"Visit-the-schools-week," next week.

To-day, Lincoln's birthday, is a legal holiday.

Joseph Baker has purchased the Charles King house, on Vine Street.

The Moose' new home, the old "bee hive" remodeled, is nearing completion.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Logan, of Sheldon, Iowa, are visiting Miss Maude Jacobs.

W. L. Black is repairing and enlarging the buildings in the rear of his store, for storage purposes.

The interior walls and ceiling of the Trust Company's building have been greatly improved by decorator.

There will be an auction of household articles next Saturday, at the Thomas homestead on North Third Street.

The Figueroa Cut Glass Co. had an excellent display at the Toy Exhibition in the Imperial Hotel, New York City, the past week.

The Boys' and the Girls' Basket Ball Teams of Hammonton and Tuckerton High Schools will play a double header this afternoon.

The Income Tax man will be at The Peoples Bank, Feb. 16th and 17th, and at the Hammonton Trust Company, Feb. 18th and 19th.

Moose will donate the services of a 28 piece orchestra for the American Legion show, on Wednesday next. They will render a number of fine selections.

A sour kroat supper will be given in Red Men's Hall on Saturday next, from 6 to 8 p. m., by the Past Pocahontas League. Supper, 35c. children, 20c.

A Valentine Social will be held in P. O. S. of A. Hall by the Red White and Blue Social Club, on Tuesday, Feb. 15th. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Ariessa Robinson passed away on Sunday, at her home on Central Avenue. With her daughter, she has lived here several years, and have won many friends by their quiet friendliness.

The reserved seat cards for the High School play, "The Heiress Hunters," will be open at Hearing's store on Wednesday February 16th. Tickets are on sale by pupils. The play will be given on Friday and Saturday evenings, February 25th and 26th.

School Meeting a Rouser.

Probably the largest vote was cast at the annual School Meeting, Tuesday evening, in the history of Hammonton. The assembly room and hall were full. Seven hundred and one votes were cast and, although the meeting started at 7:30, it was 11:45 before the result of the election was known.

J. L. O'Donnell was elected chairman, W. R. Seely clerk, and Wm. Doerfel assistant.

Clerk read the call for the meeting, minutes of last meeting, and reports of District Clerk and financial affairs.

Before nominations, chairman appointed as tellers: Miss Mary P. Conkey, and Wayland DePuy. The three receiving the highest vote were elected as members of the Board for three years:

- Albert L. Jackson, 452.
- Mrs. Marian A. Puckard, 450.
- Mrs. Gertrude S. Loveland, 454.
- Dr. Anthony L. Rosposito, 250.
- P. T. Ranere, 246.
- Mrs. H. S. Hearing, 252.

The ballot box was open two hours, and a steady stream of voters cast their ballots. Only two ballots were rejected.

The appropriation resolutions were offered, and balloted for, the box being in charge of Jas. W. Cottrell, Lino Rubba, and Wm. O. Hoyt. All the resolutions were carried, with no objection, there being seventy-seven ballots cast.

Various subjects were discussed, including the printing of a report, the ordering of the sale of the old Middle Road School and grounds, and the securing of additional grounds and buildings to relieve congestion in central district; that a special school meeting be called to discuss and act on the above.

Don't forget the Legion's Show, at Eagle Theatre, Feb. 16th.

Important Notice.

Notice is hereby given that every measure permitted by the law will be called into requisition to punish persons who are guilty of circulating false reports of crimes alleged to have been committed in this community. Many of the stories investigated have been found to be manufactured from the whole cloth, while others have had so little basis that good citizens would surely not pass them round as facts upon the slight information they might have possessed. Such stories prevent the authorities from devoting a maximum of effort to the detection of genuine crimes, and the prompt and proper punishment of culprits, as valuable time is lost by officials, as well as a poor morale established through the retailing of false and misleading information.

By order of Council,
Harry P. Mattola,
Chairman of Law and Order Com.

Town Council.

Council met on Wednesday evening, with only three present besides the Mayor; two others arrived later.

Finance Committee reported that the public accountants, Fassler & Roberts, were at work on the books.

Law and Order Committee reported that they were "on the job." Bills were ordered paid, amounting to $1800.

Fire Chief reported fire alarms; also that both houses were connected to central by private wire. Also recommended purchase of sirens for apparatus, parking signs for fire plugs, and that people should be warned away from approaching apparatus.

Treasurer reported list of Town's indebtedness.

