Therefore, the parties mutually agree as follows:

1. Description of Services. Beginning _____, 2011 Robert Pringle will provide the following services for the restoration of the James Surls' sculpture, "Brazos Flower" at the Brazos Center.
 - Scaffold and shroud the steel sculpture armature.
 - Remove all of the wooden elements from the sculpture.
 - Cut off the twenty seven 3' steel mounting rods to 18". Cut out the set pins from the inside of the steel sockets.
 - Remove all rusted and deteriorated steel from the inside of the steel sockets, steel armature and base plates by chipping, grinding and selective sandblasting.
 - Immediately apply to all cleaned metal surfaces a coat of Sherwin Williams Industrial epoxy primer.
 - Hand sand all intact black painted surfaces and power wash with Krud Kutter painting prep detergent.
 - Apply by spray and brush two coats of Rustoleum #7777 black Alkyd satin oil paint with 10% Rusty red Rustoleum alkyd oil to produce a warm umber black (specifications supplied by the Artist).
 - Re carve the twenty seven wooden elements out of kiln dried yellow pine wood, (more rot resistant for this environment) matching the original forms. James Surls has agreed to the change in wood material.
 - Drill a mounting hole 2" X 20" into the center of each petal.
 - The four petals attached to the base mounting rods will be cut in half longitudinally to be sandwich mounted onto the four steel base support rods.
 - Pressure treat the finished carvings with M.C.Q (micronized copper quat).
 - Slow dry the pressure treated wood and apply a spray coat of Thompson's waterseal.
 - Provide a lift truck and attach the wooden petals to the rods and sockets with a sealed mastic fill of Hilti #150 structural epoxy resin. Clean up any excess resin.
 - The four base mounted petals will be cross pinned with blind hardwood dowels and laminate set and clamped over the steel rods with a bonding adhesive of West System Epoxy with a fine yellow pine sawdust filler.
 - The laminated edges will be carved and finished when the resin has set.

- Drill and tap a 1/2" X 3" hole on the sides of the downward pointing petals and insert a 1/2" stainless steel threaded bolt 2" deep to provide an additional mechanical attachment. Cut off bolts flush, prime and touch up paint where necessary.
 - Provide three extra "petals" for future replacement pieces.
