OPTIONAL

Nothing in this section is either expected or required. We simply want to be certain you have every opportunity to tell us about yourself.

Supplementary materials

Although the required components of the application to Harvard provide an ample basis on which to make our decisions, students with exceptional talents or interests may send us music tapes, slides of artwork, or selected samples of academic work for us to consider as part of their application files. Submissions are evaluated by faculty; such an evaluation might make a difference in the Committee's decision, so applicants should send supplementary materials only if their work is unusually advanced. It is best to send duplicates of your work, because we cannot return these items. Please keep in mind that sending supplementary materials is neither required nor expected.

Check here if you are planning to send supplementary materials to be evaluated as part of your application.

Additional Essays

Occasionally, students feel that college application forms do not provide a sufficient opportunity to convey important information about themselves or their accomplishments. If there is something you would like us to know, please inform us on a separate sheet (with your name on it, just in case it becomes detached). If you wish to include an additional essay, you may do so.

Possible Topics:

- Unusual circumstances in your life
- Travel or living experiences in other countries
- Books that have affected you the most
- An academic experience (course, project, paper, or research topic) that has meant the most to you
- A list of the books you have read during the past twelve months

Candidates for any binding Early Decision program at another college are not permitted to apply for Early Action at Harvard.