Joint Fire Companies presented the following resolution, which had been adopted February 7th:

WHEREAS, The Volunteer Fire Companies of Hammonton recommended to the Mayor and Town Council the appointment of Henry M. Phillips as Chief, and the appointment of Albert L. Jackson as Assistant Chief, and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council, in their combined wisdom, saw fit to refuse to make the appointments recommended by the Fire Companies, and

WHEREAS, after Henry M. Phillips had declined to serve as Assistant Chief, the Mayor and Town Council, in further proof of their wisdom, requested the Fire Companies to recommend a man for the position of Assistant Chief, after having turned down, out of hand, the recommendation already made by the Fire Companies; therefore be it

RESOLVED, By the Fire Companies of Hammonton, in joint meeting assembled, that we do hereby most earnestly protest against the action of the Mayor and Town Council in refusing to appoint those recommended by the Fire Companies for Chief and Assistant Chief, and that we especially and emphatically protest against the action of the Mayor and Town Council in requesting the Fire Companies to make a second recommendation for the position of Assistant Chief, after the Mayor and Town Council had refused absolutely to act favorably on the recommendation already made. And be it further

RESOLVED, that a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the Town Council of the Town of Hammonton, and that the resolutions be spread upon the minutes of each Fire Company, and copies handed to the public press.

Financial budget was taken up and passed third and final reading, and adopted.

Joe Silipena, who had been ordered to lay bathing beach, and did the work very satisfactorily, had been paid all but $321.10. As this has been pledged by citizens, he desired a letter from Council stating that he is the official collector. This will probably be granted.

Committee was authorized to secure prices on sirens for apparatus.

Ten "no parking" signs were ordered, to be hung from fire plugs. Committee to procure them.

Law and Order Committee was instructed to warn vehicles to make way for fire apparatus; also, that they must not attempt to pass the apparatus.

Highway Committee announced a reduction in price for road work, as follows: $6.50 per day for teams, and 35 cents per hour for men.

The Mayor, also Messrs. O'Donnell and Colanudo, placed themselves on record as opposed to all pool rooms with card tables, gambling, or lunch counters.

FASHION NOTES

Interesting Items for the Fair Sex

London shops have irrefragable faith in the spring line. The new line is not only fascinating, it is also very different from the old. The new line is not only fascinating, it is also very different from the old. The new line is not only fascinating, it is also very different from the old.

Among the interesting fabrics appearing in the spring line are: silk, wool, and cotton. The fabrics are being used in a variety of ways, and the results are very interesting. The fabrics are being used in a variety of ways, and the results are very interesting.

One-piece dresses are shown and many of these have familiar jumper line outlines, while the straps of the two-piece dresses are very effective, on the plain blouse worn beneath either self-matching or contrasting material. The armholes are large and often stand diagonally from the shoulder under the arms.

BOX COATS FOR SPRING

New Spring styles in multi-toned, short box jackets, some with flaring lines at the lower edge and others perfectly straight. There is a tendency toward the box jacket as seen in a number of latest models, but the jacket is considerably longer than a real box. With these short-cut jackets, suits, waist coats and Turkish skirts are worn, which gives a decided effect of the picturesque Zouave costumes worn by United States soldiers in the Civil War.

Where Indeed

"It's no good, uncle," said the ambitious youth. "If you won't give me more money at your place I'm going over to get a job at the new store."

Lavish Use of Ribbons

Metal is still profusely used in brooches, pins and buttons. In figured ribbons, each ribbon is made of a different material, and the designs are prominent, as in tulle, satin and cretonne grounds.

Somewhat Insignificant

The Jorkines were discussing the loneliness, when Mr. Jorkine remarked to her husband: "It seems to me that the Jorkine's marriage was an ideal one. I was particularly struck, really, there wasn't a single word of disagreement between them. I believe that they will last absolutely alike."

Not Much of a Chance

All through his long life his wife had been his devoted nurse. Often he had wakened in the silence of the night to find her sitting by his bedside, with soothing draughts and gentle sympathy.

Why We Fear Snakes

If you come upon a small snake during your country ramble, why do you get that creepy sensation? Your foot is probably the survival of a savage instinct, or going a step farther back, is inherited from some ancestral monkey.

A Field of Bananas

There is probably no fruit more sought after in this country than the banana. It may be said to be both a vegetable and a fruit, and a luxury. It is wholesome and strengthening, sweet, morning, dessert as well as sports costumes, and bids fair to be one of the most popular fruits in the formal summer wear.

Every Man Wants a Practical Wife

The girl who desires to make a good wife must know something of the practical side of life; and if she does not possess this knowledge she must learn. Love and romance must cover a good many faults in a girl's character, but after the first glow has worn off, then the real trials will begin.

Circumstantial Evidence

"Please, ma'am, father's sent me to get some of the flour," said the boy, looking at the flour in the bin. "That's all right," said the woman, "but you must be careful not to spill any."

Just Fun

The main reason the boy hates the farm is because he has to work with the duller hoe. The shooting stars appear to have no aim, and no one knows what they are shooting for.

Looking Ahead

A grasshopper, half started with cold horror, came to a full stop, looking at the approach of winter, and humbly begged the bee to relieve him of the burden of the honey he had spent his time in making.

Lavish Use of Ribbons

Metal is still profusely used in brooches, pins and buttons. In figured ribbons, each ribbon is made of a different material, and the designs are prominent, as in tulle, satin and cretonne grounds.

