2015 WASA/AWSP
SUMMER
CONFERENCE

CONFERENCE

The annual WASA/AWSP Summer Conference will be held June 28–30, at the Spokane Convention Center. Visit the conference website at www.wasa-oly.org/Summer15 to view our exciting line-up of keynote speakers and concurrent sessions.

SATURDAY, JUNE 27

9 a.m.–4 p.m.

Using Professional Learning Community Concepts and Practices as a Foundation for Making Decisions and Improving Student Learning

PRESENTERS: JANEL KEATING; MIKE HAGADONE; AND SCOTT HARRISON; WHITE RIVER SCHOOL DISTRICT

This session will give you the opportunity to learn how the concepts and practices of a learning community drive all the work of improving learning in the White River School District. The four critical questions serve as the umbrella and link for all district work. Janel, Mike, and Scott will share how the work of the district office team impacts the work of the principal team and the teacher teams in each building and the teacher teams across the district.

This interactive session will include the work related to standards, common assessments, efficient ways to examine data both at the team level and the district level, strategies for providing additional time, support, and extensions, and a look at standards-based grading. It's all tied together! The White River team will specifically highlight the data team's work at the school level and the district level. You will leave this session armed with practical strategies to lead and operationalize the research related to improving learning and improving culture.

The presenters will also highlight how this work is a direct fit with the teacher principal evaluation.

Lunch is provided.

SUNDAY, JUNE 28

9 a.m.–12 p.m.

Ignite Learning With a Growth Mindset

PRESENTER: EMILY DIEHL, DIRECTOR, K–12 PROFESSIONAL LEARNING AND CURRICULUM DESIGN, MINDSET WORKS

In this session, participants will learn how cultivating a growth mindset school culture increases student agency, motivation, and persistence in a school setting, especially among struggling students. They will learn strategies for introducing students and educators to growth mindset thinking, creating a growth mindset classroom and school culture, supporting students in self-monitoring and developing their abilities, and will explore how to build learning communities with colleagues to deepen their growth mindset practice. Participants will leave with additional resources and tools (readings, videos, and graphic organizers) to extend the work.

1–4 p.m.

Targeted Feedback: A Closer Look at How to Grow Teachers

PRESENTER: SHEEBA JACOB, M.ED., PROJECT DIRECTOR, CENTER FOR EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP, UW

Targeted feedback from principals can be a way to support teachers with their goals and create a school culture that results in growing teacher practice in order to improve student learning. In this session, participants will learn how to develop a feedback process that responds to a teacher's identified learning needs/goals. Participants can bring their instructional frameworks and rubrics to augment this learning.

OUTCOMES

- Identify where targeted feedback sits within an inquiry cycle.
- Begin to develop a strengths-based stance when observing teachers and giving feedback.
- Begin to develop a practice for feedback.

ESSENTIAL QUESTIONS

- How do we use targeted feedback to change our practice?
- How do we use a cycle of inquiry to foster teacher growth?
- How do we shift our school culture to ongoing support for teacher learning?

SATURDAY–SUNDAY, JUNE 27–28

9 a.m.–4 p.m.
