EXPEDITION TO Antarctica

FEATURING THE DELUXE M.S. LE BOREAL

FEBRUARY 15-28, 2011

Dear UCLA Alumni and Friends,

“Everything wears an aspect of unreality,” Ernest Shackleton wrote. “Icebergs hang upside-down in the sky, the land appears as layers of silvery or golden cloud, cloud banks look like land, and icebergs masquerade as islands.” This is Antarctica, Earth’s last frontier. Normal human scales and reference points disappear amid the fantastically shaped icebergs, penguin rookeries and breaching whales. This is nature in its most pristine form.

Few travelers have followed the adventuresome explorers Shackleton, Amundsen and Scott to the Antarctic. Today, we are proud to introduce a spectacular itinerary to this untouched wilderness aboard the exclusively chartered, deluxe M.S. LE BOREAL, a state-of-the-art vessel launched in May 2010. Raising the small ship cruise experience to new heights, M.S. LE BOREAL is the finest vessel cruising the Antarctic waters, combining innovative design with personalized service in a welcoming and intimate setting and featuring private balconies in 95% of the deluxe, outside accommodations.

To enhance your Antarctic experience, M.S. LE BOREAL is staffed with an expert expedition team of naturalists who will guide you on excursions ashore. Under their direction, you will board sturdy Zodiac craft for landings on rocky shores and beaches to observe the antics of Antarctica’s bountiful wildlife—penguins and seals, especially, are unafraid of human visitors—and discover the secrets of the White Continent.

Experience Antarctica now in its unspoiled state. You will sail during the lingering light of the austral summer, when long sunrises paint the icescape in soft shades of pink and gold as whales, seals and penguins flock to glimmering turquoise glaciers and sparkling icebergs. I personally traveled to Antarctica last year, and will be happy to answer any questions you may have. It truly is a trip of-a-lifetime, and I encourage you to book soon as this trip always sells out.

Sincerely,

Christel Paillet
Director, Alumni Travel

Depart from the U.S.

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINA

Wednesday, February 16

Arrive in cosmopolitan Buenos Aires and check into the deluxe MARRIOTT PLAZA HOTEL, adjacent to the chic boutique-lined Calle Florida. This evening, attend the welcome reception.

BUENOS AIRES

Thursday, February 17

The city tour highlights Buenos Aires' diverse barrios (neighborhoods), from the colorful La Boca district and the city center's grand public buildings to the parks of Palermo and the charming old quarter of San Telmo. Visit the historic Recoleta Cemetery, famous for its ornate vaults and sculptures and as the final resting place of the legendary Evita Perón.

Known as the "Wanderer," the majestic albatross has a wingspan of up to 11 feet, enabling it to fly for hundreds of miles at a time in search of food.

BUENOS AIRES/USHUAIA

Friday, February 18

Fly to rustic Ushuaia, the world's southernmost city and gateway to Antarctica. From here, embark M.S. LE BOREAL this afternoon and cruise through the Beagle Channel, named for the ship that carried Charles Darwin on his South American voyages. Attend the Captain's welcome reception this evening.

CRUISING DRAKE PASSAGE

Saturday, February 19

Cross the legendary Drake Passage. Upon reaching the Antarctic Convergence, watch for breaching fin, humpback and minke whales and seabirds feeding on plankton and krill brought to the surface by the cold Antarctic surface waters merging with the warmer waters of the South Pacific

Both elegant and entertaining, penguins are often the first to greet visitors on Antarctica's shores.

Please note that the ship's cruising pattern and destinations are dependent on weather, ice and sea conditions and are subject to change.

One of the smallest but most beautiful South Shetland Islands, Half Moon Island is a crescent-shaped isle known for its craggy volcanic rock formations and tranquil lagoons. It is also the site of Camara Station, a base staffed by Argentine biologists monitoring regional wildlife. Observe the antics of the island's colony of chinstrap penguins and enjoy the lingering twilight of the Antarctic summer.

Deception Island is actually the rim of a massive dormant volcano crater that encircles a lake known as Port Foster. The ship enters Port Foster through dramatic Neptune's Bellows, a sublime harbor ringed by snowcapped peaks and sheer cliffs. In Pendulum Cove, you may, conditions permitting, have the opportunity to wade or swim in steaming, geothermally heated waters. On Baily Head, see a colony of one-quarter of a million chinstrap penguins. Then walk along the black sand beaches of Telefon Bay to nearby craters, which offer fascinating insight into the volcanic activity that created the island and played a pivotal role in the natural history of the region.

In Paradise Bay, awesome cliffs of ice descend from the surrounding mountains into the floating iceberg-laden waters along the western coast of the Antarctic Peninsula. Named by 19th-century whalers who sought shelter in its coves, Paradise Bay is an ideal sanctuary for marine wildlife including humpback whales, crabeater seals and Cape petrels. Listen for the low rumbling of Rudolf Glacier as it calves chunks of ice into Neko Harbor, one of the most dramatic and spectacular sights in Antarctica. Named for an early 20th-century floating whaling factory, the harbor is surrounded by soaring glaciers and snow-covered mountains. Here, make your first "continental landing" in Antarctica.

Cruise through breathtaking, glacier-lined Neumayer Channel to Port Lockroy. Originally constructed in 1944 by an eight-man team as an intelligence post for and Atlantic Oceans. The expedition team of naturalists will present insightful lectures to prepare you for your arrival in Antarctica.