The Jorkines were discussing the loneliness, when Mr. Jorkine remarked to her husband: "It seems to me that the Jorkine's marriage was an ideal one. I was particularly struck, really, there wasn't a single word of disagreement between them. I believe that they will last absolutely alike."

Not Much of a Chance

All through his long life his wife had been his devoted nurse. Often he had wakened in the silence of the night to find her sitting by his bedside, with soothing draughts and gentle sympathy.

Saving the Flamingo

Assurance that the flamingo, bird of beauty and mystery, will escape extinction is contained in a letter received by John Oliver LaGrone, vice director of the National Geographic Society, from E. E. W. Grant, colonial governor of the Bahamas, who says: "You will be glad to hear that an order in council has been passed giving complete protection to the flamingo."

Don't Look for Thorns

"Think it this if you ever tempt to discourage and advise others: Don't make the road any harder than it really is by pointing out all the thorns that have lain or may lie along the way."

A Miniature Automobile

A serviceable automobile of such diminutive proportions that it will fit into a garage slot much larger than a dog house, is being introduced in Germany, with great success because of its efficiency and economy. Some of these cars are made with gasoline engine, while others derive their power from storage batteries.

Improved Construction of Turbo-Generators

One pound of material 1 inch present 5000-kw. turbo sets does the work of 1000 pounds in the first 2000-kw. set built in this country, according to General Electric Works, Stator construction has reduced itself to the simplest form as the requirements of rigidity, light weight and flexibility are best fulfilled by such design. However, high speeds and increased capacities have introduced changes in the construction of rotors.

Children Influenced by Home Environment

The routine duties of the wife and mother are the same in practically all homes. Food has to be purchased and prepared, the house has to be kept clean and in order; there is shopping to do, and sewing, mending and washing—a big item in families with young children—and there are the children to be cared for.

The Ideal Guest

It has been said that women may be divided into two classes, that of the "divorced guest" and that of the "other's role with any degree of success. There is one charming woman who is known among her friends as "The Ideal Guest."

Radium is Making the Industries Safer

Radium's role in industry as a lifeguard is less spectacular, but perhaps more important than its use in therapeutic agents. The great mass of accidents in factories, in mines and in other industrial institutions whose darkness is an accident of danger, are being eliminated through the use of radium in the form of radium luminous paint.

The Ruling Habit

In Boston they tell this story of a certain absent-minded professor: once occasion he appeared in his drawing room ready to accept his wife to the theater.

Philosophy

I have to ride in a touring car, and zip on the old auto road; I have to bear the bumps and bumps of the road, and the bumps of the road, and the bumps of the road, and the bumps of the road.

Waterproof Shoes

The United States Bureau of Chemistry has worked out a method by which anybody can make his shoes waterproof, without the use of any special machinery or any special materials.

News and Views About the Farm

STATE'S MAY CROP WORTH HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS. Pennsylvania produced a hay crop worth more than one hundred million dollars in 1920, according to figures prepared by statisticians L. H. Wynn of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Lancaster led all other counties in the State in the value of its hay crop, the value of which was $4,107,744, while Berks County came second and Washington County third.

THE INSPECTION OF FERTILIZERS

The results of the analyses of samples, representing 676 registered brands of fertilizers sold during the Spring of 1920 made by the Bureau of Chemistry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, show which crop is improved in afflicting correct grades of farm crops and live stock. About one-third of the samples analyzed were found to contain less nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash than claimed.

PENNSYLVANIA'S AGRICULTURE SUFFERED A DEPRECIATION

Harrisburg, Pa.—Pennsylvania's agriculture suffered a depreciation of almost one million dollars in 1920, as a result of the depreciation in the value of farm crops and live stock. Secretary of Agriculture Fred Essaman announced last week. The secretary's statement is based on the figures compiled by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department, the information being secured from the 800 crop reporters of the Department scattered throughout every section of the State.

Light for Miners

It seems that the ideal mine lamp has just been devised. Incredible as it may seem, the source of light which gives the highest candle power at the least expense is the incandescent gas mantle. The inventor of the mantle, Dr. Carl Auer von Welsbach, has just announced that he has succeeded in producing a mantle which will burn in a gas mantle lamp, and which will give out a light which is brighter than that of any other mantle lamp.

OWNERS OF UNLICENSED DOGS TO BE PROMPTLY PROSECUTED

Every dog in Pennsylvania that is over six months of age and does not have a 1921 license tag, is in an outlaw and any peace officer in the State may dispose of such unlicensed dog and the owner is liable for the cost of the license for the licensing of dogs expired on January 15 and just as of the peace officers no longer issue licenses until they must come from the county treasurer.

An Excellent Record

A meek looking dairy was brought into a suburban police station just outside of Philadelphia and a petty charge was put upon the dealer. He pleaded innocently.

