

International Student Financial Documentation

International students must secure financial support to meet their educational and living expenses each academic year. The total amount of expenses is based on average costs for tuition, fees, books and supplies, insurance, and room and board.

When Financial Documentation is Required

You must provide updated financial documentation to International Student Advising and Services (ISAS) whenever you request a new I-20 or DS-2019 for the following reasons:

Academic Changes/Requests	Other Changes/Requests
Change of Education Level	Updated Finances
Add Concurrent Major/Degree	Dependent I-20
Extension of Stay	F-1 Reinstatement
Post-Completion Academic Training	New Initial I-20 to regain status

Amount to Show

F-1 students must show financial documentation for one academic year (three academic terms and one vacation term), or the duration of your program, whichever is less. J-1 students must show funding for the entire period of their program or extension. The tables on the other side of this form show specific financial information for the 2013-14 academic year.

Financial documentation will remain valid for one year from the date it is submitted and can be used for other requests during that time. For new students, this includes the financial documentation submitted with the admission application. If you submitted financial documentation during the last year, but it does not cover the full amount you must show now, you must submit additional documentation that shows your ability to cover the difference.

Acceptable Forms of Financial Documentation

You may submit financial documentation from a single or multiple sources of funding for yourself, your family, or any third-party sponsor. Documentation should be written in English or include an English translation. Funding should be shown in U.S. dollars. You may include a printout of the conversion from foreign currency to U.S. dollars using OANDA.com.

Acceptable	Not Acceptable
Personal bank or savings account statement	Retirement fund accounts
Family member's bank or savings account statement*	Stock certificates
Assistantship award letter	Real estate holdings
Scholarship award letter	Letter of good financial standing from bank
Home country/employer sponsorship award letter

Affidavit of Support

International Student Advising and Services (ISAS) asks spouses, relatives, and other personal sponsors to complete the "Affidavit of Support" form when funds held in their name are provided as financial documentation by an international student. The affidavit of support helps ISAS employees confirm the legitimacy of financial documentation presented by the student.

The form can be picked up from the ISAS office or downloaded from our website:

Sponsored Students

If you are sponsored by your home government or cultural mission, or a foreign employer, you need to show updated financial documentation that covers your current major field of study or degree level and is valid for the period of the I-20 extension. You should secure the appropriate documentation from your sponsor before requesting a new I-20 or DS-2019. If your current financial guarantee does not cover the entire period, you may also need to show additional proof of funding.
