General Information

1. Direct your questions about the awards program or about your application to the AGC of California Safety Office at (916) 371-2422.
2. Judging is conducted by a panel and includes the Chair and Vice Chair of the Safety and Health Council along with representatives from first place winners of the prior year's competition, a Safety Professional of the Year, a specialty contractor representative and a council member at large.
3. Finalists are judged in a second round which may include industry experts.
4. Award procedures are updated annually by representatives from the Safety & Health Council.
5. Completed applications are kept confidential, reviewed only by the judges.
6. All applications must be completed and submitted according to the required format and instructions. Applications that do not follow the required format will lose points or be eliminated.
7. The award is based on calendar year 2014.
8. Applicant must be a member of AGC of California in good standing for 2014 and 2015.
9. Applicants may not have had a fatality in the year for which they are applying or between the application submittal and the awards event in 2015.
10. If qualified, members may compete in more than one category, but separate applications are required for each category.
11. Each applicant company must have its own autonomous safety program and separately designated safety manager. Companies under the same parent company may not apply in the same category.
12. All awards are based on the member's construction activities in California only, not subsidiary or out of state operations.
13. Judges reserve the right not to make awards in any category in which they feel the applicants do not meet exemplary standards.
14. Electronic photos of your project should be included and submitted with your application via email. Application file size must not exceed 5 MB.
