Synthesis Part 1

In the space provided, explain the project on which you worked in language that can be understood by a non-scientist. Using non-technical language or jargon, describe the goals and objectives of the project, and why it is useful, interesting, or important beyond the skills that you acquired while completing the project. In short, explain why a larger audience should care.

Synthesis Part 2

In the space provided, reflect upon how this experience helped to increase your understanding of the interdisciplinary connection between various natural science disciplines and between natural sciences and social sciences.

Synthesis Part 3

In the space provided, reflect upon how well prepared you felt for this internship. Are there things you wish you had learned prior to this experience? Topics you did not use that you expected to use more? Topics that were unexpected and new? In general, provide any feedback you wish to share on the level of preparation you received for this internship experience.
