful Meetings and Project Planning. The Bronx North has scheduled a similar retreat. The Manhattan North District has also utilized TPA funding successfully by implementing three computer training programs, and using TPA funds to buy new computers.

It is important to remember that the TPA program is resident-driven. It is up to Resident Associations and their COP Districts to initiate the process. NYCHA is, however, very happy to provide technical Inspired—When Joanne Smitherman was just a young girl her mother used to get frustrated with her because she didn't take much interest in their community. But with age and motherhood Joanne's carefree attitude soon changed. "I was walking past Kingsbridge and 161st Street and someone handed me a leaflet," Ms. Smitherman said. "There was information about a community meeting that evening. I decided to attend. That was my very first community meeting."

That was just the beginning of what would turn into years of community involvement. "The very first organization I joined was back in 1960 — The National Welfare Group. I would attend rallies and sit-ins and sure I got arrested but I never went to jail. I remember being inspired by listening to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Reverend and Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. and Reverend Jesse Jackson. Listening to them taught me the importance of information sharing and communication," said Ms. Smitherman.

Community Involvement

She moved into Highbridge Gardens in the Bronx 50 years ago, raised five children there and has served three terms, each consisting of three years, as the Bronx South Council of President (COP) District Chair. You could hear the seriousness in her voice as she told me, "I was always a boisterous person when it came to getting my point across. I would attend all the Tenant Association meetings and spoke regularly about the changes needed in Highbridge Gardens and other developments in the South Bronx. I guess that's probably why, back then, I was approached by three members who sat on the Council of Presidents and asked to run in the upcoming election as Bronx South Council of Presidents District Chair."

She was a little hesitant at first because she didn't really know much about the position, but nonetheless decided to run. Ms. Smitherman had previously held the position of Highbridge Gardens Resident Association Secretary and Resident Association President and now with certainty in her voice she said, "I figured that I could help change things because in my eyes something more needed to be done."

Change Comes

Ms. Smitherman has led the way in the use of Tenant Participation Activity (TPA) Funds. (See article to the left of this column.) TPA funds are allocated by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) specifically for public housing residents to finance a variety of initiatives that promote community involvement and improvement, self-sufficiency and leadership. Ms. Smitherman submitted 84 proposals for programs that she believed would benefit the youth, young parents, students and

THE NYCHA NOT WANTED LIST

In this issue we continue publishing the names of individuals who have been permanently excluded from our public housing developments. The purpose of this list is to keep residents informed of the Housing Authority's ongoing efforts to improve the quality of life for all New Yorkers in public housing and to allow for the peaceful and safe use of our facilities. What follows is a partial list of the people excluded after hearings were held on March 25, and April 1 and 8, 2009. For a full list of the "Not Wanted" visit NYCHA's Website at nyc.gov/residentscorner. Highest Court

Ms. Sotomayor worked as an Assistant District Attorney for New York District Attorney Robert Morgenthau and for several years litigated cases for a private law firm until that big day when she was nominated to sit on the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York. At age 40, Ms. Sotomayor became the youngest judge in the Southern District of New York and the first American of Puerto Rican descent to hold this position. In 1992 she was confirmed to serve as a U.S. Circuit Court Judge becoming the first Puerto Rican woman to serve as a federal Judge in New York. Then in 1998, President Bill Clinton nominated her for a seat on the second highest court in America, the U.S. Court of Appeals in the Second Circuit, a seat she currently holds.

During a lecture in 2002, Judge Sotomayor said, "My family showed me by their example how wonderful and vibrant life is and how wonderful it is to have a Latina soul. They taught me to love America, to value its lesson that great things could be achieved if one works for them."

President Obama said he was looking for "a qualified nominee with legal and real world experience, as well as an appreciation for the impact of court decisions on everyday life." The U.S. Senate now has to hold confirmation hearings and decide whether Sonia Sotomayor's court experience and humble backgrounds make her the best choice for U.S. Supreme Court Justice.

seniors in Highbridge Gardens and several other South Bronx developments. She was successful in bringing 67 of the 84 proposed programs to fruition.