A Speedy Poet

A New England teacher wrote that the following is an actual composition on Longfellow, the poet, composed by a fourteen-year-old pupil of a Longfellow school.

"Henry W. Longfellow was born in Portland, Maine, while his parents were traveling in Europe. He had many great friends, among them the poetesses Mrs. Follen and Mrs. Child."

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1921

There should have been several officers present, Tuesday evening, to keep the mob on the stairs more orderly. It was certainly rough house, and we doubt not that many people were kept out of the building on account of the disorder.

But for the alertness of our officers, there would likely have been a clothing makers' strike last Saturday. Three trouble makers came on from New York, but they were escorted to the train and shipped away. It is rumored that, before leaving, they made certain incendiary threats.

The State law requires all vehicles to take to the curb and stop, when a fire apparatus is approaching; also that no vehicle can park within ten feet of a fire plug. An example is to be made, in Hammonton, of all who do not comply with it. It is remarkable that no serious accidents have occurred here, for there have been many narrow escapes. Cars carrying no light in rear, while parking, will also get into trouble.

There are at least three members of Town Council who are opposed to pool rooms. As the Mayor stated, they are of no benefit, and gambling is all too common. We wish to commend their stand and, unless the pieces can be conducted properly, they should be refused a license.

Manager Kidder, of the local telephone company, has, for a year past, warned patrons to keep their mouths closed and listen on the wire, in case of fire. Otherwise, the firemen cannot tell where the fire is, and much time is lost. But people either forget the instructions, or do not care. It may be your house the next time, and you cannot consistently blame the firemen in case of any delay.

Visit the schools next week, and meet your child's teacher, and see how your money is expended.

Dead Men Tell No Tales

The anxious visits of the physician have ended. The pulse which so often responded with alternate hope or fear to his gentle touch has ceased to beat. The watch of the faithful nurse has come to a close. The suspended hope of loved ones is wrecked in a hopeless sea of woe. The orderly home has been suddenly disorganized. Songs of joy have changed to wails of woe. Reason itself is sometimes dethroned, and at such an hour is the funeral director called to the household, and while he must organize order out of confusion he must do it in a way to avoid all semblance of commercialism, and at the same time, as far as possible, lift the [all that presses so heavily on the moaning hearts about him. Could any duty in life at the same time call for more judgment, patience, gentleness, humane and manly fortitude and self-possession? And in view of such duties can we over-estimate what should be the high character of one who properly and successfully discharges the high office of funeral director?

BUICK

EVERY Buick owner esteems his car because of its dependability—its ability to "come through." To this, the new 1921 Buick models bring improvements and refinements that add to the joy of possession of every Buick owner.

A new graceful, low, streamline body; a more roomy interior with comfortable seating arrangement; and a more resilient spring suspension which makes riding delightful, are but a few of the new features.

Effective January 1, regular equipment on all models will include wire tires

HAMMONTON AUTO STATION

With Clean Hands

"Give us cheaper food," the consumers cry. Farmers have responded, in the face of discouraging difficulties. Yet the consumers still cry out against the high cost of foodstuffs, and against the farmers.

The National Grange demands that the complaint be lodged against those who are truly to blame—against food manipulators and wasteful distributors. And the distributor is the city man's neighbor; food distribution is the city man's problem. Not until the consumers clear themselves of responsibility for high prices can they come with clean hands to criticize or even help the producers.

The hands of the Grange are clean. All its acts have been for the benefit of producer and consumer alike. Because it has helped the farmer to do his share in producing, it can fittingly say to the city consumer: "Yours and yours only is the task of restoring food distribution evils." On the score of its clean record for service the Grange merits your support. And it urges, too, your support for the work of THE COUNTY GENTLEMAN, which has stood with the farmer in his clean, fought fight for a decent living—his share in what happens between the producer and the consumer. It will keep you informed of the newest methods in the management of your farm business and provide wholesome entertainment for your whole family. If you already subscribe, tell your friends that our secretary will order for them the next 52 issues for just $1.00. If you are not a subscriber, send in your dollar today.

J. L. PHILZENHIL, Master, Egg Harbor City; W. H. FRISBIE, Secretary, Egg Harbor City

Dear Secretary: I'm glad to see the Grange being pushed with good advertising. And here's my dollar for THE COUNTY GENTLEMAN for a year—52 weekly issues. Please forward my order to the Publishers at Independence Square, Philadelphia, Pa.

American Committee for CHINA FAMINE FUND FROM PRESIDENT WILSON'S PROCLAMATION:

A famine, alarming in its proportions, today holds in its grip several important provinces in China. The crop failure is complete, and the present distress, which is great, is likely, before winter has run its course, to become appalling. In fact our diplomatic and consular agencies in China inform me that the loss resulting from death in distressing form may run into millions of souls. It is certain that the local government and established agencies of relief are unable to cope with the magnitude of the disaster which faces them. * * * Therefore not only in the name of humanity but in that of the friendliness which we feel for a great people in distress; I venture to ask that our citizens shall, even though the task of giving is not today a light one, respond as they can to this distant but appealing cry for help.

