Relief Near On Woods Refuse Problem

Hundreds Storm Municipal Building As Collections Lag

The hundreds of residents in Grosse Pointe Woods who stormed the Municipal Building with complaints on the pokey garbage and rubbish pick-ups were assured of some relief this week.

The contract which was originally awarded to James Signorella on June 22 by the Council was reassigned by Acting Administrator Philip F. Allard, when petitions from frantic housewives compelled immediate action.

Tuesday night the Council passed their approval on the new contract holders, Russell Painter and Ewald Ruthenberg, after Signorella failed to fulfill his agreement.

As snow and ice slowed down the garbage collections in the Woods during the past few weeks, further trouble was encountered with truck breakdowns.

The garbage collections were also hampered in the Woods when Signorella's men went out on strike for more pay.

Signorella petitioned the City for more money but was turned down.

The original agreement with the Council called for two collections from every house in Grosse Pointe Woods each week.

Many worried parents reported that their garbage had not been collected in ten days and that necessary conditions were

Mrs. Sheaffer Has Defense Four File for Seats On Council in Farms

Mrs. Alice Sheaffer, a member of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, was appointed to the chairmanship of the emergency feeding and shelter program now being organized as a Civil Defense measure.

The announcement was made by George Elworthy, director of Civil Defense in Grosse Pointe. Elworthy stated that Grosse Pointe High School has been designated as an emergency feeding and shelter station in event of disaster.

Private construction companies, Elworthy said, are being called on to volunteer their heavy equipment in case of an emergency.

He added that the Lake Shore Coach Line had been given instructions in the event a raid should occur.

Drivers will be ordered to proceed to a public building or a school and unload passengers. Passengers would then remain indoors until the all-clear is sounded.

Rabaut Pushes Citizenship Bill in House

Rep. Louis C. Rabaut has reopened his drive for legislation to restore American citizenship to those persons who lost it by voting in political elections in Italy in violation of the Nationality Act of 1940.

A bill to accomplish this was passed by the House in the 81st Congress, but died in the Senate without the approval of the upper body.

An investigating Committee of the House, which went to Italy in 1949, found that due to disruption of communication facilities during the war these people were not informed of the technical change in the nationality law, according to Rabaut.

He said it was frustrating to have to begin again the long legislative climb, especially when the issue is so clear and the facts so favorable to the passage of the bill.

As part of its observance of the 41st anniversary of Scouting in the United States, Troop 96 of District 3, Detroit Area Boy Scouts of America, held a Court of Honor Monday night at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

A merit badge in marksmanship was presented to Richard Anslow, and First Class Scout badges were given to James Conrless and Edwin Nicholson.

Second Class badges went to Robert Henderson, Sandy MacMechan, Richard Noer, Bill Reeves and George Risk.

D. G. McGinty, representing Detroit Area Boy Scout headquarters, presented a new charter to the troop, and an initial

Promote Ducastel In Korea

A 19-year-old soldier from Grosse Pointe was promoted to the rank of sergeant on a Korean battlefield December 23. The honor came to Sgt. Joseph F. Ducastel on the day of his nineteenth birthday.

Ducastel enlisted in the Army January, 1949 for three years. Before entering the service he attended St. Ambrose and Grosse Pointe High Schools where he participated in football and basketball.

The young sergeant trained at Ft. Lewis, Washington, for 18 months before going overseas in July, 1950.

Ducastel, whose parents are the Deloss Shives' of 1248 Maryland, is a former Grosse Pointe Review carrier boy.

His stepbrother, William Shives, is presently stationed in Korea with the Navy.

Editor's Note: Due to a mix-up with a story concerning another local serviceman, Ducastel was erroneously reported home on furlough in last week's Review.

Farms OK's Defense Budget

The Grosse Pointe Farms Council was the first body to take action on the Civilian Defense budget as recently set up by Neil Blondell, Defense Budget Director, for Grosse Pointe and Gratiot Township.

The Farms approved payment of $1,360, pending action by the other Councils.

The six-month budget provides for a working fund of $5,010 which will be used to establish a Defense Office, Defense Director, equipment and supplies.

Costs to the other communities are: Park, $1,388.27; City, $713.42; Shores, $317.63; Woods, $832.83; Woods, $832.86, and Gratiot Township, $397.30.

