What is NRHH?

NRHH is a student-run organization dedicated to recognizing outstanding student leadership on campus. In fact, membership is restricted to the top one-percent of students living on campus. In addition to leadership, we also recognize students based on academic, recognition, scholastic, and service potentials. Members of NRHH are expected to lead by example, act as role models to the campus community, make contributions to the organization, campus, and Cortland community, and be internally motivated and driven to succeed. Through membership in NRHH, students are encouraged to enhance their leadership potential in new and exciting ways, while encouraging others to do the same.

So, what happens if I am offered induction?

- Attend weekly meetings
- Be involved in one of four committees
- Help recognize others on campus
- Write at least two OTMs (Of the Month) Awards per semester
- Possess and maintain a minimum GPA of 2.96 each semester
