WHY SHOULD I READ THIS?

If your vehicle failed an emissions test or was rejected for system monitors, please take a few moments to review the information in this report. The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and the Air Team created this report to help you identify a repair shop that can diagnose and repair your vehicle and to answer frequently asked questions about the Illinois vehicle emissions test.

WHAT IS THE REPAIR SHOP REPORT CARD?

The Repair Shop Report Card (Report Card) is an indication of a shop's ability to diagnose and repair vehicles that have not passed the emissions test. Each shop listed has a grade based on their ability to repair emissions systems. The grade is based on emissions repair data and is calculated by dividing the number of successful emissions-related repairs by the total number of emissions-related repairs done. Shops must have at least five emissions repairs during six months and achieve a success rate of 75% or greater to appear in the Report Card. They are assigned a letter grade (A=93-100%, B=84-92%, and C=75-83%). The report is updated quarterly. Shops are listed by grade, followed by number of repairs.

SUGGESTIONS ON HOW TO CHOOSE A REPAIR SHOP

Although motorists are free to choose any repair shop, we recommend you consider having your vehicle repaired by a qualified technician who is trained, experienced, and equipped to repair emissions systems.

The repair of emissions systems has emerged as a specialty in automotive repair. Just as all repair shops do not work on transmissions or do front-end alignments, not all repair shops work on emissions. The diagnosis and repair of vehicles emissions systems can involve the repair or replacement of multiple components and can be very challenging — even to veteran technicians. Be prepared to take the time necessary to discuss your vehicle's test results, the shop's repair procedures, and the potential costs involved.

When choosing a repair shop, it's important to consider:

- Grades: The repair shop's grades listed in this report. The higher the grade, the more success it has in repairing emissions systems.
- Number of Repairs: The volume of repairs performed by the repair shop, not just the grade. Large numbers of repairs and a high grade are generally more indicative of a skillful shop.
- Certified Technicians: Whether the shop employs a technician who is certified by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE).
- Industry Affiliations: Whether the shop has automotive industry affiliations, such as the Automotive Service Association (ASA) or the Alliance of Automotive Service Providers (AASP). (Additional information about ASE, ASA, and AASP is provided later in the Report Card.)

THE REPAIR PROCESS

Statistics indicate most emissions problems are not due to engine tune-up parts. The average vehicle owner is probably unable to properly diagnose and repair emissions systems because of the specialized training, experience, and equipment required to repair these modern vehicles. If your vehicle doesn't run well, that problem certainly will need to be corrected first. However, many vehicles that do not pass the emissions test appear to run well, yet have higher than allowable exhaust and/or evaporative emissions. A series of inspections and diagnostics will be necessary before a solution can be determined.

In most cases, the repair shop will need to perform several steps just to know where to start. They will need to interpret the Vehicle Inspection Report (VIR) that you received in the test lane, road test the vehicle to check performance, and inspect the vehicle to verify all emissions-control parts are operating as designed. They also will have the resources to research available factory and industry service bulletins and relevant warranty information.