Volunteers Respond to Call

Several volunteers responded to the appeal for advisors made by the Grosse Pointe Woods Community Club last week.

They offered their services to provide youth with opportunities in the community. In doing so, these people are making a contribution to the welfare of the entire community.

Children's groups at the Community Club meet once a week for about two hours, and engage in play, arts and crafts, trips, and participate in other activities which foster positive relationships with other children.

Many volunteers who have done this kind of work tell of the tremendous satisfactions derived.

A training course will provide volunteers with an opportunity to learn new skills and to acquire an appreciation of the child's make-up. This course will start during the week of February 12.

Residents who enjoy helping youngsters and want to participate in this program, please telephone the Community Club, TU. 1-7970.

Find Cases of Dutch Elm Blight Here

The Grosse Pointe Garden Club has on display at the War Memorial Center, 32 Lake Shore Road, specimens of a proven case of Dutch Elm blight, taken from trees killed after about one year's infection with the disease. These trees were found within five miles of Grosse Pointe.

The samples were submitted by William F. McQuade of St. Clair Shores.

The public is urged to view these specimens to become acquainted with the appearance of the Dutch Elm disease, in order to prevent its spread in the community.

The land is located between Marier road and the Milk River, just north of the Girard Drain.

Acting Administrator Philip F. Allard stated that a new highway building would be one of the first projects erected on the site.

Former owners of the land are Cecil Daniel, D. Henry Scherer and the Second Boulevard Corporation.

Class Takes Action on Health Problems

By MARCIA BLECKI
Grosse Pointe High School students in Mr. Ralph Steffek's English V classes ended a busy semester recently. During the term one group of English V students became so interested in the Michigan mental health problem, that they wanted to do something to help. During the campaign to pass Proposal No. 2 to benefit the mentally ill, they rang 400 doorbells in Grosse Pointe and distributed literature of the Wayne County Mental Hygiene Society explaining the importance of voting yes for the proposal. By a visit to Wayne County General Hospital, they became acquainted with the problems of mentally ill in Michigan. They noted overcrowded conditions, lack of trained personnel, and a determined attempt to treat patients humanely. Another group became interested in social problems of a shifting population. By visiting the Mayor's Interracial Committee headquarters, they learned some of the problems of minority groups. A friendship trip through Detroit showed them the crowded and varying facilities of the area bounded by Woodward, Forest, Russel, and the Detroit River. The same group visited Miller High School. A third group of students compared other high schools to Grosse Pointe High. They visited Port Huron, Redford, and Miller High Schools in connection with this project. Still another group became interested in teenage problems and how to promote family understanding. What do these projects have to do with English? The English V course is largely writing. "Students," Mr. Steffek explains, "often build up resistance against writing because they have nothing to write about. In the case of English V projects, experience introduces the challenge to write." Students report on projects to the class, write summaries of what they have learned, and do considerable reading in research connected with these experiences. At the same time through these projects the students learn to appreciate the problems of others, to appreciate their community and their school, and to become mature persons who are ready to assume responsibility for citizenship in a democracy.

Multiple Bill Leads to Ruin Rabaut Says

According to the recent statement of Representative Louis C. Rabaut on the abandonment of the Consolidated Appropriation Bill, every item in the multiple bill system is a possible leak in the dike, and if the dike gives way, the flood tide of financial ruin may engulf us all. Rabaut points out that by consolidating the expenditures of federal funds in a single-package bill, Congress and the people of the nation were enabled to see clearly the relation of these expenditures to the revenues of government. To put this graphically, try to imagine a successful business or an efficient housewife attempting to manage their budget affairs without some idea of the way their expenses would compare with their income. Under the omnibus or "one-package" appropriation bill, Representative Rabaut contends, the budget was processed more carefully in the second session of the 81st Congress than at any other time in the nation's history. He offers the fact that there were less amendments to the bill offered and agreed to this year than ever before as one proof of his contention. One chief merit in the one-package bill, he says, was its immunity to pressure, and without the bill, the lid is off the pork barrel and the arm of the selfish local interest are plunged in up to the elbow.

Michigan has made the first move in the nation to develop a state defense council. Proposed purpose of which is to smooth over the transition from civilian to defense production, the council would attempt to organize the economical potential.

For the first time Gov. Williams' corporation tax proposal has reached the floor of the state senate. The governor, chortled as Senator George Higgins, said in a hearing, "what do you want, a corporations tax (Williams' baby) or my manufacturer's process tax?"

