

Name: _____

Date: _____

Block: _____

Types of Early Childhood Education Programs Anticipation Guide

Directions:

1) Before reading Chapter 2, read the statements listed below. In the BEFORE column put the letter A if you agree with the statement or a letter D if you disagree with the statement.

2) After you read Chapter 2, read the statements listed below again. In the AFTER column put the letter A if you agree with the statement or a letter D if you disagree with the statement AND the page number where you found information to support your choice. **If you disagree with a statement after reading REWRITE the statement below so that you do agree with it**

BEFORE		AFTER
	Washing dishes is LEAST LIKELY to be done by children in a Montessori classroom.	Pg ____
	Based on standards of quality care, a facility that is Keystone STARS and NAEYC accredited would be the WORST facility for any child.	Pg ____
	The primary purpose of Head Start is to help young children overcome the negative effects of poverty.	Pg ____
	Family child care homes are often unlicensed and offer care during more hours of the day and night.	Pg ____
	The theory behind Freidrich Froebel's Kindergarten model is that parents needed child care while they were working in factories.	Pg ____
	UPK is a state-sponsored program designed to introduce three and four year old children to a literacy-rich environment. The goal is to enable every child with skills needed to succeed in school.	Pg ____
	Early childhood programs are sponsored by private organizations only.

	A parent cooperative is formed and run by parents who wish to take part in their children's preschool experience.
		Pg ____
	A laboratory school is located in an urban area, it is used to train high school students to work in child care.
		Pg ____
	School-Age Child Care programs provide care before and after school for children.
		Pg ____
	Kindergarten curriculum varies from school to school but typically includes preacademic skills, social development, art, woodworking, blockbuilding, science, social studies, free play, and self-care.
		Pg ____
	Custodial care focuses on meeting the needs of children in all areas of development.
		Pg ____