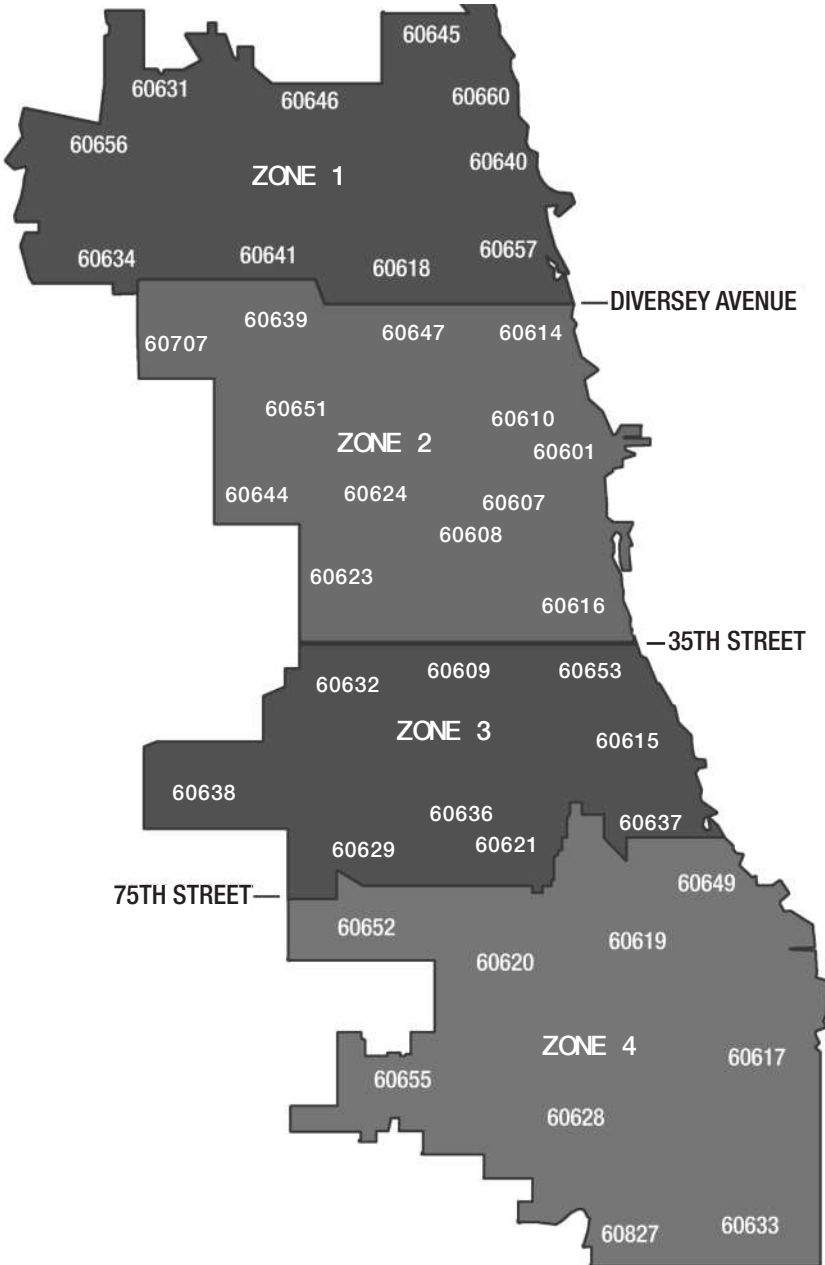

That's a lot for starters, but it avoids guesswork, mistakes and unneeded replacement of expensive components. Even then, this may not uncover the exact cause. These steps are intended to document conditions before the repair, and reveal systems or components not functioning correctly. Additional testing may be required, and often more than one component or system may be at fault.

A number of repair shops may not be listed in the Report Card, possibly including the shop you regularly use. You should feel free to ask your regular repair shop – or any shop – what experience they have in repairing emissions systems, whether they completed formal training, and membership in professional organizations. It is important you consider all available information before choosing a repair shop.

ONCE YOU CHOOSE A REPAIR SHOP:

- Be sure to mention your vehicle failed or was rejected for system monitors, *and
- give the shop the Vehicle Inspection Report, *and
- give the shop the Repair Data Form.

ASE

The National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence

(ASE) tests technicians on their knowledge of vehicle diagnosis and repair. Many shops display ASE signs and employ technicians who are ASE certified. Certificates are awarded in the following categories of demonstrated competence:

- Engine repair
- Automatic transmission/transaxle
- Electrical/electronic systems
- Heating and air conditioning
- Manual drive train and axles
- Brakes
- Suspension and steering
- Engine performance
- Advanced engine performance

ASE certifications that apply to emissions failures are:

- electrical/electronic systems (code A6)
- engine performance (code A8)
- advanced engine performance (code L1)

Further information is available on the ASE website at www.asecert.org.