The process tax would put a three percent levy on all machinery purchased which does not become a component part of the article manufactured. Manufacturer's agents screamed during the hearing. Observers have already buried the bill. But the hearing clearly was a Williams' victory—without a Democrat present!

The Vandenberg senatorial seat is still a big question mark. In Washington, D.C., the seers are asking Michigan prognosticators what is to happen—and in Michigan we look to Washington for the word. And should the veteran Grand Rapids legislator resign before 1952, things really will be in a tizzy.

WHILE THE DRAFT continues to take more and more of our young people, Pontiac's negro sage, 107-year-old Joe Clovess, says, "There wouldn't be no trouble in Korea if folks would do more prayin' and loving." He's one of eight Civil War Veterans still alive. He should know.

Washington has said it was a "regional office mistake" when it was revealed that bedridden war veterans were "talked to" in an attempt to get them to apply for TB hospitalization in other states. Says Guy F. Palmer, manager of the Detroit regional office, "it was NOT a mistake in this office." And he produced the orders—all stemming from the nation's capitol—telling him to move patients.

Michigan, of course, has the same TB housing problem as most other states. Although a larger building program is in the mill, there are some 300 patients still in private homes because there are no beds in the hospitals.

A budget pinch is the reason given for closing 13 Michigan veterans administration contact offices. Offices were shut down in Battle Creek, Flint, Jackson, Lansing, Muskegon Heights, Saginaw, Escanaba, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, St. Joseph, Marquette, Sault Ste. Marie and Traverse City.

FOLLOWING ANOTHER ROUND of wage increase demands and the subsequent freezing thereon, Walter P. Reuther, president of the U.A.W. (C.I.O.), says that Americans must wage an "all out peace" to defeat world Communism. He also says, however that we should build adequate military strength.

In Michigan, wage and price freezes, while expected, have left the public in a mood of "war readiness." The step was coming, it came—and what next? General feeling: It's war again; let's face it! A permanent price administration is in the mill for the state. Philip Hart, baby-faced director of the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission, has been appointed chief.

Show Marriage Film Here

"Marriage Today," the first film in the series, Building Better Families, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. on February 9 at the Montclair Branch Library, Kercheval and Eastlawn.

The film concerns two couples whose marriages are far from perfect, but who strive toward the ideals and goals of adult love.

The discussion leader for the film program is Mary Eleanor Ford of the Family Service Society of Metropolitan Detroit.

Michigan has 20,000 fewer farms than it had five years ago. Census takers found only 155,575 farms last year while they numbered 175,268 in 1946. But farms are larger, nowadays.

Library Spotlight
By JEAN TAYLOR
of the Grosse Pointe Public Library Staff

There are some who regard the reading of fiction as a waste of time. Fiction, however, has among its defenders the most competent literary critics.

In the delightful book of letters, EDITOR TO AUTHOR, Maxwell Everts Perkins stresses the fact that fiction is not mere entertainment but, as its best a serious interpretation of reality, comprehending within its scope the ugly and the good and the beautiful and subject to such limitations only as are imposed by the conscience of art.

Mr. Perkins was for thirty-seven years on the staff of Charles Scribner's Sons and is recognized as one of the ablest book editors of his time. He might be regarded as the literary foster-father of F. Scott Fitzgerald, Ernest Hemingway, Thomas Wolfe, Ring Lardner and others of this era.

In counseling young novelists his criticism and suggestions were always considerate and direct without being didactic.

In a letter to F. Scott Fitzgerald he says, "Don't ever defer to my judgment. You won't on any vital point, I know, and I should be ashamed, if it were possible to have made you; for a writer of any account must speak solely for himself."

EDITOR TO AUTHOR is stimulating and rewarding reading for anyone and of particular interest to would-be writers.

John Hersey says of fiction, "It makes truth plausible. . . . Journalism allows its readers to witness history. Fiction gives its readers an opportunity to live it." His book, THE WALL, published last summer, which tells of the horrors suffered by the Jews in the Warsaw ghetto bears out this opinion. It is not a pretty tale but a heroic one.

Among recent fiction additions to your library is THE BALANCE WHEEL by Taylor Caldwell. This is a novel of the Wittman dynasty, a wealthy Pennsylvania family of munitions manufacturers. In a similar vein is her earlier novel, THE DYNASTY OF DEATH.

