

AT YOUR SERVICE ADVERTISING RATES & SPECIFICATIONS

Mines is a four-color magazine published three times a year by Colorado School of Mines and the CSM Alumni Association. Colorado School of Mines is a highly respected applied science and engineering undergraduate and graduate university with an emphasis on energy, materials, earth resources and the environment. Mines is distributed to all known alumni residing in the U.S., campus faculty, graduate students and all members of the undergraduate senior class. The online edition is promoted via hyperlinked emails to the same group, plus all undergraduate students. The magazine aims to keep readers in touch with the school and its alumni by providing coverage of campus events, academic programs, research, student life, alumni news and other issues of concern to the community. Mines has a press run of 25,000 and has been published continuously since 1910. We have always accepted advertising.

Reader Demographics

Colorado School of Mines has an international reputation as one of the best earth science schools in the world, and its graduates are highly sought after.

- Mines’ Career Center annual report for 2011–2012 shows that 90 percent of bachelor’s degree recipients found employment in their field of study, were accepted to graduate school or returned to their home country; the average starting salary offer for this group was $64,405.
- Most graduates are engineers who pursue technical, professional or managerial careers.
- A high percentage of alumni work in energy-related fields.
- Alumni with job titles number 17,000. Of these, 33 percent carry executive-level job titles.
- About 50 percent of alumni live in the West and Southwest, 6,500 of whom are in the Denver-metro area.
- More than 60 percent of the school’s alumni are under the age of 40.

Format and Rates

Ads must be in electronic format, preferably as high-resolution PDF files (at least 300 dpi)—JPG or TIFF files are acceptable as well. Artwork should be emailed to magazine@mines.edu. While Mines will make every effort to accommodate the placement of ads, designing and modifying ads is ultimately the advertiser’s responsibility; that said, give us a call and we can probably make creating an ad very simple. Changes cannot be made to ads after the artwork deadline without special permission from the editor. Ads can be 4-color and are priced by their height. (For information on display advertising, please visit minesmagazine.com/advertising.)