ASA

The Automotive Service Association

(ASA) is a national association of automotive service facilities. The basic philosophy of ASA is:

- to improve the automotive service industry by committing to high quality repairs at a fair price
- to offer customers a price estimate for all work to be performed
- to employ highly-skilled technicians
- to uphold a high professional standard and seek to correct abuses within the industry.

ASA members receive ongoing information, such as service bulletins, legislative updates, and environmental information. Members display the red, white and blue ASA logo. Further information is available on the ASA website at www.asashop.org, or by phone at 877-272-4563.

AASP

The Alliance of Automotive Service Providers (AASP) is a national association representing the automotive service industry in the United States. AASP affiliates represent over 7,000 mechanical and collision repair shops nationwide. AASP works to strengthen its state and regional affiliates by:

- Promoting common business interests
- Forging strategic alliances
- Monitoring federal legislation and regulations

Further information is available on the AASP website at www.autoserviceproviders.com, or by phone at 651-290-6267.

On-Board Diagnostics

On-Board Diagnostics - Generation II (OBD) is a complex computer system installed on 1996 and newer cars and light trucks, and 2008 and newer heavy duty vehicles. This system is an early warning of potentially high emissions.

How is the driver notified of a problem?

The driver is notified when a special lamp on the dash called a Malfunction Indicator Lamp (MIL) comes on. This light is reserved for emissions control and monitoring systems only. The MIL is turned on when OBD finds a problem that could cause emissions to exceed federal standards.

Which light is the MIL?

Automobiles use a variety of warning lamps to notify drivers of different conditions. However, in the case of the emissions MIL, either the phrase "Service Engine Soon," or "Check Engine,” is used, as in the following examples:

Or, a standard symbol can be as in this example:

What does it mean if the MIL is on?

OBD turns the MIL on when it finds a condition that may cause high engine or evaporative emissions. In some cases, it means that immediate service is needed to prevent expensive damage and high emissions.

How is this test performed?

When a vehicle is brought into the emissions station test lane, a connector is attached to its OBD system, and the test computer looks for problems that have been identified by the OBD system.

What is checked when the OBD test is performed?

The OBD system checks for any Diagnostic Trouble Codes (DTC) that may have illuminated the MIL and the status of Readiness Monitors.

What are the OBD test results used for?

The results of the OBD test helps repair technicians to diagnose and repair the vehicle's emissions systems. The results usually do not indicate the exact fix or component failure but instead, direct the technician to the probable area of concern.

What are Diagnostic Trouble Codes?

Diagnostic Trouble Codes (DTC) indicate which system or component might be causing the problem. Even though this is helpful to the repair technician, diagnostic time charges will generally be needed to isolate the problem and identify the proper repair.

Are OBD related repairs covered by warranty?

Federal law requires that the emission control systems on 1995 and later model year vehicles be warranted for 2 years or 24,000 miles. Many automakers provide extended warranty coverage beyond what is currently required by federal law.

Federal law also requires that the onboard computer and the catalytic converter on 1995 and later model year vehicles be warranted for 8 years or 80,000 miles. Check with your repair facility, dealership or manufacturer for complete coverage.

System Readiness Monitors

System readiness monitors are part of a vehicle's on-board computer. These monitors test the OBD system and find problems.

When monitor test sequences are performed and no problems are found, each monitor will be set to a "ready" status.

If the test sequences are not performed, a monitor will be in a "not ready" status and may cause a reject at a testing station.

In most cases, vehicles perform readiness checks during normal driving. Your owner's manual may also contain helpful information on preparing your OBD equipped vehicle for an emissions test. However, when readiness monitors do not set to "ready", it is very possible that something is preventing the computer from monitoring the emissions control system and the problem needs to be diagnosed and repaired by a qualified repair technician.

