

"Pay It Forward" Concept Map

In the movie "Pay It Forward", the main character begins the process of random acts of kindness by encouraging other people to do something nice for someone else. The expectation is that when that happens, that they will then move on to commit a random act of kindness for someone else. We can all easily imagine that happening in our own lives, or we may have seen it in action.

Using the concept map, beginning with yourself, detail how your one act of kindness could prompt others to "pay it forward" as well. To assist your understanding, there is an example below. On the second page, there is a blank map for you to complete.

“Pay It Forward” Concept Map Worksheet

Using the concept map below, beginning with yourself, detail how your one act of kindness could prompt others to “pay it forward” as well. Put the names/relationships in the oval spaces, and write the specifics of the “random act of kindness” in the squares.

Extension Activity
Choose one of the people in the oval circles (except yourself) and journal their reaction to having been the recipient of a “random act of kindness”.