THE SCARLET SWORD by H. E. Bates is "a story of sixty people of many nationalities, nuns, priests, Hindu women and children, an English Colonel, a war correspondent—who are trapped in Kashmir in the riot and massacre that was part of India's price for partition in 1947."

The author, realistic as in all his books, glosses over none of the horrors.

In FOXFIRE, Anya Seton, author of DRAGONWICK and THE HEARTH AND THE EAGLE, tells the story of Amanda who, reared on the right side of the tracks, has a grim adjustment to make when she marries and settles in a small mining town in the southwest. There is adventure here too . . . the quest for gold which ends in discovery.

JAMES R. ULLMAN'S RIVER OF THE SUN is concerned with Mark Allison's search for oil in the Amazon basin and for his own soul. It is set against the background of a savage wilderness. Just as the author's earliest book, THE WHITE TOWER was the mountain's story, so this is the story of the river and the jungle.

IT'S ONLY TEMPORARY by Charles H. Merendahl gives a graphic description of the veteran's tribulations, among them the battle for adequate living quarters. The problems of the young marrieds are here handled with comprehension, compassion and humor.

Thomas Costain has departed from his usual pattern in THE SON OF A HUNDRED KINGS. This is a period novel about an English boy who was sent to Canada in the 1890's by indifferent relatives and who makes a place for himself in a small Ontario town. Reservations may be made by telephone, call your library if you wish any of these titles held for you.

"FOUR SCORE AND SEVEN YEARS AGO . . ."

They signed the Declaration of Independence in July, 1776.

Lincoln spoke at Gettysburg on November 19th, 1863.

Thus, on the 12th day of February, 1951, we stand, almost to the month, at the same distance from Abraham Lincoln and his group of listeners in Adams County, Pennsylvania, as they themselves stood in point of time from the Founding Fathers in Philadelphia. Eighty-seven years. Four score and seven . . .

In those eighty-seven years America has changed from a faltering nation in the agony of civil war to a great power, the spokesman of the free world. Yet this fact has brought no peace of mind to Americans. For we have come to understand that in one respect America has not changed.

As in Lincoln's time events are still testing whether "this nation . . . so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure." And as in Lincoln's time the struggle is as much one of ideas as of weapons. Where in 1863 Virginia meadows and Tennessee woodlands echoed to the thundering proposition that all men are created equal, the fight today for freedom and liberty is world-wide.

Suddenly, we begin to realize that history will always test us. It becomes clear that we are never to have any real surcease from struggle . . . that the very essence of the American idea is that the American Revolution is still going on . . . a continuing revolt against tyranny and totalitarianism, however disguised and wherever found. Only through continuing effort, willingly and gladly given, can the ideal of a free people in a free world be kept alive.

As we understand this, we understand yet one other thing. It is that this nation shall endure only if in God's judgment it deserves to endure. And this places an awesome responsibility on every American. Yet it cannot be too great for us, for Lincoln, who in his time, met the same task was at heart a simple man. Out of his simplicity he found the answer.

We, too, can find it in the closing words of the Second Inaugural . . . and once we have taken the words and their meaning to our hearts, all doubt and anxiety vanish. Our duty is clear and in its understanding we find inner peace.

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in . . . to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace, among ourselves, and with all nations."

HEARTS AND VALENTINES

There's good news in the heart field, the Michigan Department of Health said today in urging Michigan people to check up on their hearts on St. Valentine's Day. Medical examinations at regular intervals make possible the detection of heart changes early when they can be treated to prevent further damage, the Department said.

People with heart defects can live to a ripe old age if they follow their physician's recommendations. The great majority of heart attacks aren't fatal, and the person who has one heart attack may live for many years without a second attack and then die of another cause entirely. Death rates from heart diseases in the older ages are declining.

There is a decline, also, in the incidence of rheumatic fever, due in part to the use of antibiotics in treatment of "strep" infections. Wider general knowledge of the symptoms of rheumatic fever and earlier diagnosis and care are cutting down on heart damage and deaths due to the disease.

Newly developed surgical procedures are improving the outlook for youngsters with certain types of congenital heart disease. Increasing use of penicillin and other antibiotics are reducing deaths due to heart disease of syphilitic origin.