CRUISING ANTARCTICA Sunday, February 20 to Thursday, February 24

The ship cruises below the 60th parallel to the outer shores and islands of the Antarctic Peninsula, the world's last frontier. Here, explore Earth's most pristine wilderness, where towering mountains of ice and lava create abrupt coastlines and islands, and constantly changing patterns of ice stretch as far as the eye can see. In this seemingly harsh environment, a vast array of wildlife flourishes, including millions of penguins, countless seabirds and thousands of seals and whales. From spectacular volcanic topography and majestic glaciers to fascinating wildlife and historic outposts, this itinerary incorporates the following destinations for the complete Antarctica experience.

In contrast to sociable Adélie penguins, who congregate in large colonies, the leopard seal cherishes his solitude and independence.

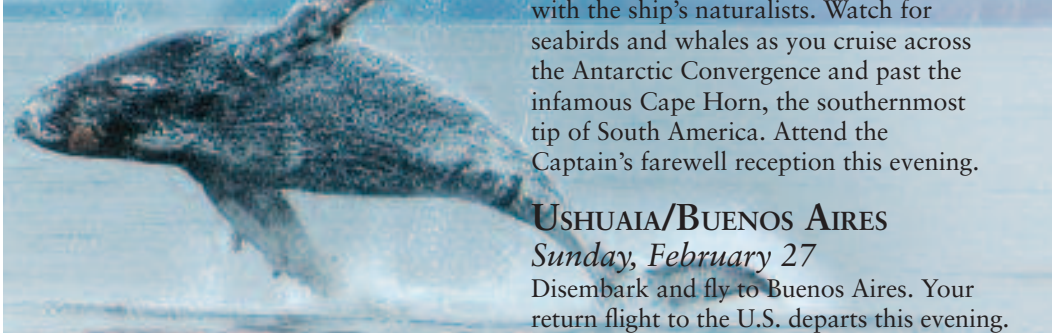

A visit to Antarctica offers an unparalleled opportunity to get an up-close view of chinstrap penguins in their natural habitat.

British espionage during World War II, Port Lockroy was converted into a whaling station and scientific base in the 1950s. It is nestled among glistening mountain peaks as high as 6,000 feet, and the surrounding grounds are populated by blue-eyed shags and gentoo penguins. Gain insight into the lives of past explorers at the British Antarctic Survey Museum and send a postcard with an Antarctica postmark from the official British Post Office.

Weighing up to 50 tons, this breaching humpback whale migrates to Antarctic waters to feed during the austral summer.

Just off of Port Lockroy, enjoy an excursion to the rocky shores of Joula Point on Wiencke Island. Experience this rare opportunity to view the nearly intact skeleton of a large whale, and also see large numbers of gentoo penguins and birdlife, particularly blue-eyed shags and kelp gulls.

Flanked by sheer cliffs of towering glaciers between the Antarctic Peninsula and Booth Island, Lemaire Channel offers views of seven majestic miles of mountains and wildlife combined with fascinating patterns of ice floes. Call at Petermann Island, the southernmost point of your journey, and watch its thriving rookeries of Adélie and gentoo penguins and blue-eyed shags. Enter the Weddell Sea and spot the enormous tabular icebergs that have broken off from the Larsen Ice Shelf. See Brown Bluff's

2,450-foot-high, rust-colored cliffs jutting into the Antarctic Sound, and land on the shelving beach at the base of the bluff. Observe friendly members of the area's flourishing colony of Adélie penguins, who may approach you for an up-close encounter.

CRUISING DRAKE PASSAGE

Friday, February 25

Relax and reflect onboard today as the ship turns north and crosses the Drake Passage.

DRAKE PASSAGE/CAPE HORN

Saturday, February 26

Enjoy lively, informative discussions with the ship's naturalists. Watch for seabirds and whales as you cruise across the Antarctic Convergence and past the infamous Cape Horn, the southernmost tip of South America. Attend the Captain's farewell reception this evening.

AMERICA AND ANTARCTIC EXPLORATION

The intrepid deeds of such famed European explorers of Antarctica as Roald Amundsen, Robert Falcon Scott and Ernest Shackleton have long been recounted in gripping personal tales and history books. Less known, however, is that Americans played a significant role in the exploration of Antarctica. Foremost among them was Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd. Scion of a distinguished Virginia family, he led the 1928-30 U.S. Antarctic expedition and, in 1929, he made the first overflight of the South Pole. Byrd later led three additional expeditions to Antarctica and named a large portion of the continent Marie Byrd Land after his wife.

Another American prominent in the exploration of the South Polar region was Lincoln Ellsworth. This Chicago native made the first flight across Antarctica in 1935. In the course of his journey, he discovered the continent's loftiest mountain range, later named in his honor.

YOUR EXPEDITION TEAM

Members of the onboard expedition team are seasoned experts and naturalists who have studied and traveled extensively in the most remote regions of the world. Their areas of expertise span marine biology, ornithology, ecology, geology, glaciology, conservation and environmental education, as well as history and photography. The team's experience, enthusiasm for sharing their knowledge and a particular interest in climate change and its impact on the world's ecosystems make them exceptionally well suited to accompany your Expedition to Antarctica.
