“NAGPRA Success Stories”

The National Association of Tribal Historic Preservation Officers is gathering “Success Stories” of how tribal communities used the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA) for their benefit. We hope to compile a sampling of some of these stories to be shared during the commemoration of the 15th Anniversary of NAGPRA, which will occur on November 16, 2005. Your assistance with this project will give a general overview of why this Act has such meaning to Native people.

Please complete one form for each success story. Attach additional sheets, if needed. Related, written information (reports, for example) may also be attached, if you feel that is helpful and appropriate. If you would rather respond in a letter that contains the information below, please send to NATHPO at contact information listed below.
