GENERAL INFORMATION AND GUIDELINES

You must submit a separate application for each scholarship, unless otherwise specified. If a scholarship calls for its own application form, rather than the general one, it may be found after the LAHS Local Scholarship Application in the section titled "Separate Scholarship Applications." You may enter general information on the form once, and make copies.

Some scholarship committees prefer that you email your applications. Please check the application requirements for more information.

Submit a clean, neat, complete, and properly filled out application. Use a computer for all supporting documents if at all possible. Neatness and accuracy are important. Make sure you allow yourself sufficient time to meet the postmark and delivery deadlines, which vary by scholarship. Late applications will not be accepted. Please note that applications prepared in haste often contain mistakes which may disqualify you from consideration.

Scholarship opportunities are available to students who are going to vocational and technical schools, as well as two-year and four-year colleges or universities. When selecting scholarships, choose only those that match your interests, ambitions, and academic strengths.

Separate Applications

Some scholarships request a separate application in addition to the LAHS Local Scholarship Application, or in lieu of this application. Please check the application procedure for each scholarship for which you wish to apply to confirm what is required.

Transcripts

Several scholarships ask for copies of transcripts, either official or unofficial. Please complete the Los Alamos High School Transcript Request form, found in the Registrar's office or online, to request copies of your transcripts. There is no fee for transcripts when applying for scholarships.

Essays, Personal Statements and Letters

Several scholarships ask for essays, personal statements, or letters. Use as much care writing these as you would an English assignment. Remember to use proper form when writing letters. Your ambition, abilities, and achievements are all factors that are considered in awarding a scholarship. When you submit an application with minimal answers, you raise questions as to your ability to communicate. Address each point completely.

Many organizations will ask how much money you have been able to save towards your college education. Never write the word "none" on your application without some type of explanation. The same holds true when the organization asks how much your parents will be able to contribute for your expenses.

Letters of Recommendation

If you will be asking teachers (or anyone else) for Letters of Recommendation, make sure to allow them plenty of advance notice. Do not expect anyone to write a Letter of Recommendation with a day's notice. Two weeks should be the minimum advance notice you give.

If no recommendation is requested, that means that you do not need one. Most of the local groups ask only for contact names and phone numbers or email addresses so that teachers will not have to write so many recommendations. If the person writing the letter is to mail it directly to the scholarship committee, make sure to provide a stamped envelope with the correct address.

Assist those who will be writing for you by giving them as much information as you can, both about yourself and the scholarship requirements. Make sure you send them a thank you note. You may find it helpful to use the Letter of Recommendation Checklist which is available in the Career Resource Center.

Above all, if you should receive one of these scholarships, remember to send a card or letter to the organization expressing your appreciation. It is also a nice gesture to send a note to the organization once you are at school to let them know how you are getting along.

Good luck to all! If you have any questions, please contact Connie Goettee at c.goettee@laschools.net or stop by the Career Resource Center.

Provide enough time for the writer to complete a Letter of Recommendation. Do not wait until the last minute to request a Letter of Recommendation (allow at least 4 to 6 weeks). Many teachers are asked to write a number of letters, and need adequate time to write each individual letter. For letters with a January 1st deadline, ask before December 1st.

Remember to send a thank you note to anyone who writes a Letter of Recommendation for you. It is important to acknowledge the part he/she has played in your college and/or scholarship application process.
