Application for an APEC Business Travel Card

1390

(for Australian passport holders only)

Important – Please read this information carefully before you complete your application. Once you have completed your application we strongly advise that you keep a copy for your records.

What is an APEC Business Travel Card?

An Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) Business Travel Card (ABTC) provides frequent business travellers with a short-term entry facility to economies that are participating members of the ABTC scheme. For a list of these economies, see www.businessmobility.org/key/abtc.html

The size of a credit card, the ABTC:

- identifies the holder's passport details;
- lists the economies the holder can enter and stay in (for a period of up to 60 or 90 days for each visit, depending on the economy) without separately applying for a visa;
- provides access to fast-track entry and exit lanes at major airports of participating economies; and
- is valid for 5 years from the date of card issue, or until the holder's passport expires, whichever is earlier.

Note: The ABTC is linked to a passport. Card holders must always carry their passport when they travel. If their passport is renewed, lost or stolen, they must advise the Department of Immigration and Border Protection (the department) to arrange for a replacement ABTC (if eligible). Please see Passport changes for further information.

Who should use this application?

Australian passport holders who:

- believe they meet the eligibility requirements outlined in this form; and
- have never been convicted or found guilty of a criminal offence.

Note: A current card holder is required to submit a new application when their current card expires. Existing ABTCs are not able to be extended or renewed. If you are not an Australian passport holder, but you hold a passport issued by another APEC economy, you may be eligible to apply through your home economy, see http://travel.apec.org/intro.html

Application for an ABTC can only be made in one economy at any one time.

Completing this application

You must answer all of the questions on the application form truthfully and completely. The provision of false or misleading information may result in your application being refused, your ABTC being cancelled or penalties being imposed on you while you are travelling between APEC economies.

Incomplete applications may be returned to you by the department and the processing of your application will be delayed until all information is provided.

Eligibility requirements

To be eligible for an ABTC, Australian applicants must satisfy the following business-related criteria:

- the applicant must demonstrate frequent travel (constituting a minimum of 4 visits during the previous 12 month period) to APEC economies (other than Australia or their country of residence) for business purposes; and
- the applicant must be:
 - the CEO, CFO or regional/country head of a registered business entity; or
 - an owner/director of a registered business entity; or
 - a Board member of a registered business entity; or
 - the CEO or CFO of an Australian-based business peak body; or
 - an employee of a registered business entity nominated by the aforementioned CEO/CFO/regional head or owner/ director of the organisation; and
- the business entity or Australian-based peak business body must be engaged in international trade or investment between APEC economies; and
- if the applicant is residing outside Australia be authorised for residency and work purposes by the relevant immigration authority in that economy.

Passport changes

It is important to note that under the ABTC scheme, permission to enter member economies is granted for a 5 year period. If you renew your passport within 5 years of the card issuance date, you must advise the department of your new passport details to allow a replacement card to be issued for the remainder of the 5 year period.

Note: A new application is not required for a replacement card to be issued. The card holder is required to contact the department via email, providing a certified true copy of the biodata page of their new Australian passport. Once processed a replacement card will be sent.

As there is provision for only one passport to be linked to an ABTC, failure to advise the department of the correct passport may result in refusal to enter foreign member economies.

Excluded people

The following people are specifically excluded from being eligible for an APEC Business Travel Card:

- professional athletes;
- news correspondents;
- entertainers, musicians, artists or people engaged in similar occupations;
- dependent spouses and children of business people;
- · people seeking employment overseas; and
- people intending to engage in paid employment overseas.

Processing your application

The Australian Government assesses your application to determine whether you are eligible for an ABTC under business and character criteria. If you are assessed as eligible, your application will then be distributed to all participating APEC economies.

These economies may vet your application against their immigration requirements to determine whether to clear you for entry and, in some cases, they may issue you a visa. The length of time taken by foreign economies to process your application can vary significantly and is not controlled by the department.

Once all economies have vetted your application, your card will be issued with a list of those economies that have cleared you for entry.

Interim cards

Once your application for an ABTC is approved by the department you have the option of being issued with an interim card if you require entry to an economy urgently and cannot wait for other participating APEC economies to vet your application.

If you would like to receive an interim card, at no additional charge, please complete Part J-Options for receiving an interim card.

Note: You must have received approval from at least one APEC economy to be eligible for an interim ABTC.

Interim cards are issued as soon as selected economies have vetted your application.

Note: If you are issued with an interim card, the 5 year validity period of your final card will begin from the date your interim card was issued.

Charges

To check the application charge, refer to the department's website www.border.gov.au/trav/visa/fees or check with the nearest office of the department.

Fees may be subject to adjustment at any time.

Fees are non-refundable and payable regardless of an application being approved or declined.
