NASCSA RESOLUTION 2000-02

October 2000

Louisville, Kentucky

WHEREAS, industrial chemicals such as GBL (gamma butyrolactone), 1,4 butanediol, tetrahydroforan and others are precursors of GHB (gamma hydroxybutyrate);

WHEREAS, these chemicals are metabolized to GHB when consumed by or administered to humans; and

WHEREAS, the illicit or unapproved use of GHB can cause effects that present an imminent hazard to public safety and an increasing number of problems for law enforcement;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that to more effectively address the abuse of identified and as yet unidentified chemicals for their ability to cause a GHB-like effect, the membership of the National Association of State Controlled Substances Authorities urge state legislatures to adopt legislation similar to federal law addressing controlled substance analogues.
