Eligibility: Grants are given to nonprofit organizations.

VIII. The U.S. Bancorp Foundation

Website: <http://www.usbank.com/about/community_relations/charit_giving.html>

Focus: The U.S. Bancorp Foundation seeks to build strong partnerships in communities with a U.S. Bank office by supporting organizations that improve the educational and economic opportunities of low and moderate-income individuals and families and enhance the cultural and artistic life of communities.

IX. Barnes and Noble K-12 Grants

Website: http://www.barnesandnobleinc.com/company/codonation/co_donation.html

Focus: Barnes and Noble provide funding to local and regional efforts to promote literacy and the arts in K-12 education. Proposals should include a literacy or arts component that fosters both student achievement and community growth. Grant recipients must plan to promote the program with Barnes & Noble and be willing to work with the local store(s) on in-store programming. Potential applicants should visit a store in their area to receive more information. A list of stores nationwide is provided on the Barnes and Noble website.

IX. Barnes & Noble (continued)

Eligibility: All nonprofits supporting the arts, literacy, or K-12 education are eligible to apply.

Deadline: Applications are reviewed on a continuing basis.

Application: Proposals should be submitted to the community relation's manager or store manager.

X. The Public Welfare Foundation

Website: <<http://www.publicwelfare.org/index.html>>

Focus: The Public Welfare Foundation supports organizations that address human needs in disadvantaged communities, with strong emphasis on organizations that include service, advocacy and empowerment in their approach: service that remedies specific problems; advocacy that addresses those problems in a systemic way through changes in public policy; and strategies to empower people in need to play leading roles in achieving those policy changes and in remedying specific problems.

Deadline: Applications reviewed on a continuing basis.

XI. The Peace Development Fund

Website: <<http://www.peacefund.org/grant/-grntrn.htm>>

Focus: The Peace Development Fund makes grants to organizations and projects working to achieve peaceful, just and interdependent relationships among people and nations. They believe that the change in values needed to establish a more just and peaceful world will come about only if it is strongly rooted in local communities. PDF has a number of grants listed at the website.

XII. Constitutional Rights Foundation

Website: <http://www.crf-usa.org/network/crf_robin.html>

Focus: The Constitutional Rights Foundation's Robinson Mini-Grant Program honors the late Maurice R. ("Robbie") Robinson, founder of Scholastic, Inc., champion of innovative education, and longtime supporter of effective citizenship education. Each year, thanks to a generous grant from The Maurice R. Robinson Fund of New York City, CRF awards mini-grants of up to $500 for K-12 service-learning projects designed to address serious community issues. Each of these superb projects addressed a larger social need. Some of these needs fall under the category of poverty, hunger, environment, mentoring children and youth, crime and safety issues, and aging. Students will develop problem-solving skills, which they can use later in life. They will also learn citizenship skills by practicing them. The skills the students gain from doing these projects will not only help their community but also help them in their life as citizens of a democratic society. See the website for more information.

XIII. CVS Community Grants

Census Data Website

Website: <<http://factfinder.census.gov/servlet/AGSGeoAddressServlet>>

An amazing census data website. Just put in a street address, city and zip code and choose -the type of information you want, preferably census tract and up comes everything you ever wanted to know about a specific area. This is invaluable for targeted information you would include in a grant application. Please feel free to share it with anyone, particularly our contractors, that you think may find this of interest. It's a high traffic website so you may need to hit refresh.

New Gift Annuity Bill:

The NYS Assembly has approved the Gift Annuity Bill A10286. If signed by Governor Pataki, it would expand the type of assets that can be utilized to establish a gift annuity. The current NYS Insurance Code only allows gift annuities to be funded with money, while the new law would expand the funding alternatives to include other property. The Bill will greatly expand the opportunities for charities to establish gift annuities.

