Founding Of Hall County Celebrated

A large crowd was present at the "Shoe Bar Ranch Headquar ters" located North of Lakeview, Texas and the present home of Bobby and Dixie Barbee for the centennial celebration of the founding of Hall County. The activities were held Saturday, May 5, although the actual petition was submitted May 4. John Deaver II served as master of ceremonies and gave a brief history of the events leading up to the establishing of the county as well as recognizing several "old timers" who were in Frankie McWhorter, Barto Riley and Zip Durrett began the estern music entertainment McWhorter has been installed "Western Music Halls of Fame" in Nebraska and California featured in John Erikson's book, The Fiddlin' Fox. The Texas Tech press in Lubbock is publishing a series of three books concerning his accomplish-ments. McWhorter also played with the noted "Bob Wills Band" for three years. His music has a very distinct style.

The entire afternoon was a busy one with rides for everyone in a mule drawn wagon provided other events scheduled which by Doug Forbes of Silverton who loaned the rig to Billy D. Bowman. Other activities included to make the year one to be re-Horse Shoe Pitching, volleyball, membered. and wading in the Oaks Creek.

A special attraction featured a "Branding Iron Party." Gaylon Clark, chairman, burned ranch family brands, many several generations old, onto a board. This event ties the past closely to the present as many brands

Another enjoyable event were tours through the ranch head-

Members of the Barbee Family who have occupied the home since 1928 conducted the tours. Authentic cowboys and their horses added to the "color" of the celebration. Souvenirs and commemorative items were available.

A "Texas Flag" was donated by state representative, Warren Chisum. Those attending the event were given the opportunity to sign their name on the flag which will be included in the items to be placed in the "time capsule" to be opened in the year 2040.

Members of the committee and others served the evening meal which closed the day's events. Many other people were involved to make the day a success including the Memphis Volunteer Fire Department who oversaw orderly parking of vehicles. Thomas Tippett served as auctioneer on the first five numbered commemorative belt

The committee has several will be announced throughout the rest of 1990 which promises

The following article by Alice Gilroy appeared in the Floydada paper, the Floyd County Hesperian.

We sat down and tried to figure out how many words go into a 10 page paper. We couldn't. Because of ads and pictures, the words on a page will vary. But if you don't count the space for ads and tures, there are about 6,000 words to a page. That, of course is 60,000 words for a 10 page paper.

We try to have something in it for everyone, so that is why we purposely put in misspelled words.

Very often (I mean every once in a while) we leave off paragraphs or rearrange them entirely. Sometimes we misspell children's names because their parents did not have the foresight to spell them the way we think they should.

When we make mistakes around here, everybody knows it. It is in print. It's not like your ordinary everyday screw ups in your office where the only ones who know about it are the people you work with. HERE-EVERYBODY KNOWS!

Here are some of our favorite mistakes about which we still New Caprock manage to laugh:

Merrell Brings

The Valley Track Team participated in the State Track Meet at Austin Saturday, May 12. The team scored a total of 29 points to finish third in the meet.

Warren Merrell won the state championship in the 3200 meter run with a personal best of 9.51.8. Merrell stayed with the field till 300 meters were left and out sprinted the rest in for the gold medal. He came back to claim another gold medal in the mile with a time of 4.27.4 and was clearly the best in the state, winning the race by 30 yards.

Clay Edwards ran a 49.4 in the 400 meter dash to finish fourth. He also claimed a sixth place finish in the 200 meter with a time of 21.7. Both times were personal best.

Kirk Garner placed fourth in the 300 hurdles with a time of Bubba Clardy placed eighth in the 200 with a personal best of 22.7. Garner, Clardy, Edwards and Jason Smith ran the sprint relay but were disqualified in the race because of running out of the exchange zone.

This was a great season for our boys, they all worked very hard all year to accomplish these things. Warren Merrell was our only senior at the meet so another great season is expected out of the team next year."

Caprock Genealogical Society Organized

and weather warnings, 12 residents from Floyd, Briscoe and Motley counties met Monday evening, April 23, at the Floyd County Historical Musuem in Floydada, to organize the "Caprock Genealogical Society"

Officers elected to serve for 1990-1991 were: Sharon Pigg, president; June Sherman, vice president and program chairman; Jane Bean, secretary/ treasurer; Carolyn Jackson, reporter; and Marisue Potts and Jackie Mercer, social co-chair-

"To Participate, Encourage and Share" was chosen as the motto of the Society, which will meet on the third Monday of each month with the exception of June, July and August.

Nancy Marble brought to the attention of those present the resources available in the Mary Lou Bollman History and Genealogy Center in the Museum. The Center contains two microfilm readers, one of which has a printer; Floyd County community and family files; microfilm rolls of early Floyd County newspapers and U.S. Census records; and a growing collection of books, which have been donated to the Museum.

The next meeting of the Society will be at 7 p.m., Monday

Despite threatening clouds May 21, at the Court House in Silverton. Members are to bring 4-generation pedigree charts, as complete as possible, on each parent and a list of books they own which they would be willing to loan to other members of the Society. Anyone interested in genealogy is invited to attend.

Refreshments were furnished by June Sherman, Sharon Pigg and Jackie Mercer.