Frequently Asked Questions

If your vehicle did not pass the Illinois vehicle emissions test, it needs to be repaired and retested. These are some of the questions most frequently asked by owners. If you have any questions not listed here, please speak to a customer service representative at any full service station or your repair shop.

Why did my vehicle fail the emissions test?

Your vehicle failed for one or more of the following reasons:

- The check engine light has been illuminated and Diagnostic Trouble Codes are present indicating a potential problem with the OBD system that could result in excessive emissions.
- Your vehicle was unable to transmit necessary information to our OBD testing equipment.

Specific details for your test are printed on the Vehicle Inspection Report.

I maintain my car and it is running fine, so why did it fail the test?

Generally, emission-control devices have little impact on the driveability of a vehicle. Your vehicle may appear to be operating fine but have an emissions system failure. Even the best maintained vehicle might experience these types of failures.

Do I have to use a repair shop listed in this Report Card?

No, but this Report Card is an informational source that helps motorists to select a repair shop that has been successful at diagnosing and repairing emissions related problems.

Why is a “pre-existing condition” a concern?

Vehicles are expected to perform as designed during the emissions test. If a vehicle has symptoms suggesting a problem, operating the vehicle could cause further damage and/or interfere with the emissions test. A pre-existing condition could also cause a part to fail during the test due to age, wear, neglect or previous damage. Care is taken to avoid problems during the test, but motorists are ultimately responsible for the condition and normal operation of their vehicles. Vehicles that cannot be operated safely during an emissions test are probably not safe to operate on the road. If you are in doubt about the condition of your vehicle, you should consider consulting a repair technician before an emissions test.

Why can't a test station tell me what's wrong with my vehicle?

The test results provided to the lane inspectors do not provide diagnostic information. Diagnostic work must be completed by a qualified repair technician to determine why the vehicle did not pass the emissions test.

What is a waiver?

A vehicle may qualify for a waiver for the current test period if it has failed at least two tests and fulfills all waiver requirements listed on the Repair Data Form. Very few vehicles qualify for waivers. With proper diagnosis and repair, most vehicles will pass a retest before qualifying for a waiver.

Where do I take my vehicle to be repaired and how can this Report Card help me select a repair shop?

Although you are not required to do so, it is strongly recommended you consider having the vehicle repaired by a shop that has a proven track record in diagnosing and repairing emissions related problems. This report can be used to assist in the selection of a repair facility. It contains the business name, address and telephone number of shops that have performed five or more emissions repairs over a recent six-month period. It indicates the number of repairs and a Grade.

Can I do my own repairs?

Yes, but today's modern computer-controlled vehicles present unique challenges to the automotive repair industry. Emissions generally require a higher degree of training and expertise to diagnose and repair — even for veteran technicians. The typical vehicle owner could experience considerable difficulty finding and repairing the problem(s). It is also important to remember that repairs must be made by a recognized repair technician to count towards a waiver.

Why does my repair shop charge for diagnostic work when I received a “Vehicle Inspection Report” at the emissions station?

The Vehicle Inspection Report gives your technician the emissions test results for your vehicle. The technician can use this information to help diagnose a problem(s) that caused the vehicle to fail the test. The report does not identify what component(s) or system is causing the problem. While this information is helpful to your technician, it cannot pinpoint the actual repairs that must be made. The technician uses this information, training and experience, and a variety of diagnostic equipment to determine what repairs will be needed.

I had repairs made to my vehicle, what do I do now?

Have the shop that performed the repair complete the “Repair Data Form.” Then take your vehicle to a test station for another test. Be sure to bring the completed “Repair Data Form” and all receipts for the emissions related repairs that were performed. Please note, if the shop submits the completed “Repair Data Form” electronically, you will not be required to provide this for your retest.

Do I have to go into the office before I have my vehicle retested?