Public Funding

OJJDP Safe Start: Promising Approaches for Children Exposed to Violence

Website: <http://ojjdp.ncjrs.org/funding/FundingList.asp>

Focus: The Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) is requesting applications for the Safe Start: Promising Approaches for Children Exposed to Violence Project. This Project will help local communities implement collaborative cross-agency strategies for effectively reducing the impact of children's exposure to violence. For the purpose of this project, exposure to violence includes both direct victimization (e.g. child abuse, neglect, or maltreatment) and indirect victimization (e.g. witnessing domestic violence or community violence). Children's exposure to other forms of violence, such as, violence in the media, terrorism, and war is beyond the scope of this project.

Eligibility: Eligible applicants include State government, County governments, city or township governments, independent school districts, public and State controlled institutions of higher education, Native American tribal organizations (other than Federally recognized tribal governments), nonprofits having a 501(c)(3) status with the IRS, other than institutions of higher education, private institutions of higher education, and for profit organizations other than small businesses. Applicants should propose strategies that are grounded in current research and knowledge of best practices in the field of exposure to violence. Grantees under this project will be required to collect and submit data on participants and outcomes as described in the solicitation, as well as to participate in a national evaluation of the initiative.

Grant Range: OJJDP will select up to 14 applicants to receive up to $210,000 in funding through cooperative agreements for up to a four-year period.

Among the Top 50 New York Foundations by Total Giving in 2002:

The Rockefeller Foundation

Website: www.rockfound.org

Focus: The Foundation is a proactive grant maker – that is, the staff seek-out opportunities that will advance the Foundation’s long-term goals rather than reacting to unsolicited proposals. If after reviewing the Foundation’s program goals at the website, your organization believes that its project would contribute directly to the Foundation’s strategic goals, you may want to send a brief letter of inquiry addressed to the director of the subject area of interest.

Address: The Rockefeller Foundation, 420 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10018

If you are applying to a competitive program under our Creativity & Culture theme, please check the website or contact the program for deadlines and application forms.

Application: Letters of inquiry should briefly describe the issues the proposed project would address; information about the organization’s experience in the field; estimated and expected budget for the project; and qualification of key personnel involved in the project. Please send attachments. Letters of inquiry will be considered as they are received throughout the year. Inquiries take from six to eight weeks for review. Organizations submitting will be requested to submit a full proposal, if the Foundation’s staff thinks they might contribute to a defined area of work.

The Starr Foundation

Focus: Education has traditionally been one of the largest areas of giving for the Foundation, because of Mr. Starr’s personal interest in providing scholarships to deserving students. The Foundation has endowed C.V. Starr Scholarship Funds at more than 100 colleges and universities and selected secondary schools. Applications for an endowed scholarship fund are accepted from schools on an invitation-only basis. In addition, the Foundation funds organizations that provide need-based financial aid to students seeking to attend secondary and post-secondary schools.

In the area of human needs, the Foundation has made significant gifts to emergency food programs, job training, literacy programs, programs for the disabled and programs that provide emergency or transitional housing for the underprivileged. The Foundation rarely funds local charities outside of New York City but may fund national organizations that serve communities outside of New York.

In the area of culture, the Foundation has made significant grants since its inception both to large cultural institutions such as museums and to small, community-based groups providing special services to specific populations, such as the elderly and the disabled. The Foundation funds cultural exchange organizations that further Mr. Starr’s interest in international relations and understanding. The Foundation rarely funds documentaries or film projects and will not fund individual artists.

Application: The Foundation requests the following:

- A succinct cover letter containing:

- A brief history and description of the organization, including any recent achievements or honors;
 - A brief description of the program(s) to be considered for funding or which should be considered in the context of a request for general operating support;
 - A brief description of the needs/goals to be addressed and a description of the project implementation;
 - A precise description of the project outcomes, the assessment or evaluation plan, and quantifiable goals by which the project can be measured;
 - An itemized budget for the project.
- Current organizational annual budget;
 - The most recent audited financial statement must accompany the proposal (please note that we rarely fund organizations that spend more than 25% of their annual expenses on administration and fund-raising);
 - Annual Report;
 - A list of the five highest paid employees, their titles and annual compensation (the relevant page from your Form 990 is acceptable);
 - A list of other funding sources (actual or anticipated) for the proposed project and/or for the organization to the extent they are not listed in your annual report or audited financial statements.

