

The Charitable Gift Annuity

A Smart Way to Give and Receive

More Attractive Than Ever

Perhaps you are like our friends who enjoy supporting our programs through tax-wise gifts and would like to set up payments for life. If so, now may be the ideal time to explore the many benefits of our gift annuity program.

Barbara is a good example. Her husband, a long-time supporter, died three years ago. Now at age 75, Barbara's major objective is to ensure her financial security. She has always wanted to make a substantial gift in her husband's memory, but feels that she simply cannot give up any of her present assets.

Barbara learned that she can transfer cash or appreciated property to us and receive dependable — and possibly favorably taxed — fixed payments for as long as she lives. What's more, she can even deduct a portion of the transfer on her income tax return.

A favorably taxed payout, immediate tax savings, the satisfaction of memorializing her husband in a significant way — these are the rewards Barbara can gain by participating in our gift annuity program.

How a Gift Annuity Works for You

In exchange for your gift of cash or securities, we agree to pay a specified dollar amount to you (and/or another beneficiary) each year for as long as you (and/or another beneficiary) may live. In most cases, annuity payments are made on a quarterly basis, although other payment options are available.

The annuity payments are based on the age of the annuitant(s) at the time you make your gift. The table on the right shows the percentage we will pay at various age levels.

For example, if you are 65 years old and make a gift of $100,000 to this program, we will agree to pay you an annuity of $5,300 a year for as long as you may live. If you are 80 years old the payments will be $7,100 per year.

A Gift Annuity Saves on Taxes

A part of each and every annuity payment you receive will be taxable, but a portion will be free of income taxes until you reach life expectancy as measured at the time you make your gift. The exact amount of the payment that will be tax-free depends upon the age of the beneficiary.

In addition, every gift made to our gift annuity program qualifies for an immediate income tax charitable deduction. The deduction generally is equal to the fair market value of the property transferred to us minus the present value of the annuity that the donor receives. Valuing the annuity depends on the number and age of the annuitant(s), and the monthly Applicable Federal Rate. We will be happy to supply a free illustration for your specific circumstances.

A Gift Annuity Creates Many Benefits

To see how a gift annuity creates benefits, consider the following example:

Robert, age 70, transfers $100,000 cash to our gift annuity program in exchange for an assured lifetime annuity of $5,700 a year. At his age and assuming a 3.0% applicable federal rate (AFR) and quarterly payments, he can deduct about $37,156 on his income tax return. If his federal income tax bracket is 35 percent, the charitable deduction will provide an immediate tax savings of about $13,005 ($$37,156 \times 0.35 = $13,005$). Factor in the $13,005 tax savings and the net outlay for Robert is only $86,995. What's more, $3,950 of the $5,700 annual payout will be tax-free to Robert until he reaches the age of his life expectancy.

A gift annuity is truly a gift plan that can help you do more for yourself and still make a meaningful gift that will have an impact on our important work.

Planning Tip

If a donor sets up a charitable gift annuity at a time when the Applicable Federal Rate (AFR) is low, the portion of the gift annuity payment that is tax free is increased.

For instance, Donor A is 75 years old. He donates $20,000 in cash to set up a charitable gift annuity. The gift annuity will pay him $1,260 every year in quarterly payments. But what part of that gift annuity payment is tax-free? Depends on the AFR —

- If the AFR is 3.0% – the tax-free portion is $912 of $1,260

- If the AFR is 5.0% – the tax-free portion is $805 of $1,260

The AFR can be important. Be sure to contact our offices when considering a charitable gift annuity to learn the most recent rates.

A Gift Annuity Is Flexible

Where to direct the income. Arranging a gift annuity for yourself is only one of the possible beneficiary designations. If you are like many others, you may want to set up an annuity that will be paid to you and your spouse, or to a parent, or a child for life.

Choosing the gift property. You can transfer cash or securities to our gift annuity program. Indeed, funding your gift with appreciated securities can be an excellent means of minimizing capital gains taxes. If you own assets that are providing little or no income, giving that asset to our organization in order to set up annuity payments for life could be an option.

Additional Rewards to Consider

Property transferred to the gift annuity program generally will not be subject to estate taxes at your death (unless you name a second beneficiary). Strategic giving to the program could also significantly reduce the cost of administering your estate.

How to Find out More