"I was able to accomplish this because I got my Resident Association Presidents to come to the monthly meetings and their attendance made their development eligible for TPA funds." In return, together, "My Resident Association Presidents and I were able to get telephone equipment installed at [Resident Association Offices in] a few developments; at Adams Houses karate classes were held; Mitchell Houses was host to an Adult Leadership and Entrepreneurship program; Mott Haven Houses offered Entrepreneurship and Young Parent Leadership programs; Highbridge Gardens held its first Intergenerational program where seniors and youth attended Broadway shows that included "The Color Purple"; Patterson, Mill Brook and Butler held College Tours to several Historical Black University/Colleges; Claremont Village and Teller Avenue offered exercise and arts-and-crafts programs. There were mentoring and housekeeping programs offered as well," Ms. Smitherman said proudly. In addition, Ms. Smitherman, said she is responsible for getting more of NYCHA's Executive Staff to attend the monthly COP meeting where she distributed informational packets. "I always kept my Vice-Presidents informed about everything thing I was doing," said Ms. Smitherman.

Time to Step Down

It's been nine years since the day Ms. Joanne Smitherman was voted in as Bronx South Council of Presidents District Chair. Nine years of being the voice of residents and advocating for her neighborhoods and now its time "to step back and give someone else a chance" said Ms. Smitherman. "That's why I decided not to run for District Chair again. It's only fair. The new Bronx South COP District Chair is Mr. John Johnson and he is a very capable person. He was my Vice-Chair for several years so I know firsthand that he will do a good job." Ms. Smitherman is now 76 years young and has a few health concerns that must take priority. Yet, she is still the President of Police Service Area #7 Community Board and will actively participate in their National Night Out Against Crime. While she might not hold the demanding job of Bronx South COP Chair she will hold the position of Vice-Chair, "I will still be there to see that NYCHA does what it's suppose to do in terms of communicating with its residents."

On behalf of NYCHA, I would like to thank you for all your service and dedication to your community. It's people like you who make NYCHA a better and more enjoyable place to live. Thanks!

NYCHA Celebrates 75 Years of Public Housing

Mill Brook Houses 50th Anniversary

The New York City Housing Authority's (NYCHA's) Mill Brook Houses, located in the Mott Haven section of the Bronx, celebrated its 50th Anniversary on May 26, 2009. Mill Brook Houses consists of 1,252 apartments in nine, 16-story buildings on 12 acres between East 135th and 137th Streets, and Brook and Cypress Avenues. It is home to 2,965 residents.

Mill Brook Houses takes its name from the Mill Brook which was once an important waterway, running through the Morrisania Estate, from East 170th Street to the East River, roughly along the course of what is today Brook Avenue. The Morrisania Estate was originally owned by the Morris family, beginning in 1670. In 1840 Gouverneur Morris, Jr., son of the famous Gouverneur Morris (January 31, 1752 – November 6, 1816), allowed a railroad to be built across the property. The estate was purchased by the neighborhood's namesake, Jordan Mott, for his iron works in 1849.

Mill Brook Houses has a strong resident association whose members have traveled to both Albany and Washington to advocate for increased government subsidy for public housing. Mill Brook has traditionally hosted Father's Day Basketball Tournaments, with teams from nearby NYCHA developments competing. A successful resident-initiated "College Bound" program has introduced high school youth to various colleges. A proclamation issued by Mayor Michael R. Bloomberg was presented to NYCHA residents and staff at the development to commemorate the occasion of the development's anniversary.

The historical photos and captions are from the LaGuardia and Wagner Archives.

NEW CHAIR VISITS BOROUGHES

At Polo Grounds in Harlem, the Chair met with Council Member Inez Dickens following a visit to the development's state-of-the-art ATAIN computer lab. The children there were obviously excited about meeting NYCHA's 21st Chair who clearly enjoyed helping one young boy with his computer-based math exercise.

The Chair ended his day in West Brighton, Staten Island, where he strolled through new housing construction at Markham Gardens, a mixed-income community being developed by a private management team on the site of a former housing development. At Markham he visited with the first returning former Markham resident Milagros Arroyo, who was ecstatic to be "back at home."

When asked about Day One, Rhea said, "This was a great start but I'm ready for tomorrow." To find out more about NYCHA's new Chair, read the Chair's Message in this paper on page 3.

assistance and has already met with all nine COP District Chairs to explain the process and provide guidance. NYCHA will also provide appropriate guidance to residents in establishing Resident Associations for those developments which don't have them.