Guidelines: None other than the broad parameters set forth here. Applications for multi-year grants, for general operating support and capacity building are accepted. However, the Foundation no longer makes grants in excess of two years duration. Meetings with grant seekers are arranged only if we anticipate serious consideration of a proposal or when essential to the determination of a response. Thus, meetings with grant seekers will not be scheduled unless we have received at least a preliminary proposal or inquiry and the Review Committee of the Board has authorized the staff to pursue the proposal.

Deadline: None – The Foundation Board meets regularly during the year and considers applications on a rolling basis.

Address: The Starr Foundation
70 Pine Street, 14th Floor
New York, NY 10270

Carnegie Corporation of New York

Website: www.carnegie.org

How to Apply for a Grant:

Grant decisions are based primarily on the information provided by grant seekers in the corporation's own detailed proposal formats. Only proposals presented in the Corporation's format will be considered for funding. Grant seekers who would like to approach the Foundation with a preliminary request for funding are encouraged to submit a letter of inquiry. If the project described in the letter fits the Foundation's guidelines, the sender will be contacted and asked to submit a proposal in the Corporation's format. A request to submit a proposal is not an indication of the Corporation's intention or commitment to award a grant. Please read the program guidelines and funding restrictions carefully to determine if your organization and project fits the Corporation's grant making strategies and take the Grant seeker quiz to help you determine eligibility. If you are still unsure about the appropriateness of your submission, please call Dorothy Delman at (212) 207-6241 for further assistance. If you are confident that your project meets our funding criteria, please follow the instructions to submit a letter of inquiry or full proposal.

Deadline: The Corporation accepts requests for funding at all times of the year. There are no application deadlines.

Verizon

Website: www.verizon.com

Focus: From the island of Hawaii to the coast of Maine, Verizon Foundation last year awarded in excess of 21,000 grants totaling about $70 million to charitable and nonprofit agencies that focus on improving basic and computer literacy, enriching communities through technology, creating a skilled work force, encouraging employee volunteerism, and finding solutions to combating domestic violence. Verizon Foundation uses its resources in the United States and abroad to support the technology initiatives of nonprofit organizations serving the needs of diverse communities, people with disabilities, victims of domestic violence, and the economically and socially disadvantaged. The Foundation also supports Verizon Volunteers, an incentive program that last year encouraged employees to volunteer 595,000 hours in their communities and provided $34.6 million in combined contributions to charitable and nonprofit organizations.

William T. Grant Foundation

Website: www.wtgrantfoundation.org

Focus: The goal of the William T. Grant Foundation is to help create a society that values young people and enables them to reach their full potential. In pursuit of this goal, the Foundation invests in research and in people and projects that use evidence-based approaches.

Program Evaluation: Evaluations of systems, policies, or program initiatives emphasizing one of two purposes: development and refinement of an initiative, or an assessment and understanding of the effects caused by the initiative.

Communications/Dissemination: Most of our communications funding is aligned around our action topic: improving the quality of after-school programs. This includes support for working conferences, seminars, and other vehicles for information sharing, along with more traditional communication tools such as journals, other publications, and briefings.

Capacity-Building: Much of the Foundation's funding for capacity building will be encompassed in the support for the William T. Grant Scholars program. In addition, the Foundation will provide some support for other activities such as fellowship programs, organizations crucial to its strategy, training seminars, and consultation to grantees.

William T. Grant Scholars: Formerly known as the Faculty Scholars Program. The Program supports promising early career scholars from different disciplines, whose research deepens and broadens the knowledge base in areas that contribute to creating a society that values young people as a resource and helps them live up to their potential.

Youth Service: Initiative supports local programs for young people (8-25 years of age) in the Tri-State area (NY, NJ, CT). In pursuit of this goal, the Foundation funds programs that actively engage young people and enable them to reach their full potential.

The Edna McConnell Clark Foundation

Website: www.emcf.org

Focus: The Edna McConnell Clark Foundation seeks to help young people from low-income backgrounds make a successful transition to independent adulthood. To achieve that goal, the Foundation works with high-performing youth organizations that serve young people during the non-school hours and helps them to grow stronger and better able to serve larger numbers of youth with better quality programs.

