

National Instruments Take-Back Program
Request for Certificate of Destruction

Welcome to the National Instruments take-back program. As part of our commitment to making the world a better place, we want to recycle, free of charge, the NI products you no longer use. To receive a Certificate of Destruction, please complete the information below (one form for each product), print the document, and include it in the box with the hardware to be recycled. If you have questions, please contact recycling@ni.com.
