TALUS Forecast: One Million Jobs Nearly one million job opportunities will be added to the economy of Southeast Michigan (SEM) by 1990. By that time, the number of jobs will increase in every major category of employment except two - agriculture and mining. Manufacturing jobs will increase only slightly. But in professional and related services (teaching, retail sales, clerical services, law, medicine, finance, insurance, etc.), job opportunities will treble. These are among the forecasts newly-published by TALUS (Detroit Regional Transportation and Land Use Study) with release of a technical report: "Economic Study - Employment Trends." The employment forecasts are essential to TALUS' "regional growth model", a complex set of mathematical equations which predict the future distribution of population and economic activities throughout the seven-county region in response to TALUS' 1990 Plan. TALUS is a special project of the Planning Division of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. It is financed jointly with federal, state,