Present for the meeting were Nancy Marble, Mary Lou Bollman, Carolyn Sue, Jane Bean, Marisue Potts, Jackie Mercer, Sharon Pigg, June Sherman, Vera Jo Bybee, Janet Milam, Juanita Broseh and Carolyn

MEMBER 1990

Santa Fe newspaper, blasted its native citizens with this item: robbery more contemptible and cowardly than the midnight depredations of the common burglar. We allude to the practice of certain capitalists, who, by the potency of the funds they control, enlist the aid of savages, the scalping knife and the faggot, in adding yet more to their ill-gotten wealth, while they, lying about fashionable hotels, smoking cigars, and enjoying all the comforts of security, smile in gloated satisfaction at the murder and theft that are the inevitable co-comitants of their illicit business. These remarks apply to that class who en-courage the Comanches....to steal cattle from Texas....with the offer to buy from them all they can obtain. These men hire ignorant creatures to go out and meet the Indians on the plains and bring...the stolen stock to market where bona fide purchasers become the suffers. This kind of traffic is what has led the Texas raids in San Miguel and other counties...The people of Texas...have arisen to protect themselves. They are retaking their stock whenever they find it. We cannot deny the justice of the Texans' claim."

The Santa Fe New Mexican probably analyzed the Comancheros best with those terse words, "ignorant creatures," pawns in the hands of the rich. Though they braved the rigors of the lonely Llano, risking their scalps and what estates they owned, it is doubtful if any of them earned, after all returns were in, more than beans and chili. At least the testimony of three former Comancheros and a man who ought contraband livestock from them did not indicate substantial affluence when they talked about their former vocations many years

On June 26, 1893, three former traders, Jose Piedad Tafoya, Julian

Manuel Gonzales, a cattle trader, appeared in Las Vegas, N.M., and brought by Goodnight and Sheek against the United States and the Comanche Indians. These old and wrinkled men, bent with the years in and out of the trade for a quarter of a century, gave, perhaps, the best account of the Comanchero trade that has been left, either written or spoken. They spun intriguing tales of long, slow trips from their ranchosin San Miguel County, N.M., to the dark canyons along the Quitaque Creek in Texas, of long waits for the Indians to appear, how thin the cattle looked after long, brutal drives, and the loneliness of the Jose Piedad Tafoya was among the wealthiest and most aggressive of all the Comancheros. Jose might have been a lone burro man when started, but it wasn't long until he was a long train patron with many empleados who rode alongside the caravans in squeaking saddles and wearing high crowned sombreros. They were the meat hunters, camp makers and cowboys.

Tofoya swore that in September of 1865 he was "at a place called Quitaque in Texas," and that the Co-manches drove a herd of 2,500 cattle there for trading. In 1867 he was at the same place and that from 2,500 to 3,000 head were driven there by Comanches and Kiowas,but mostly Comanches. He and other Comancheros traded for 1,937 head of this herd. When asked if he had ever had cattle taken away from him, he replied, "Yes, sir. The soldiers took away over 900 head near the Brancos which I had purchased of the Indians at Quitaque. They said the Indians had stolen them from the people in Texas, and they took them away from me.

The other Comancheros in Las Vegas that day explained how they carried on their trade with the Indians. Their trading grounds were at Quitaque, Yellowhouse Canyon, Rita Blanca, Hardwood, Tierra Blanca, Blanco Canyon, Puenta de Agua and "at the lakes on the plains." One mentioned that Jose Tafoya was the only one among them rich enough to own wagons. All swore stolen livestock in a northwesterly direction for 100 miles to the Fort Smith road, then followed it west into New Mexico. Evidently they struck the Fort Smith road near today's Adrian, Texas. There were no people or any signs of civilization in the Panhandle at that time, only the silent, endless land shimmering with mirages in the day and sleep ing under a glistening dome of stars Tafoya further swore that in 1864 he was trading for Major Bergmann "in charge of the military at Fort Bascom" and in 1865 for a merchant named Jennings at Hatch's ranch on the Gallinas River. Jose Tafoya did not mention guns or ammuni-tion as trade items but did list such things as paint, cloth, beads and bread. One wonders what Major Bergmann furnished Tafoya in return for cattle. According to Tafoya, he ceased trading in 1867 and became a scout and guide for General Hatch, Colonel Davis and General "McKinsley" (probably ter.

Mackenzie). He held this position

Third In A Series

from 1875 to 1882. R.N. Stevens, assistant attorney for the Department of Justice in Las Vegas in 1893, tried to press Julian Baca into admitting that some of the Mexicans were raiding under the guise of Indians into central Texas, but Baca swore that he didn't know of any such instance

Conner, Seymour Attend State FFA Meeting

Future Homemakers of America held the annual state meeting in Dallas April 27 and 28. Gina Conner, vice-president of Public Relations Region I and Genie Seymour incoming Region I vice-president of Star Events were accompanied by their advisor, Mrs. Taylor.

The theme, "International Express-Destination Success" was carried out at the three general sessions and Saturday workshops. Gina was responsible for meeting Friday to decide on the 1990-91 state officers. Both Ginand Genie worked on the State Connection team interviewing speakers and writing ar-ticles for the state newsletter distributed Saturday.

Saturday was a busy day at the meeting. After the second general session held Saturday morning, Gina Conner was responsible for setting up and conducting a work-shop session, "Communication" with another regional officer. She had planned many fun activities for the participants: Play-acting, skits, gos-sip, music, and audience participa-

After leading two workshops, Gina reported to the State Connec-tion team headquarters to help put out the state newsletter. The meet-

Jamie Taylor In Tumbling Meet

Jamie Taylor, daughter of Wal-ter and Kathy Taylor, recently competed in the State Tumbling and Trampoline meet held Saturday, May 11 in Snyder, Texas. To be eligible for this meet Jamie competed in both the Beginners Trampoline and Beginners Tum-bling events at the district meet held in April.She placed in the top 10 in both events.

At Snyder, there were over 50 girls in Jamie's groups. She competed very well in both the trampoline and tumbling events but failed

ing ended Saturday evening with the installation of the 1990-91 state

Sunday was spent relaxing and enjoying a day at Six Flags. The FHA members returned Monday.
