

Project Self Evaluation

Equality of workload among team members is very important in the learning process. To better ensure that equality of workload among team members is occurring, I have decided to allow you to comment on whether or not you are driving this. This will be done in the form of the questionnaire below.

Circling the response listed below that best answers the question:

Much less A bit less About the same Somewhat more Much more

A. Rank your understanding of the project material relative to your team members.
