

COMMUNITY SERVICE/PRO BONO ANNUAL AWARD Nomination Form

The Virginia Court Reporters Association's Community Service/Pro Bono Committee has established an annual award bestowed to someone who has donated their time and skills for the community where they live. The award is given during our Annual Convention/Education Day, which will be held Saturday March 14, 2015, at the Jepson Alumni Center, University of Richmond, in Richmond, Virginia.

Do you know someone who has provided free court reporting services to a needy Individual or family, donated their time as a court reporter for a community project, taught seminars, mentored, or volunteered for any other supportive undertaking that has positively affected the life or lives of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Virginia?

We'd love to know who you would like the VCRA Board to consider for this award.

Send in your nomination, along with a narrative explaining your choice, by February 10, 2015. Please use the back of this form to let us know why you're nominating your candidate. (A nominee does not have to be a court reporter or does not have to have donated time and skills in a court reporting capacity.)