While diseases of the heart and arteries are listed as the cause of more deaths each year, this is due in part to a marked decrease in mortality from infectious diseases at all ages and a resulting increase in the number of people in the older age group.

St. Valentine's Day is National Heart Day and February, National Heart Month.

Take yourself to your doctor for an examination. If he tells you that you have a heart condition, take his advice, and take it easy! There are more cardiacs living complete, full lives today than there have been at any time in the world's history, the Michigan Department of Health said.

English Class Hears Problems of Negro

By RICHARD SAUNDERS
Mrs. Beulah T. Whitby of the Mayor's Interracial Committee of Detroit visited Grosse Pointe High School recently to speak to an English V class whose semester project is the problem of "Negro Education in the South." Mrs. Whitby, who is also an instructor of the Department of Sociology at Wayne University, spoke to the class on the problems of Southern Negroes and mentioned many important statistics. The class has contacted a new four room school house in Alabama which needs books and equipment very badly.

The students recognized this problem by starting a campaign to collect books, athletic equipment, pencils, crayons, and all sorts of useful and helpful items. By the end of the first day over 200 books had been collected.

Edna Edens is the chairman of the project. Don Mendelsohn and Ray Eddy are in charge of the Research Committee and Robert Cardoff is the publicity director.

Mrs. Whitby commended these chairmen and the students under them for approaching this serious problem in such a way.

News in Sight

By DR. MAJESTER

One of the changes in the eye that looks like a lot of trouble and is mistaken as a cataract by many people is a cloudy formation in the outer edge of the cornea.

The cornea is the transparent front part of the eye. The formation starts out as a small arc on the top and bottom edge of a cornea, and gradually the arc gets larger until it forms a complete circle.

The name given to this condition depends on the age of the person that has it. When it is an elderly person we call it arcus senilis cornea and if it is a young person, we term it as arcus juvenile cornea. The thin cloudy ring does not interfere with vision.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASKETBALL

A hard-fighting Monday Cleaner five nearly upset the high-flying American-Italian quintet in the Neighborhood Club's Major Basketball loop last Monday evening.

It was a close checking contest all the way with American-Italian finally squeezing out a 38 to 36 victory in the final period.

Mondry took complete charge of the play in the first half with a good defensive display and paced by Bill Huetteman and Jim Law's scoring efforts of nine and eight points respectively, they led 24 to 12 at intermission.

American-Italian came back strong in the third quarter and closed the gap to 32 to 28 by the end of that period.

Lack of reserve strength told the story in the final quarter as the firing Monday five could not hold back the fast, fresh onrush of the winners.

American-Italian, paced by Roy Garavaglia's 15-point scoring total, were able to hang onto a three way tie for first place honors along with Verdonck's Bakery and Grosse Pointe Valet.

In the other Monday evening game, Metropolitan Club moved into a fourth place tie with Tom Boyd Ford by trimming Broderick A.C. to the tune of 55 to 43.

Both teams started slow with Metropolitan Club holding a 19 to 9 lead at half-time.

A scoring race took place during the final two periods between Joe Schaffner of Metropolitan Club and Ken Kaiser of Broderick with Kaiser winning out by ringing up 20 points to his opponent's 17.

Kaiser also took game scoring honors with a 24 point total while Schaffner led his team with 18.

Couple Fly to Florida After Rites

The dignity of a period long ago was reflected in the wedding dress chosen by Joy Louise Williams for her marriage Saturday to Donald Sangree Lamm, Jr.

The design of the bride's ivory pearl satin gown was taken from the fashions of the Renaissance age. The Florentine neckline of the long sleeved bodice was bordered with a deep cuff of satin delicately embroidered with pearls.

Sprays of the pearls in petal motif were repeated at the front of the gown, spreading the full length of the flared skirt which swept to a graceful circular train.

A princess bonnet of matching satin, with tiny bands forming the open-work crown, held in place her tiered veil of silk illusion.

The Rev. Charles Scheid performed the candlelight ceremony at Grosse Pointe Congregational Church.

The bride, who is the daughter of the Arthur George Williams of Lincoln road, asked Patsy Parkin of Port Huron to be her maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Joanne Auch, Virginia Ellis, of Saginaw, Mrs. James Nixon, of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Donald Williamson.

