Build your baby the perfect NURSERY

From shabby chic to their favorite characters, putting together your baby's nursery is both fun and exciting. Pick a theme that matches your personality, but remember you will have to live with the look for a few years!

If you're on a budget, decorate for less by choosing a theme that goes the distance – flowers, classic colors, sports, etc., and pieces of furniture that pull double duty. A convertible crib that transforms into a toddler bed will lengthen the life of the piece. A changing table that's also a dresser is both a space and money saver!

Also, decorative storage pieces provide both function and fashion. They easily add a pop of color or fun print to the room's décor, but can also help keep your nursery clutter-free.

ROAD TRIPS with baby

Always check the height and weight requirements of the exact car seat you are purchasing, they can vary from model to model.

Even though you may be confident that you've done everything right, it's in your best interest to visit a car seat inspection station. To find one, go to <http://www.seatcheck.org/> and search by ZIP code or go to the NHTSA website for helpful tips on installing your car seat.

Car Seats/Infant Car Seats

Fits babies snugly and are generally used during the first year of life. Rear facing only and can accommodate babies up to about 35 pounds.

Convertible Car Seats

Larger and heavier than an infant car seat. Can be used both rear and forward facing.

ALWAYS register your baby gear such as strollers and car seats so you will be updated on important notices and recalls.*

Keep your baby ACTIVE

Activity centers or stationary gyms keep pre-crawling infants mentally and physically active. They engage your infant with toys, puzzles, sounds and challenges that help develop their motor skills, visual tracking and more while keeping them safe and happy!

Stationary gyms can also keep mommy and daddy happy too. Knowing your baby is engaged and in a safe place, buys you a little time to get a few things done, however, never leave baby unattended.

Books are also a fun way to keep baby engaged and happy. Board books are sturdy and fun for baby to hold and look at; some even have textured pages so you and your little one can really get involved with the story!

Choose the right BABY TOYS

Baby toys are so much more than just fun play things. They help introduce your baby to the world around them through sound, visual stimulation and tactile sensations. When your baby is exploring a new toy, they are also learning, therefore, choosing toys is more important than you think.

Look for toys that work when baby is lying on his/her back, and will also transition into "tummy" toys when your baby can roll over and support themselves. Remember as your child's skills develop, you should introduce new toys that help them progress and learn.

Note: Always check the age recommendations on any toy you are purchasing for your child.

Make BATH TIME a Fun Time

There's no need to bathe your baby every day, but when it is bath time here are a few pointers for making sure it is both a relaxing and safe time!

NEVER, ever leave your baby unsupervised in the tub. It is best to always keep one hand on your infant while bathing.

Babies get chilled quickly, so make sure your bathroom is comfortably warm (try for around 75 degrees). Test the water with your hand or elbow before you place your baby in the water. It should be comfortably warm, but never hot.

As your child grows and moves from an infant tub into the family tub, you may want to use a bath seat or ring to keep them upright and comfortable. Also, make sure they never stand in the tub.