HEADQUARTERS: BIBLE HOUSE, NEW YORK CITY THE FAMINE IN CHINA

AREA—The five northern provinces, Chili, Shensi, Shansi, Honan and Shantung, are all affected. The actual famine zone covers 100,000 square miles with a population of 45,000,000 Chinese, cause nearly one and one-half years of continuous drought, during which the normal rainfall has decreased from 20 inches a year to less than 3 inches. NUMBERS—6,000,000 Chinese are directly affected; 15,000,000 are facing immediate starvation and will die without our help; 10,000 are already dying daily.

WHAT IT MEANS TO CHINA—The famine, unless halted by American relief, means the complete collapse of a vast region commercially, economically and morally, which is certain to persist for a generation to come.

WHAT IT MEANS TO AMERICA—An opportunity to help a friendly nation in distress, to strengthen existing ties, to expand our trade and to have the consciousness that we have saved the lives of 15,000,000 human beings who would have died without our help.

THE NEED—To feed, and save lives: 3c. will save one life one day $1. will save one life one month $5. will save one family one month

HOW TO GIVE—If the American Committee for China Fund has no representative in your community, give your contribution to your bank, your church or send it to Vernon Murray, Treasurer China Famine Fund, Bible House, New York City. HOW FUNDS ARE DISTRIBUTED—All funds collected by the American Committee are transmitted to the International Famine Relief Committee at Peking. This committee acts as a clearing house for the five regional committees in the famine area; the Peking Committee (including the Red Cross), the Hankow, Tientsin, Honan, and Shantung Committees, all of which are represented on the International Famine Relief Committee, and whose members are working among the famine victims.

WHY GIVE?—China is in the grip of the worst calamity in history. She turns to us as her oldest and richest friend, whom she has longed to trust. We cannot ignore her call and let these helpless people die without an effort to save them.

SAVE A LIFE IN CHINA! It is the purpose of the Council to raise $25,000,000 in an appeal centering at the Christmas holidays in the year that the desperate situation regarding child life may be met. In every town and community of the nation, it is planned, local committees, representing all the co-operating agencies will be formed to secure the vitally necessary funds. Of the amount sought, $25,000,000 will be used for basic food and $10,000,000 for medical service.

For every one of these American dollars the local governments and communities aided will furnish two dollars in the form of transportation, labor, guards, clerical help, cash contributions and such food supplies as are locally obtainable. No children receive the free food except after medical tests showing them to be seriously undernourished. The remaining $15,000,000 of the fund is just as urgently needed for medical service to the children.

The European Relief Council will do much more than effect economies in the raising of the child saving fund. In view of the immediate need of eight great agencies, keep a constant eye on the administration of American relief gifts, in order that there shall be no wastage and no tendency toward pauperization.

"This is the largest co-operative benevolent organization ever established in the United States," Mr. Hoover says. The organizational representation, save one to the United States, has been independently formed conclusions; that nothing but prompt and united action by the whole American people can avert inevitable tragedy for the helpless children involved. The organizations forming the Council will cooperate their representatives in every town and community of the nation for the raising of the necessary funds."

They are no more my children than yours," in Herbert Hoover's timely yet eloquent plea for $25,000,000 European children who face incredible tragedy this winter unless America comes to their rescue. The funds by which Americans aid has been feeding millions have run out, and that the work may not stop and those greedy "massacres" which would amount to "massacres of the innocents" seven other great American relief organizations have united with Mr. Hoover's organization under the name of the European Relief Council in a joint appeal for funds. The collaborating agencies are the American Red Cross, the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Church of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

LAUNCH VAST EFFORT FOR EUROPE'S YOUNG Eight American Relief Agencies Combine to Save 3,500,000 Children Death Menace.

Eight great relief organizations, working unopposed for every race and creed, have united under the name of the European Relief Council to coordinate child relief in Europe this winter. The Council will seek to provide the free food except after medical tests showing them to be seriously undernourished. The remaining $15,000,000 of the fund is just as urgently needed for medical service to the children.

The anxious visits of the physician have ended. The pulse which so often responded with alternate hope or fear to his gentle touch has ceased to beat. The watch of the faithful nurse has come to a close. The suspended hope of loved ones is wrecked in a hopeless sea of woe. The orderly home has been suddenly disorganized. Songs of joy have changed to wails of woe. Reason itself is sometimes dethroned, and at such an hour is the funeral director called to the household, and while he must organize order out of confusion he must do it in a way to avoid all semblance of commercialism, and at the same time, as far as possible, lift the [all that presses so heavily on the moaning hearts about him. Could any duty in life at the same time call for more judgment, patience, gentleness, humane and manly fortitude and self-possession? And in view of such duties can we over-estimate what should be the high character of one who properly and successfully discharges the high office of funeral director?

