What is autism?

Imagine being told that your child has autism, a lifelong, neurological disability that significantly affects communication, social skills, and behaviour that compromises quality of life for both the children and their families.

This month, 80 children will be diagnosed with an Autism Spectrum Disorder in BC alone. Out of every 88 newborns, 1 has autism, and there is no known cause.

What is PALS Autism School?

PALS, the first school of its kind in BC, was established by dedicated moms who had a vision to establish a specialized non-profit independent school providing a safe environment for children and adolescents with autism to socialize, gain self-worth, progress academically and participate in extra-curricular activities.

PALS capitalizes on each child's strengths and unique qualities while targeting his/her weaknesses using a scientifically validated teaching method – Applied Behavioural Analysis (ABA). The school's team of highly skilled and enthusiastic teachers follow a modified curriculum dependent on each child's learning style.

We need your support!

The cost of our specialized autism education is understandably high; we need your support to help maintain our goal of affordable tuition for all families and provide the necessary tools to effectively teach the children and young adults with autism.