A sorority sister of the bride, Mrs. Leonard Forsberg, was soloist at the ceremony. Charles Johnston of Uniontown, Pa., was best man for the groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sangree Lamm, Sr., of Sedalia, Missouri.

Ushers were Philip Webb, James Temple, Byron Baker and John Baker.

Following a reception at the Whittier Hotel, the couple boarded a plane for a trip to Florida. The couple will live in Ann Arbor when they return.

Miss Herrold Has College Song Recital

Mary Lou Herrold, mezzo-soprano, 1337 Beaconsfield, will give a recital at the University of Michigan in Lydia Mendelssohn Theater Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 8:30 p.m.

Miss Herrold will open her program at the university by singing a group of songs by Hopkinson including: "My Days Have Been So Wondrous Free" (first American song), "My Love Has Gone to Sea," "My Generous Heart Disdains," and "Give Me Thy Heart."

Miss Herrold is a pupil of Philip Duey at the university. Her program, which is presented in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Music, will be open to the public.

Mrs. Leidich Shows Garden Tour Movies

Movies of South America will be shown by Mrs. Emil Leidich to members of the Grosse Pointe Park Garden Club at the meeting on Monday, Feb. 12.

Mrs. Leidich recently returned from a tour of both the east coast and the west coast of South America, where she took pictures of many gardens at their most colorful peak.

Mrs. Pierre V. Hettler will be hostess at a luncheon in her home for the meeting.

World Federalist Officer Visits Pointe Chapter

Alan Cranston, president of the United World Federalists, Inc., visited the Grosse Pointe Chapter on Tuesday, February 6. He was the guest of honor at a luncheon at the Penobscot Club at noon, followed by a small reception in his honor at the home of Mr. T. C. Tilley of Handy Road.

That night he attended a private party at the Grosse Pointe Club, given in his honor by Mrs. J. G. Standart, Mrs. William Joy and Mrs. Ledyard Mitchell.

On each occasion, Mr. Cranston spoke of the vital solution that the United World Federalists propose for the present world crisis: a strengthening of the United Nations into a limited world government with powers adequate to assure peace. He mentioned the impressive support that has been marshalled behind this idea in both houses of Congress.

Mr. Cranston is well qualified to serve as the dynamic leader of the United World Federalists, having been a first-hand observer of international politics for over 15 years.

He is a former correspondent for the International News Service; during World War II he served as Chief of the Office of War Information's Foreign Language Division; later he transferred to the Army Service Forces as editor of "Army Talk."

Since the war, Mr. Cranston has taken an increasingly active role in the United World Federalists, moving up from the chairmanship of the California state branch to the national presidency.

Church to View 'Life of Christ'

The famous Hollywood pilgrimage play, "The Story of the Life of Christ" will be shown in Faith Church basement, 915 Philip at E. Jefferson, Sunday, February 11, at 7 p.m.

The movie is in color and includes 110 actors and actresses. Nelson Leigh portrays Jesus of Nazareth; Leonard Penn portrays Judas Iscariot, and Stephen Chase portrays Simon called Peter.

For emotional power, for dramatic sweep, for tender pathos, for crushing tragedy, and majestic triumph, this portrayal of the life of the Saviour is unexcelled.

Jack Benny saves many a penny

... with his modern Electric Range!

Jack Benny, star of "THE JACK BENNY SHOW" heard every Sunday over CBS, coast to coast

"The mythical Jack Benny of the radio isn't really stingy—he merely hates to spend money," says Mrs. Benny (Mary Livingstone) to all her radio fans, "but although the real Jack Benny is most generous, he still considers our Electric Range real economy."

Sure—you have economical operation with the modern Electric Range—but that's only one feature. It's almost human—different from any range you've ever tried. You don't guess at the cooking heat. Flip a switch, and you get just the heat you need. You don't peek or watch while things are in the oven. You know the automatic controls are doing that for you. Nothing new to learn—except how much better, how much easier cooking can be when you have a modern Electric Range. You can learn all about it at your dealer's!

Get your FREE copy of "HOW TO HOLD A STAR"

Specially prepared recipe booklet—beautifully illustrated. Pictures of famous movie stars with their wives, also their favorite recipes. Don't miss this opportunity! Get your FREE copy today! See your dealer or stop in at any Edison Office.

Come in and see the "Range of the Stars" ... of course it's ELECTRIC!