The Foundation's approach to strengthening youth-serving organizations is based on a comprehensive, multi-stage process used to identify promising youth development organizations, assess their overall capabilities and needs, and subsequently invest in the growth of those organizations most capable of benefiting from our support. Please visit the website to learn more about this process and the organizations supported:

- The Foundation's Grant making Process: An Explanation
- EMCF Youth Development Fund Grants and Investments
- Youth Development Organization Survey

Moreover, by helping a select number of youth-serving nonprofits enhance their overall operations, improve the quality of their programs and do a better job serving more young people in need, we believe that, as a result of their accomplishments, these organizations will have a better opportunity to become sustainable and serve as models for their field.

The William Randolph Hearst Foundations

Website: www.hearstfdn.org

Focus: The Hearst Foundation, Inc. was founded in 1945 by philanthropist William Randolph Hearst. In 1948, Mr. Hearst established the California Charities Foundation. That name was changed to the William Randolph Hearst Foundation soon after Mr. Hearst's death in 1951. Both Foundations are independent private philanthropies operating separately from the Hearst Corporation.

The two Foundations are administered out of the headquarters in New York City, which reviews all proposals from organizations located east of the Mississippi River. The charitable goals of the two Foundations are essentially the same, and reflect the philanthropic interests of William Randolph Hearst; education, health, social services and culture. Within these four areas, the Foundations assist institutions in providing opportunities to underserved and underrepresented populations. Specific guidelines for each of these funding categories have been established by the Directors of the Hearst Foundations.

These guidelines will be helpful in determining whether your funding needs fall within the Hearst Foundation's philanthropic priorities. Because the charitable goals of the two Foundations are the same, only one proposal needs to be submitted for review.

| This program brings two high school students from each state to Washington, D.C. for one week to observe the Federal government in action and meet key officials. Students visit Capitol Hill, the White House, State Department, Supreme Court, Pentagon and tour Washington landmarks. | This national program is designed to encourage excellence in journalism and journalism education. The program consists of school year competitions in which prizes are awarded in writing, photography, television and radio news to undergraduates at accredited schools of journalism. |

Application: The Foundations do not have application forms. We prefer that applicants submit a one-page executive summary accompanied by a proposal narrative and attachments. The proposal should not exceed five pages.

Narrative: Executive Summary: Briefly summarize the key points of your proposal, describe the purpose and relevance of your request, and indicate the dollar amount of the grant that you are seeking.

Organizational History and Capacity: Tell us about the organization’s history, mission, governing structure, principal activities and population served.

Statement of Need: Please identify the needs that the program addresses, and how those needs coincide with the philanthropic goals of the Foundation. Substantiate your case with pertinent data, including detailed demographic information about the populations you seek to assist, where appropriate.

Program Description: Identify the program’s goals and objectives, activities, numbers served, facilities, timeline and staffing plan, and anticipated results.

Evaluation: Indicate how program outcomes and effectiveness are measured, and include findings from previous evaluation efforts, if available.

Conclusion: Describe the purpose, relevance and amount of the grant request.

Eligibility: Current IRS documentation certifying that the applicant is tax-exempt under Section 501 (c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

The Annie E. Casey Foundation

Focus: In general, the grant making of the Annie E. Casey Foundation is limited to initiatives that have significant potential to demonstrate innovative policy, services delivery, and community supports for children and families. Most grantees have been invited by the Foundation to participate in these projects. The Foundation does not make grants to individuals, nor does it provide grants for capital projects, medical research direct services (with the exception of Baltimore City) or work outside the United States. Much of our current funding is targeted to our Initiatives and its 22 sites. The Foundation annually declines a very high percentage of otherwise worthy proposals that do not meet these guidelines.

Organizations wishing to send a proposal to the Foundation should submit a narrative of no more than three pages describing the organization, its proposed amount of funds requested, and a brief explanation of how the proposal fits within the mission of the Annie E. Casey Foundation.

Deadline: There are none.
