It may be mutually beneficial to exchange certain information that the disclosing Party considers to be Proprietary Information.

The Parties, therefore, agree as follows:

1. Proprietary Information shall mean any information of any form or characteristic designated by the disclosing Party, verbally or by writing, to be proprietary and/or confidential, or is otherwise known to the receiving Party as Proprietary Information at the time of its disclosure. Proprietary Information shall include, but is not limited to, specifications, designs, process information, technical data, marketing and business plans, customers' names, product road maps, pricing, prototypes, toolkits, software, and/or intellectual property that the disclosing Party considers to be protected by applicable laws. Proprietary Information shall include analyses, notes, abstracts, summaries or other documents prepared by the receiving Party using the Proprietary Information of the disclosing Party. The disclosing Party shall reduce to writing as soon as practicable any Proprietary Information that is disclosed verbally and notify the receiving Party in writing of the verbal disclosure.
2. Neither Party shall disclose, in whole or in part, by any means whatsoever, any Proprietary Information provided by the disclosing Party to any third party without the express prior written consent of the disclosing Party. The receiving Party shall not alter, modify, decompile, disassemble, reverse engineer, translate or create derivative works from the disclosing Party's Proprietary Information. The receiving Party shall use Proprietary Information of the disclosing Party only for the limited purpose described above and not for any other purpose.
3. Each Party shall utilize the same degree of care to preserve and protect the other Party's Proprietary Information from disclosure, and otherwise limit access, as it uses to protect its own Proprietary Information, which degree of care will not be less than reasonable care. The non-disclosure obligations provided for herein shall not apply to the extent that the written record demonstrates such information was:
 - (a) In the public domain,
 - (b) Known to the receiving Party prior to disclosure from the disclosing Party,

- (c) Disclosed by the receiving party with the prior written consent of the disclosing Party,
- (d) Independently developed by the receiving Party without reliance on the Party's proprietary information.; or,
- (e) Is disclosed pursuant to the requirement of a Governmental Agency or disclosure is otherwise required by operation of law.

Notwithstanding the forgoing, the receiving Party shall have the burden of proving the applicability of any subparagraph 3(a) through 3(e).

4. Proprietary Information disclosed under this Agreement shall be and remain the property of the disclosing Party. Any disclosure of Proprietary information under this Agreement shall not constitute prior publication or public use regarding Patent eligibility. Nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed, either expressly or by limitation, to convey any right or license, or be construed as creating any kind of partnership or agency between the parties nor may either Party assign or delegate any obligation under this Agreement without the prior written consent of the other Party. Neither Party is obligated to disclose Proprietary information by reason of this Agreement. No warranty is made regarding the accuracy of Proprietary information provided to the other Party.
5. This Agreement shall be effective for a period of ten (10) years after the date of execution below. Either Party may terminate this Agreement thirty (30) days after written notice to the other Party. However, obligations of the Parties shall survive termination of this Agreement. Upon termination or expiration, all Proprietary Information shall be returned to the disclosing Party or destroyed.
6. In the event Proprietary Information is orally disclosed or disclosed without restrictive marking hereunder, the disclosing party thereof agrees to notify the receiving party of such disclosure, and reduce same to writing or other tangible media referencing the place and date thereof, and the names of the receiving parties employees to whom such disclosure was made. The disclosing Party shall promptly thereafter resubmit such Proprietary Information to the receiving Party with appropriate marking. The receiving Party, at the disclosing Party's request, shall either return or destroy all unmarked copies of such Proprietary Information.
7. In the event that the receiving Party is required to disclose Proprietary Information by any legal order the receiving Party shall provide the disclosing Party with immediate written notice of same so that the disclosing Party may have the opportunity to seek an appropriate protective order. If disclosing Party does not obtain a protective order, receiving Party shall disclose only such part of the Proprietary Information as is lawfully required.