Big Dramatic Event Coming to Philadelphia's New Walnut Theatre.
Starting Monday, February 21.
Guy Bates Post and his excellent company are this season appearing in "The Masquerader," one of the few really worth-while plays of the decade. The unusual comedy—the original New York one by the way—with its wealth of scenery, electrical effects and novel revolving stages.
This well known representative actor has never had a better vehicle than this. His manager, Mr. Richard Walton Tully has gone to absolute extremes in providing a production both modern and unique. The crown of mechanical effects is the company to insure proper stage effects. The management of the Walnut, Philadelphia's newest theatre, is giving special attention to outdoor scenes in order that automobile and excursion parties may have social evenings with the most comfortable surroundings. The theatre was at the ticket office window.

NOTICE TO CITIZENS!

To all citizens of Hammonton and particularly to those directly interested in the Hammonton Public Schools.
Quite frequently is heard the remark, that "If the Board of Education would not admit pupils from 'Out of Town' or other Districts, there would be no need for more school room, in the Central Section."
While no concrete proposition for more school room will be submitted at the coming Annual Meeting, yet the Board of Education feels that a careful study of the following table of enrollment, and of pupils coming from 'Out of Town' or 'Other Districts,' will reveal to any fair-minded person the fact that more school room is needed, not for the "Other District" pupils, but for the pupils in our very midst.

Chats With the Woman in the Home

Many women who would not what they call "wast time" putting a few stitches of embroidery on a child's school dress, will spend just as much time in putting big bands of the material on such a dress. And the point is that while the latter is used it is not used to such an extent as the embroidery, so that you might just as well do the embroidery and have a more stylish frock.

So often you hear a mother say that it is so much easier to do a thing herself than to teach the children to do it. Yet after the children are once taught they certainly save the parent time and trouble. Aside from that, children are taught how to perform most of the duties around the house in fairness to the children and those with whom they will live later in life. There is nothing more worthwhile than a person cannot do anything because "mother always wanted on it." It is easier a great many things to do the thing yourself and then you are sure that it is done correctly, but then the entire idea is not of getting the thing accomplished—the children must learn at the same time.

Sometimes children have the idea that their parents got themselves into this mess, and it is up to them to get out of it—or to do the work which it necessitates. Unfortunately that is not the way the scheme is run and the children cannot learn too soon that it is their job to assist.

In these days of so-called housework the children should be given certain duties each week and then have their jobs changed so as to add spice by variety and also so as to give them an opportunity of the particular jobs and the scheme of things as a whole. Instill a bit of rivalry by offering prizes. Children cannot work alone, but they make excellent helpers, particularly if the work is made into a game. More trouble than they are able to do, perhaps for the big things, but surely not in washing dishes, dusting and making beds. One child might make the dusters one week, another put away the clean clothes and so on. They should, of course, have the majority of their free time from school play, but they should also have their time for work.

The family should lighten the work of each member doing his share to the best of his own ability. An appeal might be made so that father would remember to hang up his clothes and pick up his papers, the children put away their books and rubbers and each to do his share so that the living room is left in order at night so that that job will not be added to the many others that mother has for the morning. Consider the fact that many housekeepers are spent in doing such little things as this that might be done by each member of the household looking after his part of the whole.

In those days of high prices it is cheering to know that there are ways by which you can make a hot water heater pay for itself. A hot water heater will last twice as long as we are apt to expect. A little care will do the trick.

In the first place, hang the bottle where you will frequently use it. Rubber tile to floor will deteriorate, so if you are not using it frequently all the bottles with warm water about once in two weeks, let it sit on the floor. The face will cool and then rub it gently between the hands before hanging it up to dry.

Always hang it head downward, so that the hot drop of water will run out. When the hot is filled never hang it for any length of time on a nail, as the weight of the water tears the rubber.

There is no reason for pouring hot water into the hot, as you cannot heat the hot on your own anyhow, and the very hot water ruins the rubber.

Always open the hot before putting in the stopper by pouring the upper part of the hot. Then the air in the hot will escape and the hot will do its duty to get into every shape and position except the one in which you wish it. If the hot is in a position to the next time the hot will be filled to the top.

Don't use the hot as a pillow, and don't forget it and roll over on it. It is just as careful not to kick it on the floor, particularly if you are sleeping outdoors. You can scarcely expect it to be an good a hot if you do.

Never buy a hot which is cheaply and carelessly made. It is usually the most expensive in the end. If you are a good judge of rubber you may get a bargain, but you probably won't.

"Do you mind me, Mabel, I don't get hurted. The night's dreamin' would be in that subway."

