Rule 8.252(a) of the California Rules of Court establishes the procedures for a party to request that the Court of Appeal take judicial notice of a matter. Under rule 8.520(g), this same procedure for requesting judicial notice applies in proceedings before the Supreme Court. Currently, however, there is no rule establishing a procedure for requesting judicial notice in the superior court appellate division. This may make it difficult for litigants, particularly self-represented litigants, to figure out how to request judicial notice in appellate division proceedings.

This proposal would establish the same procedure for requesting judicial notice in the superior court appellate division as is currently followed in the Supreme Court and Court of Appeal.

Rule 8.809 of the California Rules of Court would be adopted, effective January 1, 2011, to read:

Title 8. Appellate Rules

Division 2. Rules Relating to the Superior Court Appellate Division

Chapter 1. General Rules Applicable to Appellate Division Proceedings

Rule 8.809. Judicial notice

(a) Motion required

(1) To obtain judicial notice by a reviewing court under Evidence Code section 459, a party must serve and file a separate motion with a proposed order.

(2) The motion must state:

(A) Why the matter to be noticed is relevant to the appeal;

(B) Whether the matter to be noticed was presented to the trial court and, if so, whether judicial notice was taken by that court; and

(C) Whether the matter to be noticed relates to proceedings occurring after the order or judgment that is the subject of the appeal.

(b) Copy of matter to be judicially noticed

If the matter to be noticed is not in the record, the party must serve and file a copy with the motion or explain why it is not practicable to do so.