NYCHA encourages its Resident Associations and COP District Councils to take advantage of this valuable opportunity to help public housing residents in your community enrich their lives. Whether your Resident Association chooses to propose leadership development programs, education, job-training, computer, or household safety programs, there is no time like the present to get the ball rolling. Speak with your Resident Association President today about how you might be able to implement programs in your development or to find out about programs already planned for your community.

Douglass Houses Seniors' Tile Art On Permanent Display in India and China

By Eileen Elliott

THE NEXT TIME YOU'RE IN AHMEDABAD, INDIA, STOP BY THE KANORIA CENTRE FOR THE ARTS AT THE UNIVERSITY THERE TO SEE WHAT THE SENIORS FROM THE NEW YORK CITY HOUSING AUTHORITY'S (NYCHA'S) DOUGLASS HOUSES' SENIOR CENTER IN UPPER MANHATTAN HAVE BEEN DOING. Twenty-two ceramic tiles created by 21 NYCHA seniors have crossed the oceans and are now on permanent exhibit, affixed to a courtyard wall at the Kanoria Centre—along with tiles created by artists from some 40 countries, as part of The Tile Project: Destination, the World.

Sponsored by the TransCultural Exchange Program in Boston, which is funded by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, the Tile Project has one goal: to unite the world through innovative art. Between 2004 and 2008 over 100 artists each created 22 tiles that are currently being installed at 22 sites around the globe. Not headed to India in the near future? Then maybe you can stop by the Ku Art Center in Beijing, China where the seniors also have tiles on display.

Douglass Senior Center Director Floyd Cohen spoke enthusiastically about the exhibits, and the effect participating in the program has had on the Douglass seniors. "The seniors are so happy," he said. "One of our best artists is legally blind; others are stroke victims who are partially paralyzed, one has had polio since childhood. They feel so important now that the tiles are posted on the Internet (see last paragraph) and relatives who don't live in this country can see them. It gives them such a feeling of accomplishment."

The seniors became involved when one of the artists Barbara "Babs" White, came to the Center with a piece of paper describing the Tile Project. Arts Coordinator Jennifer Wade, an art-therapist and consultant with NYCHA's Harborview Visual Arts Program, got on the case, contacted the TransCultural Exchange in Boston and received the go-ahead for the NYCHA seniors to participate.

Ms. White, who decorated one of her tiles with an image from her synchronized swimming team, commented that "the camaraderie that developed between the seniors trying to get everything done in time was really great."

"It was three weeks from the time we learned about the program until the tiles were shipped by overnight mail to China, first, then India. The seniors worked day and night," Mr. Cohen said. "Usually they come in from 1:00 PM to 4:00 PM, but some seniors started coming in at 9:00 AM and we kept the kiln fired up pretty late."

Seniors first drew their designs on the tiles, then painted them with special glaze made to withstand the 1800 degree temperature of the Center's kiln, which is used by the ceramics group that meets there twice weekly.

"We got the tiles to India with one hour to spare; bubble wrapped, hand-delivered and everything," Mr. Cohen continued.

The tiles were installed in Beijing in August 2008 and in India in October 2008 but the photos only recently became available on the Internet for the India site.

"A lot of light; a lot of strength was brought out in the seniors. It was great to see their creative potential come through and to see their work on an international site. I'm just amazed by it all," said Ms. Wade.

"It's beautiful," said Aurelina Fernandez, who is 76 years old, and has been coming to the Center for seven or eight years. "It makes me happy. You feel like you're doing something and it's pretty when you're finished."

The seniors are currently working on tiles with a marine theme for the New York Aquarium and there are hopes of tiling the Center's exterior with a garden theme.

Four elected officials have contributed funding for the senior arts program at Douglass: Senator Bill Perkins, Assembly Member Daniel O'Donnell, City Council Member Melissa Mark-Viverito and Manhattan Borough President Scott Stringer.

The tiles can be viewed at www.transculturalexchange.org by clicking on "Senior Center Project" under "Education." Better yet, as Ms. White said, "We really must go and visit."