"Sweetest, you're dartin'." Mr. Conroy answered his answer. "If you had your own and scraps out all the about. This carefully, so as to preserve the shape and be very careful to take out

Nature's Wonders

Books upon books have been written about the various wonders of the world, while there are seventy-seven of natural wonders in every country of any great extent. Man's handiwork, however elaborate, strikes into insignificance when compared with what we may see in any part of the world. Vast caves, mighty rivers and lofty mountains, with gorges, canyons, plains and forests, in extending admiration and awe, and a library might be filled with a description of the natural curiosities of a single State.

In Arizona, there is an area in which thirty-five hundred volcanoes may be counted. The majority are extinct, but hundreds are active, emitting smoke, hot water, mud and mineral substances.

From the sides of the hills, grouped in an immense amphitheatre, come forth most beautiful springs of clear, warm water—some so hot, when so sweet, so bitter and so strongly alkaline, that no living being or animal can drink it. These waters course down the hillside, laying a coat of white, pink, purple, blue or green, made by the mineral salts they contain, upon everything with which they come in contact.

In the midst of these hills is the Lake of Fire. There run into it scores of streams of clear, mineral hot water; others that are warm, and two that are cold.

The lake is four miles in length and one-eighth in width, like a gem set in these hills or these ancient volcanoes. The ink-like water which fills the lake, comes up to within three or four inches of the level of its shores.

The temperature near the edge is about 110 degrees, gradually growing warmer as you get down to it, and as you approach the center of the lake, on the surface it is 166 degrees, and at a depth of 250 feet it is 216 degrees.

Near the shore on the east, south, and west sides the water is only four to six feet in depth for 20 or more feet into the lake, where the shore breaks off perpendicularly, and there no bottom has ever been found.

To the touch, the water feels smooth and oily. The ashes and soil which cover the lake when its waters are quiet, are from one-half an inch to an inch thick. The water of the lake is jet black, though it does not color the skin of those who bathe in it.

Under a glass the coloring matter seems to be a minute black substance, held in suspension by the water, which adheres to white cloth immersed in the lake. To the taste, the water is warm, salt and bitter. To the bathers, it is a most refreshing and cooling, and is said to be a most effective remedy for a host of ailments.

Millions of bubbles, formed by escaping gases, keep the surface of the lake agitated at all times. It rolls, boils and foams, as if ready to burst, and is said to be a most effective remedy for a host of ailments.

In Lassen county, California, is a spot called Dry Lake, which is in reality almost an arid plain, with almost all scattered here and there, are small pits of water, which are said to be a most effective remedy for a host of ailments.

If a horse walks on this road any where, even two or three miles outside the border of the Dry Lake it can be heard for many miles up in the interior. This sound is said to be a most effective remedy for a host of ailments.

The most singular phenomena in the world is the island of Papua. The island is elevated 6000 feet above the sea, and there are animals towering some feet higher, but the close proximity of the water has covered the great plain with luxuriant vegetation. The climate is a perpetual May, with a heavy rain and the only animals are a few mammals, such as a ground kangaroo and opossum. This lovely region is literally doated. The million Papuan live in the pouring rain, and are only occasionally dry to the skin.

The hat worn with this was of black path in the low crowned, broad crown and shape that the Minnesota senator's wife had uniformly wearing.

Washington Fashions

Washington society in its broadest sense has become more fully reconciled to the elimination of the inaugural ball from the history of the nation's ceremonial life. The inauguration of March 4, and the subsequent parade and ball, were the last of the kind, and it is believed that the nation will never again see such a spectacle. The Sacred Pigeons of Venice

One of the peculiar institutions of Venice are the "Holy Pigeons of St. Mark," which have been recognized as such by the authorities of Venice for more than a thousand years, ever since the year 877.

In olden times it was the custom of the secretaries of St. Mark's Cathedral to release doves of various colors, with paper, after the religious service of Palm Sunday. The fathers of the church, who were of the opinion that it was not proper to catch the people, who fatted them for their Easter dinner.

Sometimes one and sometimes a dozen of the poor, fluttering creatures would manage to break the paper, and then they would be taken to the shops which bound wings and feet, where they were almost invariably sought refuge on the roof and in the steeples of the historic old church.

All of the escaped birds assumed a certain sacredness, and it being against the law to kill or harm them in any way, increased to enormous numbers.

During the time of the republic the "Sacred Pigeons of St. Mark" became objects of national pride, and of great being annually supplied for their maintenance.

After the fall of the republic, thousands of them starved to death, and all would have died but for provisions made by a pious old lady, whose will perpetually provides for them.

The True Story of a Pet Quail

We had often been told by old inhabitants, and believed it to be true, that it was impossible to tame a quail, even when their eggs had been taken from the nest and hatched under an ordinary hen.

That they can be tamed, and to an extraordinary degree in some timid and wild creatures, I shall prove to my readers by giving them an experience with a brood just out of the shell.

They must be secured as early after hatching as possible, otherwise one would never get them, for they will run about and scratch for themselves as a very early age, and when they can do this, in their wild state, it would be impossible to capture them.