Not unless your vehicle failed or was rejected for OBD readiness for three or more tests. After three or more tests, a visual inspection of the vehicle and review of repair receipts are required before another test can be performed.

What if I can’t afford to have my vehicle repaired right now?

You can apply for an Economic Hardship Extension, which gives you more time to get your vehicle fixed so it can pass the test or receive a waiver. You must qualify for the extension by meeting certain requirements listed on the economic hardship extension application form that is available at any full service stations or call the Illinois EPA at 217/785-7449. The economic hardship extension application is also available on the Illinois EPA website at www.IllinoisAirTeam.com

Is there any consumer protection available in Illinois?

Illinois law requires repair shops to make specific disclosures to consumers and prohibits certain unlawful practices. For additional information you may contact the Illinois Attorney General’s office at 312-814-3000 or 800-386-5438 in Chicago, or 618-529-6400 or 800-243-0607 in the Metro East St. Louis area.

Why Vehicles are Rejected

Vehicles can be rejected from the test lanes for a variety of reasons. Generally, there is a problem with the vehicle that prevented a safe and proper emissions test. Some of the reasons vehicles are rejected are as follows:

OBD monitor status (most common)

Vehicles that do not have a sufficient number of monitors set to “ready” are rejected because the OBD system has not evaluated enough of the emissions systems on that specific vehicle to ensure a valid test. See the section entitled “On-Board Diagnostics” for further information about OBD systems, readiness, and setting monitors.

OBD catalyst monitor status

Vehicles that fail an OBD test with Diagnostic Trouble Codes for problems with catalyst efficiency are rejected if they return for a retest and the catalyst monitor is “NOT READY.” In these cases, the catalyst monitor must be “READY” at the time of any retest. See the section entitled “Understanding On-Board Diagnostics” for further information about OBD systems, readiness, and setting monitors.

Fluid leaks

Vehicles that actively leak more than a few drops of fluids during a pretest inspection of the vehicle are rejected because they pose significant safety concerns. Fluid leaks may indicate a preexisting condition, pose a risk of further damage, and can even pose a fire threat.

Overheating

Vehicles producing steam under the hood, or showing HOT on a temperature gauge/warning light, or are actively leaking coolant are rejected because they pose safety concerns. Overheating may indicate a pre-existing condition, pose a risk of further damage, and can even pose a fire threat.

Incomplete repair data

Vehicles are rejected for a re-test when the Repair Data Form is not completed. Complete repair data is required in order to perform a retest.

Damaged driver's door

Vehicles are rejected if the driver's door will not open. Such a condition jeopardizes the safety of the inspector during the test process.

Damaged steering column

Vehicles are rejected if they cannot be shifted or started in a normal fashion. Such a condition jeopardizes the safety of the inspector during the test process.

Missing VIN

Vehicles are rejected if the vehicle identification number cannot be located on the vehicle. These vehicles cannot be tested because inspectors cannot verify that they are testing the correct vehicle.

Vehicle stalled

Vehicles are rejected that will not start in the test lane. The vehicle must be turned off during certain parts of the test. If they do not re-start, the test cannot be completed.

Host computer offline

Vehicles are rejected when the emissions test station host computer system is down, unless the motorist provides an acceptable source document, such as a vehicle emissions test notice. It is recommended that motorists always bring their test notice to the station, even though it is rarely needed.

Too early

Vehicles that are not eligible for a test are rejected. This usually occurs when a vehicle is brought in for a test before it has been assigned a test month.

Vehicle exceeded three-test limit

After a vehicle has failed and/or been rejected from three tests, no further tests will be granted unless the motorist provides credible evidence that appropriate repairs have been completed since the last test. These repairs would have to indicate that the vehicle may pass another test, and a visual inspection may be performed to ensure that all required emission-related components are present on the vehicle.

Noise

Vehicles are rejected for abnormal engine or drive train noises that may indicate significant mechanical problems exist. These vehicles cannot be tested for safety reasons and to prevent further damage to the vehicle.