There were eight or ten in the covey presented to my sister and myself, and they were so young that they showed no fear of us from the first.

The whole brood would run after us, and it was an amusing sight to see us followed around by these fluffy balls of brown, always expecting some daily morsel in the way of a worm or a bug; and so solicitous were they of their welfare, that before we were aware of the cause several of them died from wet feet and many flies.

We finally succeeded, with a great deal of care, in raising two, which we named John and Jane.

They knew their names well, and would always respond to them. They became the dearest pets, and so tame that when we sat down they would often fly up into our laps, put their pretty heads on one side and look up at us with great confidence, and at night would sleep on our feet. They were so tame that when we were sitting on the porch, they would settle down in the most contented way, with a "cheep, cheep!" and doze off to sleep.

If they were not disturbed, they would settle down in the most contented way, with a "cheep, cheep!" and doze off to sleep.

Delation Found Slower in the Country Districts

I've spent almost every night during the last week on trains, visiting many cities and towns in an effort to find out conditions and sentiment. These investigations have produced mixed impressions among them.

The big money earned during the war has not all been squandered. The working classes have saved proportionately more than business concerns—probably because tax payments have consumed most of the latter's funds.

Therefore, although unemployment is perhaps more widespread than recognized, there is a less violent revolutionary sentiment among workers than one would expect.

Also the disposition of workers to do more work is noticeable. Indeed, there are men to have arisen among labor a certain pride in being kept on when the ax falls right and left, reputation being regarded as a sort of certificate that the worker is a workman of superior ability. For example, one young woman in Johnson, Pa., told us with commendable satisfaction that her boss had been kept on at the Cambria Steel plant after a great many had been dismissed and that he had received a summons to report again today, after only two weeks' idleness because of a deep cut in the steel mill.

The revival of pride in workmanship not only creates a deep feeling of gratification, but is an encouraging augury for the future. So long as "slacking" is not working, as regarded an art, we were dangerously circumstances.

At every turn the slowing down of the pace and the greater tendency to economize are being in one case. Railroad trains have a semidormant appearance, particularly the Pullman coaches. The train employees complain that both volume of travel and speed of trip have decreased terribly. Yet they are glad to have jobs.

Southern resorts are receiving few visitors. Some fashionable hotels have three servants for every guest. Frothy beverages have been generous, however, so that they are not in sore straits.

Tire Conservation

Shabby tires on a good looking car? You stand on the street corner today and count the number of patched-up dilapidated tires which are being used to the last mile. The cost of keeping such tires running for a few thousand miles would nearly pay for new ones. Mileage such as this comes high.

Tire conservation does not mean picking up a decrepit tire and putting it back into service at a big repair cost just to save a little rubber left in the tread. It means taking care of the tire from the first so that it will be able to deliver all the mileage out of it by the maker. When tires are so far worn that they are slow to blow, it is poor economy to repair them. Such a course means sacrifice to the inner tube as well.

Cheap makeshift patches, boots and temporary repairs of all kinds are now being called into use, as never before, but patching up an old casing in such separation of fabric piles already begun, cannot give the freedom from trouble from which the pleasure in motoring is largely dependent.

To fully enjoy the thrill and sport of winter driving the motorist should look well to his tire equipment. Good tires and those of standard make are the best insurance against the roadside emergency on frosty winter nights.

The slot machines are admirably adapted for taking the coats of the community.

Loses Leg, But Still Skates

The unquenchable spirit of the crippled veteran has seldom manifested itself so strikingly as in the case of a mechanical draftsman or Toronto, Canada, who before the war was an accomplished ice skater. When, as a British soldier, he lost a leg in France, his skating days seemed past, says "Popular Mechanics." Returning to Canada, however, he applied himself patiently to his old art, and eventually learned to skate once more. Now he has become so skilful with his one skate that public exhibitions take up much of his spare time.

Auto Aids Getting "Back to Normal"

"Few individuals outside the automotive industry realize what an important part the automobile is playing in the 'back-to-normal' movement," says Fred W. Warner, president of the Oakland Motor Car Co. of Pontiac, Mich. "The automobile alone is what seems to be a good time to call the attention of the public to the great benefits gained through the passenger car."

"There are, I know, those who regard the passenger car as an extravagance but those persons must be numbered along with the cartwrights, and let it stand in a covered dish until you are ready to put it in the oven. Then add the sugar, cover tightly and let the heat of the oven do the cooking. Primes are especially delicious cooked in this way."

The marvelous success of the caterpillar type of tractor, as used in the great drive from Paris, was accomplished by nothing more than a development of the familiar skid-chain principle.

What Is Your Furniture Worth?

Go down to a furniture store and see what it would cost you to replace your household furnishings.

The dresser for which you paid $20.00 would now cost you $75.00, and so on through the list - the furniture you bought five years ago has at least doubled in value.

Have you doubled your insurance? If not, and you should have a fire insurance policy which will replace less than half of your household goods.