Blocked Diagnostic Link Connector

Vehicles are rejected for aftermarket devices that obstruct the diagnostic link connector and prevent inspectors at testing stations from performing the OBD test. If this occurs, please have the obstruction removed prior to returning for a retest.

Voluntary Test

For a $20 fee, any gasoline-powered vehicle can receive a voluntary emissions test.

This service may be used by anyone. For example:

- Individuals considering the purchase of a used vehicle.
- Out-of-state residents whose vehicles are temporarily in Illinois and need emissions tests to comply with their home-state requirements.

The voluntary test is not considered an official test for Illinois vehicles subject to testing.

To obtain a voluntary test, stop in the office at any full service station to purchase a voucher before entering the test lanes. Payment must be made in cash.

Disclaimer

This report is not intended as a recommendation or endorsement by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (Illinois EPA), the Air Team, or their contractors and employees. This report is intended only as an information source to help vehicle owners locate repair shops. Inclusion in this report does not signify that these repair shops possess particular repair skills or that they are the only shops qualified to make emissions-related repairs. The shops included in this Report Card repaired at least five emissions failures during the preceding six months and achieved a success rate of 75% "C" or greater. Additionally, because of the nature of the information included in the Report Card and the manner in which it is compiled, the Illinois EPA and the Air Team make no representations as to, nor warrants its accuracy.

It is important to remember that it remains your right and responsibility as a consumer to evaluate and choose a repair shop.

Testing Station Locations

The vehicle emissions testing network includes several options for testing your vehicle.

- Full Service Stations can perform all vehicle testing services, including waivers, and provide customer service representatives on site for any questions or assistance.
- Test Only Stations perform testing only. All customer service inquiries are handled at our Full Service Stations.
- Test and Repair Facilities perform emissions tests by appointment, and can also do certain emissions repair work upon request.

Chicago Metro Area

Chicago Metro Area Testing Hours are Monday through Friday 8 AM to 6 PM and Saturday 8 AM to 1 PM. Stations are closed Sundays and State Holidays.

Important Information for Rejected Vehicles

REJECT	NOT READY	OFF	0	V0704133353270

Your vehicle's On-Board Diagnostic "OBD" system shows that it is not ready to be tested resulting in its being rejected. Vehicles contain several complex emissions components and systems, each designed to reduce pollution. Vehicle computers are equipped with several programs that monitor the performance of these emissions components and systems. Readiness monitors are an essential feature of your vehicle's OBD system. When set to READY, they indicate emissions components and systems on your vehicle are ready to be tested. A condition of NOT READY doesn't necessarily mean that there is anything wrong with the vehicle; it simply means that the vehicle hasn't completed all of the self-tests to determine if everything is working properly.

There are several reasons why a readiness monitor is NOT READY. The most common reasons are a recently disconnected or replaced battery, or recent vehicle repairs or maintenance where diagnostic trouble codes (DTCs) have been cleared by someone performing repairs on your vehicle. In most cases, the readiness monitor self-test can be completed under normal driving conditions which include a combination of local and highway driving.

What Do I Do Now?

FIRST REJECT

If this is the first time your vehicle has been rejected because of monitor NOT READY status, it is recommended that the vehicle be driven for a week before attempting a retest. Your owner's manual may also contain helpful information on preparing your vehicle for an emissions test.

SECOND REJECT

If this is the second time your vehicle has been rejected because of monitor NOT READY status, it is strongly recommended that you seek assistance from a qualified repair technician to help set the monitors to READY. There may be a problem with one or more of the emissions control systems preventing it from completing the required self-tests.

THIRD REJECT

If your vehicle is rejected for a third time or more because of monitor NOT READY status, you will be required to have your vehicle diagnosed and repaired by a qualified technician. In order to be authorized to receive an additional test, you must provide proof that a repair technician has properly diagnosed your vehicle and set the monitors to READY status.
